Description of College Orientation on LSR Website

The new academic session began at LSR with a warm welcome to all the first year students through an orientation program held in the college auditorium on 20th July, 2019. The first year students were present in large numbers, keenly soaking in the ambiance of college. The program began with the college prayer. Then the principal Dr. Suman Sharma introduced the new students to the vision, mission and activities of LSR through an engaging presentation. She also spoke of the strong academic rigour at LSR balanced with an equally potent sense of social responsibility demonstrated through various projects being conducted within LSR and surrounding communities.

Thereafter Ms. Savita Gopal (faculty member, Department of Commerce) introduced the first year students to the Innovation Council of LSR initiated by the MHRD, encouraging them to be innovative during their time at college. The highlights of the program also included interactions with two alumnae of LSR who have done us proud- Ms. Rashmi Singh (IAS officer and Secretary of NDMC), Ms. Bharti Beniwal (Lawyer at High Court of Delhi). They spoke of how their journeys at LSR had shaped their lives over the years. Both speakers were felicitated by Dr. Sharma.

The LSR community now looks forward to a stimulating and engaging year for all the new entrants.

- Acquiring skills to design and conduct psychological research.
- Effectively communicating psychological information in written and oral form.
- Using psychological concepts for gaining insight into the self, and for personal growth.
- Acquiring a solid foundation for more advanced studies in the discipline or embark on a psychology related career.

THE RESEARCH CLUB

The research club was initiated within the department of psychology in August 2020 with the purpose of fostering a research oriented environment. The club was open to all students from every department of Lady Shri Ram College of Women. In total, 20 members were recruited from departments such as psychology, BA Programme, History and English who remained actively engaged with research through the course of the academic year.

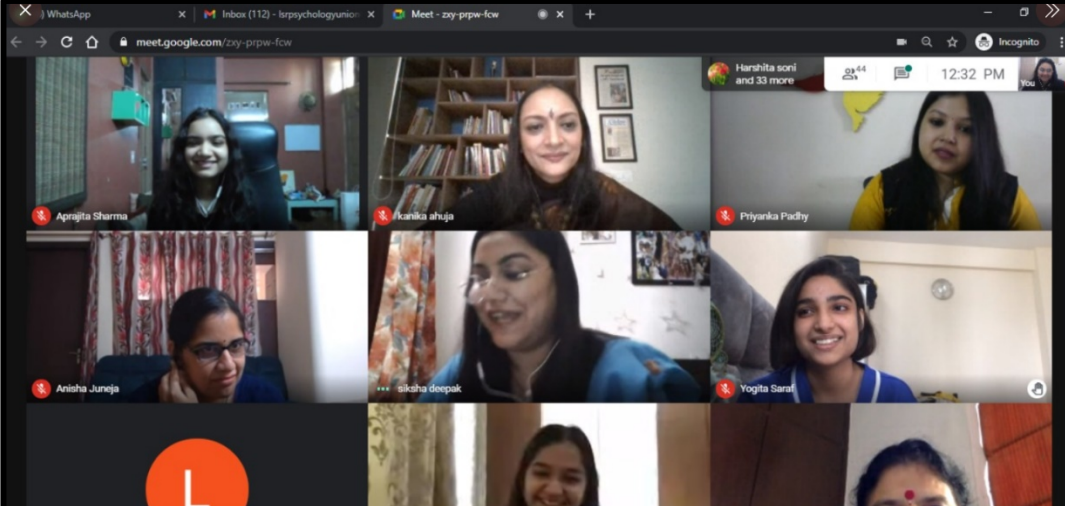

The club conducted a series of sessions taken by faculty members of the department as well as external experts. Topics such as doing a review of literature, formulating a research question, selecting the appropriate research method, qualitative and quantitative data analysis and writing a research paper were discussed during the sessions. Hands on demonstrations and practice sessions of how to operate tools of statistical analysis were also conducted. Alongside these formal sessions, several informal sessions were conducted under the supervision of a faculty member, wherein students who were part of the club designed and executed studies of their own. Students designed studies on topics such as body image, gratitude, forgiveness, eating patterns and self-esteem. The psychology department also encouraged student research efforts by offering five students the opportunity to complete dissertations under the supervision of their faculty.

PEER SUPPORT PROGRAM

What is Peer Support Program?
