German Certificate Course Conducted at LSR

About the course

The two-part course will help learners embark on a journey of learning German and prepare them for the internationally-recognized A1 exam which will certify their ability to:

1. Understand and use familiar, everyday expressions and very simple sentences, which relate to the satisfying of concrete needs
2. Introduce themselves and others as well as ask others questions about them – e.g. where they live, who they know and what they own – and can respond to questions of this nature
3. Communicate in a simple manner if the person they are speaking to speaks slowly and clearly and is willing to help

The first part of the course would contain 60 hours of teaching with 3 classes every week.

About the trainer

An alumna of LSR and McKinsey and Company, Bhavya Arora has been associated with the German language and the for over 15 years. Having excelled at advanced German exams internationally and nationally, she has won several scholarships for linguistic excellence and holds a specialization in phonetics. She has also lived in Germany and worked with German clients professionally.

Having herself been a student of the Goethe Institute, an organization established by the German Foreign Ministry for the promotion of German language, Bhavya is strongly positioned to deliver a course to prepare learners for the coveted and competitive A1 exam.

WOMEN & LAW

SHORT TERM CERTIFICATE COURSE
ON
WOMEN & LAW

The world has witnessed leaps and strides towards gender equality in opportunities and quality of life. However, gender bias is still deeply embedded in our culture. For generations, women in India have been subjected to discrimination on various fronts, owing to the regressive society and lack of awareness of their legal rights.

These rights are available to women at home, at their workplace and in the society at large. The lack of awareness is spread across all strata of society, irrespective of the level of education. This is evident with the existence of the poisonous perception of women and their role in a family and society, resulting in increasing frequency of rapes and sexual assaults, domestic violence, discrimination at work place and religion being used as a cover for discrimination.

The Constitution of India has embedded the importance of gender equality in its Preamble, Fundamental Rights, Fundamental Duties and Directive Principles.

In consideration of this, LSR's endeavour is to offer a short term certificate course on Women Laws to spread legal awareness and create a convenient legal resource for women

Broadly, the Course will cover the laws encompassing 3 major areas, namely, (I) Women and Employment; (II) Crimes against Women and (III) Women and Marriage, Divorce & Maintenance, Adotption, Succession.

The Course will be conducted in the following manner :

I. Introductory Session

Online Short-Term Certificate Course “COVID-19: The Psychology of Human Behaviour

By

The Department of Psychology in Collaboration with IQAC

Date of Commencement: 14th July 2020

Course Outline:	This course is an exploration of the psychology of human behavior, relationships and social support within the context of the unprecedented Covid-19 pandemic. The pandemic and the measures associated with its containment (e.g. lockdowns, isolation, social distancing, wearing of masks) have had profound effects on the economy, social dynamics and mental health of individuals and communities in India. This course shall be dedicated to learning about the negotiation of the challenges created by the pandemic during a time where gross socio-economic inequalities and profound mental health impacts have come to the fore. It has become increasingly important to understand not only these challenges, but also how they can be managed in steadfast ways. Examples of topics that shall be covered in this course include the impact of pandemics on societies, the changing dynamics of intergroup relations, transformations in self and identity, the migrant labour crisis during the lockdown, impact of social distancing on close relationships, the link between social support and health and strategies to strengthen social support networks during times of ‘social distancing.’ Students will have an opportunity to explore constructs through readings in the popular press, but ultimately a scholarly, critical examination of the scientific literature will serve as the foundation of learning. The course will lay emphasis on experiential learning and the application of theoretical knowledge to real life situations. The specific objectives of the short-term course would be: <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Understanding psycho-social impacts of pandemics on self, identity and societal dynamics.</li><li>2. Exploring the short term and long term impact of pandemics (with special emphasis on Covid-19) on mental health.</li><li>3. Exploring the impact of Covid-19 and its associated ‘social distancing’ on family interactions, friendships and intimate relationships.</li><li>4. Understanding how to strengthen relationships and social support networks during times of ‘social distancing’.</li></ol>
Other Details:	Date of commencement: 14th July 2020 Duration of the course: Three weeks Total number of contact hours: 24 Class schedule: 11am- 1pm (four sessions in a week) Course coordinator: Dr. Megha Dhillon Teacher-In-Charge: Dr. Kanika K.
