The College Motto

Lady Shri Ram College for Women: An Overview

Liberating, Strengthening, And Reaffirming; Standing Tall With Pride.

LSR was founded as a constituent college of the University of Delhi in 1956. The founding of the college by Sir Shri Ram was a response to the call of the Constitution of India. It was an enduring recognition by a visionary industrialist-philanthropist of the pressing need for institutions of higher learning for its women-citizens. He was committed to harnessing this dimension of education to empower women by providing them with academic opportunities, an ethic of social responsibility, and a pedagogy of courage in an intellectually vibrant environment. Since its founding, LSR has emerged as a premier institution of higher learning. As a centre of academic excellence, it is today one of the finest institutions for Social Sciences, Humanities, and Commerce, while also offering B.Sc. Programmes in Mathematics and Statistics. Professional courses like Elementary Education and Journalism, and the flagship diploma course in Conflict Transformation and Peace Building are among its strengths.

Located at the cutting edge of knowledge, LSR has not just kept pace with the changing world but has been the pioneering spirit behind many innovations in the educational sector. LSR draws a diverse student population from across the country, with nearly 80% of the students coming from outside Delhi, reflecting its pan-Indian appeal. Respect for diversity, dialogue, and exploration were the foundation upon which the walls of the college were built. Under the leadership of strong, progressive women, these values have grown stronger with each passing decade. The story that began years ago in a humble building in Darya Ganj is now being collectively, proactively written on a lush-green, 15-acre campus in the heart of the national capital. Sir Shri Ram's legacy has lived on, not only through the campus he created, but through every student inhabiting LSR's classrooms.

If LSR today is seen as an acronym for Leadership with Social Responsibility, it is because of the constant endeavour to sensitize students to using the privilege of their higher education as a resource for their communities. To help students assume leadership of movements of social transformation, the college has nurtured various innovative programs such as Dhyana, the Society for Consciousness and Awareness, which encourages experiential learning, the Women's Development Cell, which engages with women's issues, and REACH (Reaffirming Equity, Access, Capacity and Humanism), which deals with issues of affirmative and inclusive learning. To provide an inclusive environment, the college has upgraded the resource center, Swavalambhan, that enables students with disabilities to access the latest assistive technology.

LSR has a dynamic Office of International Programmes that has initiated collaborations with universities across the globe. Students and faculty present their work at international and national conferences and win accolades for their work. The college has an active National Service Scheme, National Sports Organization, and National Cadet Corps. There are several societies for activities like debating, dramatics, dancing, music, and creative writing. The student societies work throughout the year at an impressive pitch providing avenues for the expression of the creative potential of the student community.

An important strength of LSR is the faculty, known for its professionalism and commitment. The emphasis is on innovative pedagogic practices which encourage students to think critically. The vision is to empower young women students to be future leaders and change agents while keeping value-based education as the core focus. LSR has proven itself as a training ground for women achievers who challenge the glass ceiling. The alumnae of LSR have done pioneering work in a variety of fields – education (both urban and rural), law, media, government, the NGO sector, and the corporate world. Yet many have also left promising corporate careers to work for the community. Our alumni who have served the nation in diverse ways attribute their success to LSR, which offered them safe spaces to discover their potential, transform challenges into opportunities, and imbibe the value of giving back to society.

The University of Delhi has rolled out the 4th year of the NEP 2020, which is fundamentally connected to the vision of Viksit Bharat. It envisions a transformation in education through “an education system rooted in Indian ethos that contributes directly to transforming India, that is Bharat, sustainably into an equitable and vibrant knowledge society, by providing high-quality education to all, thereby making India a global knowledge superpower.” Founded on five guiding pillars of Access, Equity, Quality, Affordability, and Accountability, the NEP will prepare our youth to meet the diverse national and global challenges of the present and the future. It is driven by the goals of innovation, inclusivity, equity, and LSR shall continue its long-standing commitment towards these goals.

Over the years, LSR has come to set the benchmark for excellence in undergraduate liberal education and leads in public perception and student outcomes. Its reputation is built on its commitment to academic rigour, creative quests in co-curricular activities, and a deep sense of responsibility towards the wider community. In harmony with the philosophy of Swami Vivekananda, LSR offers young women the kind of education by which character is formed, the strength of mind is increased, the intellect is expanded, and by which one can stand on one’s own feet.

Principal's Report

Honourable Chief Guest Professor Yogesh Singh, Chairman of the Governing Board, Mr. Arun Bharat Ram, other distinguished members of the Governing Board, guests, parents, members of the College Community, and my dear students.

I welcome you to the LSR College Day 2026. As the college celebrates its achievements in the year gone by, it also takes a deep dive into itself to emerge bolder and stronger in upholding the vision of Sir Shri Ram to push the frontiers of higher learning for women in India and around the globe. Each year brings with it a tidal wave of youthful energy and renewed vitality—new goalposts to meet, new heights to scale, new ceilings to breach, and new horizons to soar. As we enter into seven decades of a rich and strong legacy, our beloved institution looks at the future with wisdom, integrity, knowledge, and compassion.

And as I welcome you all, I take a solemn moment to note the reality of the larger macrocosm we inhabit, one rife with the ravages of war and disharmony. As we gather in celebration today, we cannot lose sight of the deeply hierarchical and vastly polarised world where women and children are meted out a greater share of hostilities every day. The precarity of the climate, both metaphorical and literal, calls out to us. We need to be the LSR that our nation and the world need now. Today, more than ever, we need women to lead the way to a better and more peaceful tomorrow. It is our ardent commitment, therefore, to nurture women confident of going beyond every glass ceiling even as they interrogate and challenge oppressive structures of caste, class, and patriarchy.

Personally, this past year, in my transition from Acting Principal to the Principal of Lady Shri Ram College for Women, I feel humbled and grateful in equal measure and extremely mindful of the faith that has been reposed in me. I thank you all sincerely. As a daughter of the sacred soil of LSR, I look forward to making strong and steadfast contributions to nation building, as generations of women at LSR have historically done through their unwavering focus on Lakshya, Sadhna, Rachna.

We are privileged to have with us as our chief guest today, Professor Yogesh Singh, Vice Chancellor of our very own University of Delhi, someone who truly shares our commitment not just to Viksit Bharat but whose vision of leadership is not one of authority but an investment in the growth of others. Sir, as the Vice Chancellor of the University of Delhi, you stand at the helm of one of India's most storied and dynamic institutions, guiding it through a period of profound transformation in higher education. Since assuming office in October 2021, your leadership has been marked by a clear commitment to intellectual rigor, institutional reform, and the meaningful implementation of the National Education Policy 2020. An academician of great distinction, with an extensive body of research and publications, and a career that spans leadership roles across premier institutions, from Delhi Technological University to Netaji Subhas University of Technology, you bring both depth of scholarship and breadth of administrative experience. Sir, I have personally witnessed your open-door approach, your transparent style of administration and your student centric compassionate outlook. Your emphasis on interdisciplinary learning, innovation, and student engagement resonates deeply with our own institutional ethos. At a time when universities are being called upon to reimagine themselves, your stewardship continues to shape the University of Delhi as a space that is both rooted in legacy and responsive to the future. In fact, I'm delighted to share that under Sir's leadership, University of Delhi has experienced a significant rise in all world rankings, particularly in sustainability and global reputation. Delhi University jumped 58 places to rank 241st globally in the QS Sustainability Rankings 2026. Even more impressively, in the QS World University Rankings 2026, Delhi University secured 30th place globally in Employment Outcomes reflecting improved academic excellence and career prospects. Sir, it is indeed a matter of great pride and honour for us to welcome you to LSR today. I must add here that while Sir has the mind of an administrator, he has the soul of a poet. In the words of his favorite poet Shri Ramdhari Singh Dinkar,

सच पूछो, तो षर में ही
बसती है दीप्ति विनय की
संधि-वचन संपूज्य उसी का
जिसमें षक्ति विजय की

Dinkar reminds us that humility shines only when it is carried on the arrow of strength and capability. Sir, you've taught Delhi University that the radiance of vinay - our public mission of access and inclusion - shines only when it is backed by shakti vijay ki, the power to create knowledge, not just receive it. Sir, LSR salutes your vision. We stand with you as you build a university where humility and strength walk together.

It is also our proud privilege to welcome and felicitate Geetanjali Shree, our illustrious alumna and one of India's most celebrated literary voices. A graduate of Lady Shri Ram College for Women from History (Hons.) in 1976, she went on to pursue Masters from Jawaharlal Nehru University, contributing to an enduring legacy in literature. Her acclaimed novels, including Mai, Khali Jagah, and Hamara Shahar Us Baras, have enriched contemporary Indian literature with profound insight and sensitivity. In 2022, she created history by becoming the first-ever recipient of the International Booker Prize (2022) for Tomb of Sand, a novel originally written in Hindi as Ret Samadhi. Today, we honour her extraordinary achievements, creative brilliance, exemplary literary accomplishments, and her role in bringing global recognition to Hindi language writing. Geetanjali ji, we are deeply inspired by your presence among us.

Your novel 'Tomb of Sand' reminds us that 'Women are stories in themselves'. I would like to share that the young women at LSR are full of stories of passion and ambition. However, when we look at the current climate of women's leadership in India, the new Women Leadership in Corporate India 26 report shows a widening gap between intent and outcome. Only 1% of women currently occupy board-level positions; 10% in leadership roles. The problem is not entry or aspiration but progression. At LSR, we have a long-standing history of empowering young women to assume leadership roles. To ensure that such success becomes the norm rather than the exception, we must reaffirm our commitment to set new benchmarks in transitioning LSR from an educational enclave to a global engine of gender positive knowledge and leadership.

Tradition demands that the Principal's Report record the achievements of the year gone by in full. In the interest of time, let me share a few highlights and invite you to turn the pages of this report, a canvas of many colors. Within it lie not only events and milestones, but the deeper story of our community's dedication and pursuit of excellence.

During the languid summer months, LSR saw fervent activity with our first-of-a-kind interdisciplinary Summer School 2025 'Virasat: Tapestries of Indian Culture' which offered three hybrid 40-hour certificate courses to participants all over the country. These were 'Bharat Bodha: Ancient Indian Wisdom & Contemporary Relevance' in collaboration with Delhi Sanskrit Academy, 'Timeless Lessons: Gita & Psychological Insights' and an 'Introduction to Zoroastrianism: Continuity & Change', in collaboration with Tata Institute of Social Sciences and Parzor Society. Through these, the college pioneered a sophisticated pedagogical model that fosters intercultural dialogue by bridging ancient Indian wisdom with global narratives. Further, we introduced the Indian Knowledge System Cell in college to advance inclusive, heritage-based and transformative education. A nationwide Bharat Bodh IKS competitive examination was held in college that witnessed enthusiastic student turnout. A 10-day Sanskrit Conversation Camp in collaboration with Sanskrit Bharti was also held that was well-received by students from various disciplines.

Our offerings to students never cease thanks to a vast array of short-term certificate courses conducted by IQAC, LSR. This year we offered courses such as 'Green teaching for climate action', 'The science and practice of happiness: Lessons in flourishing', in collaboration with Rekhi Foundation, 'Trauma informed skills series for peer support', in alliance with Humraahi Psychotherapy, and Spanish language in alliance with Mundo Latino. Workshops such as 'Digital India Awareness' were organised by the Innovation Council in collaboration with the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, Government of India.

Our innovative and scholarly implementation of the 4th year of UGCF, the New Education Policy deserves a special mention. Not only did we support our young researchers with several orientation sessions and student surveys, but the newly introduced Research and Publications Forum at LSR also curated a handbook 'A Beginner's Guide for Research'. The forum acted as a think tank, hosting weekly research colloquiums and enabling Subject Research Committees to facilitate student researchers to present and publish at various platforms of national and international repute. Our faculty rose to the challenge of guiding fourth year research admirably, refusing to let quality slip when it would have been easy to do so. The Department of Psychology has received ISBN number for two edited volumes of research publications arising from such endeavours. Further, the college signed 78 MoUs with companies and NGOs and offered internships/ community outreach during both summers and through the semester to nearly 600 students across departments in lieu of Skill Enhancement Courses.

Talking of courses to be introduced, we are keenly awaiting our very first batch of students for the Integrated Teacher Education Programme (ITEP) and shall be rolling out a 4-year BA–B.Ed. (Secondary) course this year. The college has been granted approval for starting this course by the National Council for Teacher Education (NCTE).

I must share at this juncture that at Lady Shri Ram College for Women, we not only recognise and celebrate the pursuit of academic excellence but also the importance of equal access to education. Our commitment is reflected in the fact that this year, nearly 1500 students received around one crore and thirty lakh rupees in freeships, scholarships and tuition fee waivers.

Our commitment to institutional excellence is further evidenced by our proactive alignment with national capacity-building frameworks, notably through the Faculty Development Program on NEP Orientation and Sensitisation and the Mission Karmayogi initiative. To complement these governance efforts, we hosted a specialised workshop on the effective implementation of the Undergraduate Curriculum Framework (UGCF), conducted workshops and hands-on sessions in the lab on using Turnitin as a mechanism for upholding the highest standards of research integrity and academic rigour. A Professional Development Program was also held for administrative staff bridging technical skills like office procedures and documentation conducted by our very own Dr. Rohan Rai and Mr. Jay Chanda from Delhi University, with holistic modules on ethics, stress management, and emotional well-being. Our collaboration with UN Women, India for the Internal Committee's workshop on Gender Sensitisation and POSH underscores a profound dedication to institutionalising a rights-based, inclusive and secure workplace. Collectively, these milestones represent a significant leap in our mission to cultivate a resilient, digitally literate, and socially conscious academic ecosystem.

In line with our guiding vision, we continue to take strident steps towards an invigorating, inter-disciplinary, and robust research culture. It makes my heart swell with joy to share that this year, we have 38 Scopus-indexed publications by our faculty across disciplines such as Journalism, Education, Economics, Psychology, Mathematics, English, Political Science, among others. Further, five of our faculty members, Dr. Mitali Mishra, Dr. Sarita Devi, Dr. Sneha Bhati, Dr. Setu Gupta and Dr. Kuldeep, completed their doctoral studies and were awarded their PhD degrees this year. Congratulations to the 35 faculty who were promoted, 12 of whom became Professors. We remain committed to sustaining this momentum, ensuring that our faculty continues to reach new heights of professional and academic excellence.

I share with deep gratitude that our research endeavours are greatly fuelled by the Bharat Ram Research Grant. In the third cycle of this grant this year, seven funded projects reflected this objective through diverse themes: a study on young women's sexual health in our neighboring Zamrudpur slum that generated field insights and community communication tools; a computer science project that developed an AI-based multimodal stress detection model to enable early mental-health interventions for students; an archival project that reinterpreted colonial records through decolonial perspectives; a study that examined how family communication and media shape psychosexual wellness among young adults; a Hindi-English inter-departmental collaboration on women's experiences of Partition in Hindi, Urdu, and Bangla literature that also culminated in a bilingual international seminar, release of edited volumes and Hindi translations of Bengali Partition stories, a project on disability-inclusive AI that highlighted the need for participatory design; and an education-focused initiative on NEP 2020 that assessed higher-education reform. Together, these projects advance impactful scholarship that combines research excellence, student engagement, and real-world relevance.

Friends, you will be pleased to know that several noteworthy endeavours were taken at LSR in the year gone by. We especially have to thank our illustrious alumnae for being invested in the well-being of our institution. I am proud to report that we were able to raise about 1 crore in funding from our alumnae and other sources for several initiatives.

The first of these marked our efforts to, as Toni Morrison puts it, 'make a difference about something other than yourself.' The reopening of our renewed Swawalamban Resource Centre, enabled by a generous donation of Rs. 25 lakhs by an eminent alumna who does not wish to be named, the recruitment of a resource centre coordinator and accessibility trainer supported by the same alumna, our first access audit in July 2025 by another alumna, and multiple publications in accessible, readable formats, were steps in the right and much-needed direction. I am also happy to share that LSR became one of the first colleges within the University of Delhi to appoint a full-time counsellor. We have also introduced structured mental health support systems such that conversations around resilience, balance and well-being become integral to campus life, in line with our philosophy that education must nurture not only the mind, but also the self.

Another area of robust initiatives was infrastructure development, maintenance and upgradation. We await with bated breath the reopening of our college hostel after extensive renovations that began nearly ten months ago, thanks to a generous funding of Rs 1 crore from Shri Ram Foundation. In collaboration with Delhi Police, we inaugurated the Pink Booth, a police booth staffed by female officers, to strengthen campus safety. This year, we added considerably to the availability of consultation spaces, class rooms, staff room, three tech-enabled computer labs, sanitary pad vending machines in collaboration with Nua Woman, and a much-needed men's restroom.

This year, we moved forward concertedly with the aim of deepening our global presence and creating opportunities for exchange in the form of visits, collaborations, and research consortia. Our Office of the International Programmes (OIP) hosted delegations from leading universities across the globe, including Hertie School, Germany, Rutgers University, USA, and other prominent institutions. Our students participated in various international events. Our seven-member student team of Kritika Sharma, Niyati Bali, Meenakshi Jha, Anvi Khatri, Noor Sehgal, Mannat Parmar and Ishpreet Kakkar won several accolades at the Asian Undergraduate Symposium, organised by the National University of Singapore. In fact, our student Ishpreet's Project Noor on enhancing employability of orphaned children won a 5000 SGD grant. Congratulations are also due to Gunjan Arora and Ruhi Ahuja for getting selected and participating in Harvard University's largest annual student conference in the Asia-Pacific region, organised by Harvard Project for Asian and International Relations, 2025 (HPAIR'25) at Tokyo. Siddhi Mishra and Tara Abraham went to National University of Singapore and Fukuoka Women's University, Japan, respectively as exchange students.

We are also proud of Vaishnavi from the Department of Philosophy for her selection as a Youth Leader at the Young South Asian Leaders Initiative (YSALI), organised by the US State Department. Special congratulations to Harshita Kumari from the English Department, whose project received recognition in the presence of the Honourable President of India Smt. Droupadi Murmu at the National Handloom Hackathon 2025, organised by IIT Delhi. Our students Aanya Gupta, Purvi Kansal and Vanshika Khanna, secured First Prize in the Sustainability Case Competition organised by Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore. We also commend Varsha Singh, student of M.A. English who was awarded the prestigious Dr. Shankar Dayal Sharma Gold Medal for all-round achievement by the University of Delhi.

Ever in sync with the old and the new, the Entrepreneurship cell took bold steps towards realising LSR as a specialised on-campus hub for providing mentorship, workspace, and resources to help student-led startups, researchers, and early-stage ventures succeed. This year, our initiatives saw a boost to LSR's very own start-up incubator– project Kushal, a student discount platform, with industry mentor Mr. Shubhashish Nath, Founder & CEO of GRMI. While initiatives like Founders' Forum fostered meaningful networking among 12 multi-million-dollar founders, others like Shark Tank Pitching Wars garnered over 1,000 registrations and great excitement on campus. Enactus supported projects Saarathi, project Vichaar and project Manjari reaffirmed our commitment to nurture socially responsible leaders by building sustainable businesses that empower communities.

The Placement Cell of Lady Shri Ram College for Women continued to uphold its legacy, facilitating a dynamic and successful recruitment cycle. The college witnessed participation from a diverse pool of over 50 organisations, with more than 160 offers made across consulting, finance, marketing, analytics, and product domains. The highest package offered stood at Rs. 36.25 LPA, while the average and median packages were Rs. 13.54 LPA and Rs. 13.1 LPA, respectively. The internship cycle also witnessed strong engagement, with the highest stipend offered at Rs. 3,60,000 for an 8-week engagement, reflecting the quality and competitiveness of opportunities secured by students.

I am happy to report that this year, the intellectual life of the college was further enriched by a series of distinguished dialogues and seminars. Close to 300 eminent visitors including international diplomats, civil servants, scholarly academicians and thinkers, artists, educators, industry leaders, members of the judiciary, entrepreneurs, scientists, activists, among others walked through these red corridors. This illustrious list includes Mr. Shivshankar Menon, Former National Security Advisor and Foreign Secretary, former diplomats Mr. Ashok Kantha, Mr. Manjeev Puri, Mr. Gautam Mukhopadhyaya, and Mr. Pavan Verma, Prof. Cynthia Enloe, Professor Emerita, Political Science, Clark University, US, Prof. Pankaj Arora, Chairperson, National Council for Teacher Education (NCTE), Padmabhushan Sh. Ram Bahadur Rai, Hindi author and President, IGNCATrust, Mr. Gurcharan Das, author, Ms Mugdha Sinha, Managing Director, ITDC Ltd, Ms. Mandakini Kaul, South Asia Regional Coordinator, World Bank, Prof. Sukrita Paul Kumar, acclaimed poet, Dr. Surjit Bhalla, Former Executive Director, International Monetary Fund, Dr. Axel Baish, Managing Director, Hertie's School, Berlin, Prof. Amitabh Mattoo, Dean, School of International Studies, JNU, Dr S. P. Sharma, Managing Director, NDIM NEO Research Centre, Prof. George Leibowitz, Professor, Rutgers School of Social Work, US, Mr. Nachiket Mor, Former director, Central Board of RBI, Prof. Rukmini Bhaya Nair, Professor Emerita at IIT Delhi, Ms. Aditi Shah, Principal Applied Scientist, Microsoft, US, and our very own Professor Rajni Abbi, Director, South Campus, Professor Balram Pani, Dean of Colleges, and Prof. Ranjan Tripathi, Dean Students Welfare, University of Delhi.

LSR held a special event commemorating 150 years of Vande Mataram and the 150th birth anniversary of the Iron Man of India, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, that was graced by Ms. Bansuri Swaraj, Hon'ble Member of Parliament and Dr. Vikas Gupta, Registrar, University of Delhi. We also welcomed Jack Chambers, Minister for Public Expenditure, Infrastructure, Public Service Reform and Digitalisation, Ireland, and Irish Ambassador to India, Kevin Kelly, for a special speaker session on 'India-Ireland Relations' on 16 February 2026. These engagements reaffirm our belief that education must remain responsive to the pressing questions of our times.

Our fifteen departments kept the college calendar full with national and international conferences, seminars, speaker sessions and workshops. Some noteworthy international conferences were 'Translating Crisis: Identity, Translation and Future of Humanities', organised by the Department of English, 'Reimagining India's development: Growth, Equity, and Sustainability in a Transforming Global Economy', organised by the Economics department, 'Worlds in Transition: The Expanding Horizons of International Relations', organised by the Political Science department and 'New Horizons in Sociology', organised by the Sociology department. National seminars such as 'Inclusive AI Development: Building Ethical, Accessible & Equitable Futures', 'National Seminar on Psychological Research' (Psychology), 'Trends in Social Science Research' (History Department), witnessed enthusiastic participation from institutions all over the country and facilitated critical dialogue.

Our departments and societies regularly publish academic journals, newsletters, and magazines, including The Learning Curve, the peer-reviewed journal with an ISSN number published by the Department of Psychology. One special publication is our college magazine. Since its inception in 1956, it reflects the democratic commitment, diversity and shared creativity of the campus. With contributions in 11 regional and four foreign languages, it celebrates the multilingual and polyvocal fabric of our institution.

Beyond academics, our students' creativity flourished this year through several landmark artistic initiatives. In March 2026, the Hive Fine Arts Society collaborated with French artist Olivier Poizat (Kesadi) to create the mural The Nightingale and the Grocery Shop. A part of the "Wall Art India" initiative by Alliance Française, the piece serves as a cross-cultural dialogue honouring the legacies of Sarojini Naidu and Annie Ernaux. The society reimagined the college's landscape by creating a Lippman art wall in the lower foyer. They partnered with the SC-ST Cell to create a vibrant mural entitled Echoes of Her Strength. This work serves as a visual tribute to women icons such as Savitribai Phule and Rani Gaidinliu, blending cultural motifs to symbolise resilience and social justice.

At LSR, ecological sensitivity and a sense of rootedness in nature are woven into our daily fabric. We have continued our commitment to achieving a zero-waste campus with full recycling and plastic reduction policies, along with empowering change through education and advocacy. Apart from the dry recyclable collection programme and e-waste awareness drives, LSR joined the project 'Segregation Of waste for Recycling and Treatment (S.O.R.T)' formalised through an MOU with the Indian Pollution Control Association (IPCA) and established aerobins. Friends, not only did these efforts mark significant steps in cultivating a culture of environmental consciousness, but they also helped us to bag for the very first time the Centenary Cup for best green practices at the Delhi University Flower Show. Felicitations are due to Prakriti and the Garden Committee whose tireless efforts resulted in a multitude of prizes including winning the prestigious Green Cup for the best-maintained, cleanest, and greenest campus among colleges for the 29th consecutive year, the Department of Sociology Cup for Best Rose Garden, among a host of other prizes.

Continuing to dazzle us with their artistic flair, the college societies had a vibrant year. LSR Dramatics Society's annual stage production 'Bulawa' secured first prizes at ARSD College and PGDAV College and Best Production awards at JMC and St. Stephen's College and was selected for a performance at the India International Centre. Their annual street production won first prizes at Jamia Hamdard University, Maharaja Surajmal Institute of Technology, Army College of Medical Studies, Sri Venkateswara College, and Shivaji College, and received Best Play and Best Script at Dyal Singh (M) College. Keeping in step with the winning beat, Dance Society secured first positions at premier institutions such as BITS Pilani and Shri Venkateshwara College. The mellifluous notes of Dhwani, the Indian Music Society bagged prizes at IIT Delhi and IIT Kanpur. Maintaining their winning streak, they had more than 18 wins across various inter-college competitions.

The Hindi Debating Society (Vaktrivta) had a strong and productive year in 2025-26, marked by successful events and notable competitive achievements. Its flagship two-day parliamentary debate, Tarkvyuh, brought together 36 teams and 28 adjudicators. The society won more than five rolling trophies at major national and zonal competitions, including the KK Birla National Debate Competition (Hindu College), Shantinarayan Memorial Trilingual Debate (Hansraj College), Association of Indian Universities National Debate Competition as well as events in Chennai and Ambala. Our students, most notably Arya Dixit and Krishni Pathak, also secured over 25 awards across universities nationwide.

The artistic talents of our students were matched by their sporting and athletic prowess. Our National Cadet Corps consistently worked towards shaping disciplined, confident, and socially responsible individuals, with outstanding cadets Devika Choudhry and Harshita who participated in the Republic Day Parade. NCC-LSR received second runner-up trophy as the Best Institute of NCC Delhi, by Lt. Governor of Delhi Shri V.K. Saxena. The NCC's annual inter-college fest, Veerangana, served as a premier platform for cadets to engage in spirited competition.

The National Sports Organisation (NSO) witnessed first-class performances of students across inter-college, state, national, and international platforms. The Archery team secured multiple gold medals at the Delhi University Inter-College competitions and the NTPC Junior National Archery Championship. Notably, Samiksha Manaktala was selected to represent at the Asia Cup in Iraq for archery. Bhavya Tripathi secured gold and silver medals in shooting at Asian Championship and Asian Shooting Championship at Kazakhstan.

The Basketball team emerged victorious in tournaments such as the Royal Basketball Tournament and the Delhi State Khelo Mahakumbh. Our students earned several distinctions at many prestigious meets, including the Delhi State Championships, National Shooting Championship, Haryana Olympics, among others. The Annual Run 2025-26, themed 'Beat the Heat, Save the Earth', brought together nearly 500 participants in a collective call for environmental awareness. Dr. Bharat Ram Sports Meet, our flagship annual inter-college event showcased our institutional leadership in sports. Sporting accolades are not limited to our students. Here, I would also like to acknowledge the outstanding sporting achievements of Mr. Sandeep Kumar from our administrative office. This year, he won the bronze medal in the 2nd Para Lawn Bowl National Championship in Guwahati, won the silver medal in 3rd Delhi State Para Swimming Championship and won the bronze medal in 3rd Delhi State Para-Powerlifting Championships.

Parwaaz, the annual festival organised by REACH, served as a powerful testament to the boundless potential of inclusion. Welcoming over 250 students with disabilities from across Delhi University, the event transcended barriers through a symphony of spirited debates and a vibrant talent hunt. REACH published its flagship magazine Aarohan, a unique collection of Braille poetry and prose featuring a newly introduced disability glossary. Celebrating the diverse heritage of the region, North-East Cell championed humanitarian action, regional representation and pride. This commitment to inclusivity culminated in Orion, the cell's vibrant cultural fest, featuring an inter-college folk dance competition, regional cinema appreciation, and music. The MUN and Public Speaking Society expanded the college's advocacy into the global arena through its annual conference held in collaboration with Hertie School, Germany. Our students represented LSR at inter-college MUN competitions, earning accolades including Best Delegate, High Commendation and Special Mention in several colleges of Delhi University such as Miranda House, Indraprastha College for Women and Shaheed Bhagat Singh College.

This year, 27 NSS-LSR projects maintained sustained engagement, meaningful outreach, and continued commitment towards social impact and community building across diverse thematic areas. Not only did their flagship events Nexus, Kala and the Diwali Mela see spirited participation, their robust steps to step out of their comfort zone and undertake activities such as neighbourhood cleanliness drive, blood donation camp and activities undertaken as part of the Nasha Mukh Bharat Abhiyaan deserve a special note of appreciation.

From 28th to 30th March 2026, LSR hosted Tarang, our annual cultural festival, an exciting extravaganza that blended entertainment with learning and collaboration. This year, Tarang celebrated journeys of self-discovery through its tagline Khud Se Mulaqat. The festival featured artists and bands such as Rahasya, Sushant Mishra, Hulo, Maahi Zaveri, Navjot Ahuja, Rajat Sood, among others. It saw a huge turnout as the campus sparkled with colours and joyous vibes.

Our pride in our students and alumnae continues to grow with every passing year. Out of 958 successful candidates nationwide in the UPSC Civil Services Examination 2025, Lady Shri Ram College stands out with an impressive eleven achievers. To celebrate this remarkable feat, the college organised a felicitation ceremony on 19 March 2026. Their success is a testament not only to their individual determination but also to the academic environment that nurtures excellence across disciplines. It further affirms the enduring impact of our institution in shaping empowered women leaders.

In recognition of our institution's legacy of excellence, LSR was selected as one of four leading Delhi women's colleges to feature in a special set of commemorative postage stamps released by the Department of Posts, Government of India, in March 2026, celebrating iconic women's institutions in Delhi. It is a tribute to our role in nurturing confident women leaders, bold thinkers, and changemakers.

I express my sincere gratitude to Shri Arun Bharat Ram, Ms. Vasvi Baratram, and all our governing body members whose vision serves as both a compass and a catalyst to our actions. A truly outstanding academic institution is sustained by the interplay of deeply engaged pursuit of academic excellence and the well-being of all stakeholders. We are incredibly fortunate to have a Chairperson in Mr. Arun Bharat Ram, whose rare clarity of vision upholds both with equal conviction. Thank you, Sir, for being the steady hand behind our progress and for the profound trust you place in us every day.

At LSR, if students are the Sun around which our revolutions take place, our teaching and administrative staff are the axes that hold our bearings firmly in place. I must thank our exceptional faculty who work tirelessly to create what we fondly call the 'magic of LSR'. Teaching is far from a lost art here—our faculty lead with passion, purpose, and the quiet superpower of making students actually care about learning. And demonstrating this very care in action, we are grateful to our GB member Justice Gita Mittal, who has very generously constituted an award of Rs.1 lakh in the name of her mother. Dr. Ved Mittal Sreshth Guru Sammaan to recognise exceptional educators at Lady Shri Ram College for Women who have demonstrated sustained excellence in teaching, mentorship, and holistic contribution to academic life, to be announced on Teacher's Day this year. This gesture provides a rare, vital acknowledgment of the art of teaching, elevating the often-unseen dedication of faculty members to its rightful place of prestige.

Our administrative staff are magic makers in their own right. Acting quietly and assiduously often behind the scenes, they replace the chaotic and frenetic energy on campus and bring in routine and rhythm to our everyday lives. This year, we celebrated 'gratitude day' to thank our non-teaching and support staff for their invaluable contributions to the college.

As I close, I turn to the call of people and the planet. After 70 years of shaping minds and hearts, LSR must now help weave a new story for humankind. Ever synonymous with Leadership, Scholarship and Reinvention, we shall continue to redefine pedagogies of care, currencies of resistance and vocabularies of responsiveness. We draw from the warp of our past and the weft of our resolve. Dr. Kalal called education the 'third eye'. It is this third eye that we sharpen every day for new frontiers. Today, as I thank each constituent of the LSR community for irrigating this temple of learning with your intellectual vitality, dedicated engagement and your own special brand of 'magic', I invite you all to join me in fearless imagination of a better tomorrow. As Dr Kalam said, 'Dream is not that which you see while sleeping, it is something that does not let you sleep'.

Thank you,

Kanika K. Ahuja

*On the august occasion of the College Day
Lady Shri Ram College for Women
warmly welcomes
Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, University of Delhi, Professor Yogesh Singh*

Prof. Yogesh Singh, the Vice Chancellor of the University of Delhi, is an academician par excellence and a decisive leader who has held numerous prestigious administrative roles throughout his illustrious career. His leadership is defined by unwavering dedication and a holistic vision for higher education. Over the years, he has led several premier universities and technical institutions, earning a reputation for decisive leadership, integrity, and the ability to drive meaningful change. While he has held many positions of national significance, his scholarly contributions to the field of software engineering are also glorious. He has an h-index of 35, more than 4400 citations, over 250 research publications, and has supervised 23 doctoral scholars.

As a mentor, administrator, and reformer, Prof. Singh inspires through action, rooted in the firm belief that true success lies in empowering others and upholding institutional integrity. His tenure is characterized by a commitment to the Viksit Bharat mission, encouraging students to embrace creativity and entrepreneurship. Prof. Singh has spearheaded the successful implementation of NEP 2020, with a particular emphasis on enhancing research output. Under his guidance, the University has introduced several specialized programs, including an MBA in Business Analytics, BLIS, MLIS, and advanced medical courses such as an MSc in Respiratory Therapy.

The University of Delhi improved its standing in the QS World University Rankings: Asia 2026 under Prof. Singh's direction, earning an overall score of 68.5, up 10.7% from 61.9 the previous year. The university is ranked among Asia's top 100 universities, despite a sharp rise in the number of participating institutions. The improvement is a result of the university's growing international research partnership, improved graduate outcomes, and growing academic prestige. Furthermore, his commitment to faculty growth is evident in the recruitment of 838 teachers and the promotion of over 5,300 staff members. By strengthening corporate ties through initiatives like the Samsung Innovation Lab, Prof. Singh continues to elevate research, placement opportunities, and administrative efficiency across the University.

In December 2025, he was appointed as the interim chairman of the All-India Council for Technical Education (AICTE). Being entrusted with the dual charge of two leading institutions simultaneously is an exceptional responsibility that underscores his administrative and leadership capabilities. Beyond academics, he has prioritized infrastructure expansion and championed digital transformation through the "e-Samadhan" platform. By initiating "Coffee with the Vice-Chancellor", he has successfully bridged the communication gap between students and the administration. At the heart of Professor Singh's journey is a clear guiding philosophy: institutions flourish when people are empowered. His career continues to exemplify visionary leadership, academic excellence, and service-driven governance.

Looking toward the horizon, there is a profound sense of optimism for the collective trajectory of both the University and Lady Shri Ram College. The vision for the future is one defined by a robust expansion of academic frontiers, where innovative curricula and interdisciplinary research continue to set new benchmarks. We anticipate a future where student outcomes are characterized by diverse leadership roles and meaningful contributions to society. As we strengthen our collaborative ties and commitment to excellence, the coming years promise a vibrant era of transformation and sustained academic brilliance.

*Lady Shri Ram College for Women
warmly welcomes
Hon'ble Chief Guest, Mrs Anu Garg, the Chief Secretary of Odisha
College Awards & Felicitation Ceremony*

Presently serving as the Chief Secretary and Chief Development Commissioner in the Government of Odisha, Mrs. Anu Garg, IAS, stands as a distinguished exemplar of public leadership, vision, and unwavering commitment to inclusive governance. Joined in the IAS in 1991, she brings to the role more than three decades of rich administrative experience spanning district, state, and national governance. Across her career, Mrs. Garg has consistently translated policy into meaningful action. As Development Commissioner-cum-Additional Chief Secretary, with additional charge of the Water Resources Department, she spearheaded initiatives that revitalised long-pending projects, introduced new developmental pathways, and strengthened water-use efficiency through conservation, technology integration, and community participation. Her professional journey includes key roles as Principal Secretary in the Departments of Labour & ESI and Women & Child Development, Government of Odisha, as well as senior responsibilities at the national level—serving as Joint Secretary in the Ministry of Textiles, Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, and as Joint Secretary to the Prime Minister.

Earlier, as Commissioner-cum-Secretary, Health & Family Welfare (2008–2012), she played a pivotal role in strengthening public health systems in the state. Her formative years in administration saw her serving Odisha's districts as Collector and District Magistrate, Additional District Magistrate, and Sub-Divisional Magistrate—roles that shaped her people-centric approach to governance. An accomplished scholar, Mrs. Garg is an alumna of Lady Shri Ram College. While in LSR, Mrs. Garg bagged the University gold medal for the best student in Psychology (1986-89). She was also the Secretary of Psychology Association. She holds a Master's degree from the University of Lucknow, and earned her Master of Public Health from the Johns Hopkins University Bloomberg School of Public Health. Her academic depth complements her administrative acumen, reflected in her contributions as a member of the High-Level Expert Group on Universal Health Coverage constituted by the Planning Commission of India, and in her numerous scholarly publications in journals of national and international repute.

Distinguished Alumna Award 2026

Distinguished Alumna Award

GEETANJALI SHREE

(Class of 1976)

We proudly welcome Geetanjali Shree

to the Honour Roll of Lady Shri Ram College for Women

We take immense pride in recognising her outstanding contribution to literature and to her role in bringing global recognition to Hindi language writing.

We honour her

For her remarkable achievement as the first-ever recipient of the International Booker Prize (2022) for a work originally written in an Indian language and the Warwick Prize for Women in Translation for her acclaimed novel Ret Samadhi translated as Tomb of Sand.

For amplifying the voices of Indian languages on the international stage through her bold, empathetic, and profoundly humane storytelling.

For her innovative deployment of language and narrative form that challenges literary conventions and reimagines the possibilities of contemporary Hindi literature.

For her contribution to the global literary landscape through lectures, workshops, fellowships, and residencies in countries across the world.

For bringing pride and distinction to her alma mater through her extraordinary literary accomplishments and her enduring legacy in literature.

For bringing pride and distinction to her alma mater through her extraordinary literary accomplishments and her enduring legacy in literature.

विनम्र श्रद्धांजलि.....

लेडी श्री राम कॉलेज समुदाय अपनी प्रिय सदस्य, हिंदी विभाग की डॉ. रेणु गौतम को भावभीनी श्रद्धांजलि अर्पित करता है और उन्हें याद करता है, जो इस वर्ष स्वर्ग सिंघार गईं, और अपने पीछे स्नेह और प्रकाश की एक ऐसी विरासत छोड़ गईं जो हमेशा हमारे दिलों में रहेगी।

डॉ. रेणु गौतम एलएसआर कॉलेज में दिनांक 12 जुलाई 2005 से 18 नवम्बर 2025 तक कार्यरत रही। डॉक्टर रेणु गौतम एक समर्पित, कर्तव्य निष्ठ शिक्षिका के रूप में हमेशा याद आती हैं।

विद्यार्थियों के साथ उनका प्रेम और लगाव ऐसा था कि विद्यार्थी बिना किसी झिझक व बाधा के अपनी समस्याएं उन्हें बता देते थे। जीवन में भरपूर उत्साह, जीवट, हर कार्य को करने की क्षमता, भरपूर आत्म निर्भरता, किसी भी विषय के कार्य को पूरी तरह से समझना, उसे सही तरह से करना, उसे सही तरह से करने की प्रक्रिया को ज्ञात करना और उसके क्रियान्वयन में किसी तरह की कोई भी कमी नहीं छोड़ना, उनके व्यक्तित्व की खास विशेषतायें थीं।

महाविद्यालय के लिए पूरी तरह से समर्पित वे एक निर्भीक, क्रांतिकारी, स्पष्ट वक्ता शिक्षिका के रूप जानी जाती थीं। हिंदी विभाग डॉक्टर स्व.रेणु गौतम के हिंदी विभाग और कॉलेज को दिए गए योगदान को हमेशा याद रखेगा।

Highlights of the Year

The LSR Summer School 2025. In June-July 2025, IQAC, under the guidance of Principal, Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja, organised a three-part Summer School. In alignment with the college's goal to effectively implement NEP 2020, the Summer School was a significant step towards infusing teaching-learning processes with the values of interdisciplinarity and a focus on Indian knowledge systems. The Summer School offered three carefully crafted courses- Bharat Bodha: Ancient Indian Wisdom & Its Contemporary Relevance (in collaboration with the Delhi Sanskrit Academy), Timeless Lessons: Gita & Psychological Insights, and An Introduction to Zoroastrianism: Continuity & Change. All the courses were open to students and academicians from all over the country. Each course offered engaging discussions to help participants develop cultural sensitivity, build critical thinking skills, and foster creativity. The summer school received an excellent response. Over 250 participants registered for the course from various institutes of higher education.

FDP- NEP Orientation & Sensitization. The College conducted an Online Faculty Development Programme on NEP Orientation & Sensitization (July 1-10, 2025), in collaboration with MMTTC – CPDHE. The program which was a huge success with more than 100 participants. Sixteen extensive sessions were held with eminent speakers like Prof. Raj Nehru, Dr. Meenakshi Gopinath, Prof. Krishna Menon, Prof. Divya Upadhaya Joshi, Prof. Roopinder Obeori, Prof. Bhagwati Prakash Sharma, Prof. A.K. Bakshi, Prof. Hem Chand Jain, Dr. Nityananda Agasti, Prof. Nazir Ahmad Nazir, Prof. Namrata Sharma, Prof. Rishi Pal, Prof. P.B. Sharma, on the key themes of NEP 2020. The speakers and participants engaged on significant topics such as Indian Knowledge Systems, Vision of NEP 2020 and its contribution towards a Vikshit Bharat, the importance of building a sustainable ecosystem of higher education in India with research, innovation and industry collaborations, the growing importance of a skill-oriented and industry ready graduates, the commitment to ensure inclusive education with mechanisms like multiple entry exit options, accreditation of various skill courses, academic bank of credit etc. In the 8 day deliberations, challenges were discussed in terms of classroom teaching with regard to inclusion of people from a diverse range of social and ethnic backgrounds, linguistic, regional, and caste diversity, sexual orientation, and physical and intellectual ability. In this context, speakers emphasized the significance of pedagogy—its meaning, relevance, and role in shaping effective teaching practices and addressing the cognitive, emotional, behavioural, physical, social, political, and cultural well-being of every student.

Inauguration of the upgraded Swavalamban Resource Centre. Swavalamban, the resource centre for persons with disabilities, was reopened on 25 September 2025 with Chief Guest, Prof. Pankaj Arora (Chairperson of NCTE). The centre had been closed since 2022. The centre now incorporates a range of advanced AI-based devices, such as Hark AI and assistive technology, a refreshable braille display, magnifiers, audiobooks, AI-powered voice recorders, updated computer systems, ergonomic accessories, large-print keyboards, and specialised educational software, made possible by the generous contribution of an alumna. The re-launch of Swavalamban positions

LSR as a national leader in accessibility-focused higher education. This was preceded by the first access audit of the college, funded by alumna Justice Gita Mittal and conducted by the Diversity and Equal Opportunity Centre in July 2025. A resource centre coordinator and accessibility trainer have also been recruited. As a part of the college's DEI initiatives, the Students' Handbook 2025-26 was published in an accessible format for the first time for visually impaired students. REACH published its first magazine, a collection of poetry and prose in Braille, with a newly introduced disability glossary.

Innovative implementation of NEP 2020. The Research and Publications Forum and IQAC hosted a weekly research colloquium for semester 7 students on themes such as research ethics, anti-plagiarism tools, referencing tools, and marketing research. A handbook titled 'A beginner's guide for research', comprising a list of FAQs and important e-resources, was curated and given to students. To bridge the gap between academic research and policy implementation, LSR has surveyed recruiters, think tanks, and NGOs. Their inputs shall identify research gaps to provide feedback to the next batch of fourth-year students so that they undertake research and academic projects relevant to industry and feed into policy. Further, for the first time, the college signed 58 MoUs with companies and NGOs to offer internships/community outreach to a large number of students in lieu of SEC papers during summers and throughout the semester.

Mental health initiatives. The college became one of the first institutions within the University of Delhi to appoint a full-time counsellor after screening more than 500 applications. To cater to the mental health needs of students in a focused manner, a standardized questionnaire PHQ, was administered to students to screen for depression and suicidal ideation. Regular sessions on topics such as resilience, well-being, positive psychology, work-life balance, and drug abuse awareness were conducted at LSR. The psychology department continued to support the cause of student well-being through the Peer Support Program and the Mental Health Awareness Week (October, 2025).

Sustainability Initiatives. Several steps were taken towards developing a more eco-friendly campus. With the motive of reducing municipal solid waste through source segregation and recycling using a sustainable approach, LSR joined the project Segregation of Waste for Recycling and Treatment (S.O.R.T). This was formalised through an MOU with the Indian Pollution Control Association (IPCA) in association with the Swarn Lata Motherson Trust (SLMTT) who installed two aerobins on campus on 2 April 2026. The inaugural ceremony was attended by Ms. Ameena Talwar, MCD Brand Ambassador, along with team members from the Indian Pollution Control Association (IPCA). This initiative to convert wet waste from the cafe, mess, and gardens into useful manure through a natural composting process highlights LSR's commitment to strengthening sustainable practices. In addition, the college organized an awareness workshop and capacity-building training session on solid waste management for students, academic staff, and housekeeping staff. Principal, Prof. Ahuja, addressed the gathering and highlighted the importance of embracing sustainability in our day-to-day practices in order to contribute to the circular economy. She also urged the students to spread awareness about waste segregation and maintain the greenery of the campus. Prakriti, the Environment Society of LSR, collaborated with GreenEcolink to install 'Red Bins' to encourage students to responsibly dispose of their electronic waste (6 February 2026). Through awareness drives, designated collection systems, and convenient doorstep pickup services, the initiative encourages students to participate in responsible disposal, thereby reducing environmental hazards.

Commemorating Vande Mataram and the Birth Anniversary of Sardar Patel. LSR commemorated 150 years of Vande Mataram and the 150th birth anniversary of the Iron Man of India, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, whose leadership was vital in the unification of India. The event, organised on 21 November 2025, celebrated the legacy of Vande Mataram as a powerful symbol of India's freedom movement and was graced by Ms. Bansuri Swaraj, Hon'ble Member of Parliament. In her address, Ms. Swaraj said, "As we remember him, we pay our heartfelt tribute. Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel gave India its unified form, and Vande Mataram stitched us together in spirit and purpose."

Dialogue with Mr. Shivshankar Menon. The LSRMUN and Public Speaking Society hosted a dialogue with Mr Shivshankar Menon, former National Security Advisor and Foreign Secretary to India, on 5 February 2026. The theme for the discussion was nuclear stability and strategic restraint in South Asia. Mr. Menon spoke on the importance of nuclear stability, the use of nuclear bombs, and the hidden incentives of nuclear test ban treaties. He asserted that nuclear power would not be adequately understood if confined to Asia alone, much less to the subcontinent of South Asia. This is due to the profound and far-reaching impact of nuclear power, which affects not only South Asia but also the regional stability of West Asia, Central Asia, and the Indo-Pacific. He emphasised our ability to modify nuclear weapons as a medium of deterrence and not warfare.

Inclusive AI Development: Building Ethical, Accessible, & Equitable Futures. On 7 February 2026, LSR organized a National Seminar titled 'Inclusive AI Development: Building Ethical, Accessible, & Equitable Futures' under the aegis of the Dr. Bharat Ram Research Grant sponsored research project 'Designing for Difference: AI and the Politics of Disability Inclusion.' The seminar featured an inaugural session, two panel discussions, and student research poster presentations. The keynote address by Mr. K. Vikram Simha Rao, Former Director, Ministry of Social Justice & Empowerment, GOI, focused on policy perspectives, India's evolving AI governance frameworks, disability rights regimes, and the importance of policy coordination to ensure equitable digital access. The seminar successfully facilitated critical dialogue on inclusive AI development, bridging policy, technology, education, and lived experiences of disability.

Special session with the Irish Ambassador to India. LSR welcomed Irish Ambassador to India, Kevin Kelly, and Jack Chambers, Minister for Public Expenditure, Infrastructure, Public Service Reform and Digitalisation, Ireland, for a special speaker session on 'India- Ireland Relations: Historical Friends and Future Partners in the context of the new India-EU Free Trade Agreement' (16 February 2026). Mr. Chambers highlighted the importance of bilateral trade between the two countries and posited the India-Ireland corridor as a primary engine for mutual growth. He spoke highly of the contributions of the Indian community to Irish society in sectors such as healthcare, IT engineering, and senior management.

Dialogues with Dr. Cynthia Enloe and Prof. Jesse Scott. The Political Science Department organised an interaction with Dr. Cynthia Enloe, an American political theorist, feminist writer, and professor, on 18 February 2026 as part of its annual academic conference Polpourri '26. Dr. Cole is highly regarded for her work on gender and militarism and for her contributions to the field of feminist international relations. The session conducted by her at LSR was titled 'Feminist Discourse in Military Politics: Where are the Women?' The discussion focused on the distinction between militarism as a fixed set of assumptions and militarisation as an ongoing process, rendering it traceable and therefore open to questioning and resistance. It highlighted how women's under-acknowledged labour and consent underpin any nationalist project, making a call for recognition and more fearless engagement. Later on 12 March 2026, Prof. Jesse Scott of the Hertie School visited LSR to speak on climate change, clean energy transition, and the EU-India relationship. A significant part of the lecture focused on the EU Carbon Border Adjustment Mechanism, which places a carbon price on certain goods entering the EU.

Highlights of the Year

A mural of voices and empowerment. In March 2026, French artist Olivier Poizat, aka Kesadi, painted a mural titled The Nightingale and the Grocery Shop on a wall of the new building, near the exhibition halls. The mural is part of Wall Art India, an urban art initiative led by the Alliance Française. It celebrates the work of Sarojini Naidu and Annie Ernaux, who have inspired generations of young women to find meaning in their lived experiences. Kesadi spent four days on campus, connecting with students while working on the mural alongside volunteers from Delhi Street Art.

Welcoming the new Principal, Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja. LSR celebrated the formal appointment of its new Principal, Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja, on March 12, 2026. Following her official appointment a week earlier, Prof. Ahuja was welcomed by the Chairman of the college's Governing Body, Shri Arun Bharat Ram, faculty members, non-teaching staff, and students. In his address, Shri Arun Bharat Ram expressed his confidence in Prof. Ahuja's vision to lead the institution to new heights. Prof. Ahuja's deep commitment marks the beginning of a progressive chapter, strengthening LSR's legacy and inspiring the entire academic community toward greater achievements. The event featured vibrant cultural performances by students and concluded with a celebratory tea for all attendees.

Celebrating our Achievers. On 19 March 2026, the college organized a felicitation ceremony for alumnae who recently cleared the UPSC CSE 2025- Surabhi Yadav, Ifra S Ansari, Devanshi Kaura, Maurvie Tiwari, Kashish Kalra, Navneet Kaur, Gauri Bansal, Shreya Gupta, Smitha Sabu, and Kritika Chaudhary. The achievers come from different disciplines, showcasing the diversity and vibrancy of LSR's academic community. In a panel discussion moderated by the current president of the Students' Union, Srishti, the achievers reflected on their journeys of succeeding in one of India's most challenging examinations, while also offering current aspirants practical advice on how to optimise their preparation and perform at their best.

India Post Honors Delhi's Leading Women's Colleges. LSR was honoured to be selected as one of four leading Delhi women's colleges to receive a special miniature sheet containing a set of commemorative stamps released by India Post. The stamp celebrates the institution's legacy of excellence, education, and women's empowerment. It is a tribute to LSR's role in nurturing confident women leaders, bold thinkers, and change makers. The stamp was unveiled by Ms. Vandita Kaul, Secretary (Posts), and Ms. Smriti Sharan, Joint Secretary, Department of Rural Development, on 25 March, 2026.

Highlights of the Year

Tarang 2026. On 28, 29, and 30 March 2026, LSR hosted Tarang, the annual cultural festival, an exciting extravaganza that blended entertainment with learning and collaboration. This year, Tarang celebrated journeys of self-discovery through the idea that in every note, every colour, every captured moment, a self is waiting to be found. The three-day festival offered a platform for students from all over the country to showcase their talents and compete in a range of activities, including dance, theatre, photography, drama, and debating. The prelude to Tarang was the musical event 'Junoon-e-Tarang' featuring the Safarnama Band. The festival also featured artists and bands such as Rahasya, Sushant Mishra, Hulo, Maahi Zaveri, Navjot Ahuja, and Rajat Sood, among others.

LSR Dramatics Society: A Year of Creative Excellence. The LSR Dramatics Society dominated the theatre circuit. By focusing on powerful storytelling and emotional honesty, the society built a profound connection with its audiences. Their annual stage production, Bulawa, won first prize at ARSD and PGDAV College. It won the prize for best production at JMC and St. Stephen's College, University of Delhi, and was selected for a performance at the India International Centre. Tia Banerjee, Neelam, and Sejal Vasant won accolades for their performances. The annual street production won first prize at Jamia Hamdard University, Maharaja Surajmal Institute of Technology, Army College of Medical Studies, Sri Venkateswara College, and Shivaji College. It also won the prize for best play and best script at Dyal Singh (M) College. Krisha Gupta was awarded the best actor prize at PGDAV College, while Bahulika Tumma won the best actress award at Manipal University, Jaipur. The society was invited to perform its annual mime production, Pencil ke Daag, at Sunbeam Suncity school, Varanasi, and Atelier's Act Season 16.

Other highlights of the academic year include a session on Gender Sensitization and POSH Strengthening with Dr. Poulomi Pal from UN Women (18 September 2025) and the installation of the Pink Booth, a specialized 24/7 police assistance centre launched by Delhi Police, manned by women personnel to provide a safe environment for our students to seek assistance.

Projects funded by the Bharat Ram Research Grant

Projects funded by the Bharat Ram Research Grant (Cycle 3)

The Bharat Ram Research Grant at LSR is a prestigious funding initiative established by the Shri Ram Education Foundation to support faculty and student research. In the third cycle of 2025-26, funding was granted to 7 projects conducted across departments.

Dr. Saswati Bhattacharya (Department of Sociology), Dr. Anuradha Jaidka (Department of Sociology), and Dr. Shama Norien Major (Department of Elementary Education) were awarded the project ‘Young Women’s Sexual Health Requirements and Perceptions of Healthcare Professionals within the Public Healthcare System: An Exploratory Study in a Delhi Slum’. The project began in March 2025 by identifying students to assist the investigators in fieldwork. The development of the data-collection questionnaire, the initial training of students, and the neighbourhood survey were completed in June 2025. Before undertaking intensive fieldwork, a capacity-building workshop was conducted through peer educators from the Ipas Development Foundation and Udayan Care. The objective was to enable student volunteers to overcome their inhibitions, given the nature of the project. Fieldwork and preliminary analysis have been completed, on the basis of which a consultation workshop titled ‘Developing effective communication strategies for sexual health care of urban poor women’ was organised on campus (18 February 2026).

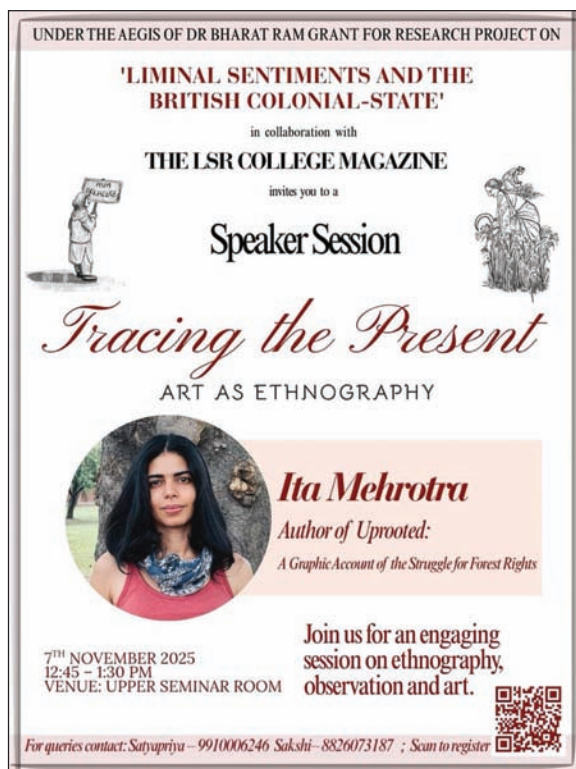

The deliberations focused on the knowledge and communication gaps at the inter-personal and inter-generational level among women within families, the significance of culturally sensitive information on sexual health, and stigma. About 25 respondents from the study actively interacted with facilitators on these issues. The final phase of developing communication materials, primarily as short videos, has begun, with the target of completing the project by June 2026.

Prof. Sushila Madan, Dr. Ritu Yadav, and Ms. Megha Khandelwal (Computer Applications) completed a project titled ‘A Multimodal Stress Detection Model for Students in Higher Education using Machine Learning.’ The growing prevalence of student stress has emerged as a significant public health concern, affecting not only academic performance but also the overall well-being and safety of individuals in higher education. The transition to university life—characterised by increased academic demands, evolving social environments, and financial pressures—often creates an intense and challenging experience for students. In response to this pressing issue, an interdisciplinary team of students and faculty worked on this research project. The research team’s approach integrates mobile-based data (phone usage frequency/timing, app switching behaviour, accelerometer data, gyroscope data for posture/movement stability, GPS location patterns, step count, and activity transitions) with standardised psychological assessments to provide a more comprehensive understanding of student mental health. By leveraging machine learning techniques to identify early signs of stress, the model aims to enable timely and proactive interventions, moving beyond mere awareness toward meaningful support. The findings of this study have been compiled in a research paper, submitted to an SCI-indexed journal for broader dissemination within the scientific community. This work represents a significant advancement in AI-driven mental health monitoring, establishing a new benchmark for student well-being research in higher education.

Prof. Arti Minocha and Dr. Jonathan Varghese Koshy (Department of English) pursued their project titled ‘Liminal Sentiments and the British Colonial-State.’ The researchers undertook a decolonial reading of the archive by approaching it as a site of embodied experiences of the subaltern rather than as neutral, objective knowledge. The team attempted a contrapuntal reading of some archives that had already been collected from Kerala and Punjab. Forty students from the departments of English, History, and Psychology have contributed as research assistants, conducting archival research and examining official reports and correspondence. They have also carried out a literary analysis of 18th and 19th-century travelogues and writings by women. Two lectures were organised as part of the project. The first among these was a lecture by Parvati Sharma called ‘But thinking makes it so: The good and bad of persuasive narratives and sceptical storytelling’ (17 April 2025). The second session was with Ita Mehrotra titled, ‘Tracing the present: Art as ethnography’ (7 November 2025).

(SCOPUS), and IIC Quarterly. One article was read at the Annual Conference of the European Council of South Asian Studies (ECSAS) on 3 October 2025. Travel Writings of Hardevi: London Yatra and London Jubilee, submitted to De Gruyters, Germany, have been edited and translated by Prof. Arti Minocha. Currently, students are creating illustrated critical commentaries on two travelogues that will be published and released during the October 2026 conference.

Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja, Dr. Priyanka Padhy, and Dr. Megha Dhillon (Department of Psychology) pursued their project titled ‘Never Have I Ever: A Study on Dating and Sexuality Scripts in Parent-Child Communication; Popular Media Messages among Emerging Adults.’ As its central undertaking, the study sought to examine the influence of parent-young adult communication on sexuality and dating and media portrayals on young adults’ dating expectations, attitudes, and sexual behaviours. Involving both primary and secondary data streams from interviews, focus group discussions and a Netflix-based show titled ‘Never Have I ever’, the study employed systematic media and thematic analyses. Key outcomes of the study included two research papers, the first of which has been published in the Journal of Psychosexual Health (Scopus-listed, February 2026), while the second paper is under submission. The research findings have been presented at several noteworthy platforms, such as the All India Institute of Medical Sciences and the University of Delhi. Further, the selected team of 9 student research assistants have been mentored in planning, designing and carrying out qualitative research, starting from the development of FGD tools, to moderating FGD sessions, qualitative coding, memo writing, codebook development and qualitative analyses.

A national conference, ‘Voices from the threshold: Past and present’, shall be held in October 2026. Dr. Jonathan Koshy Varghese has published 3 articles: Philological Encounters (SCOPUS), Journal of Global South

Dr. Kanchan Verma (Department of Hindi) and Ms. Maitreyee Mandal (Department of English) worked on their project called 'Experiencing the Partition of India: Women in Hindi, Urdu, and Bangla Short Stories.' The work focused on exploring the gendered dimensions of Partition through literary analysis, with particular emphasis on women's experiences of trauma, displacement, violence, and resilience as represented in short stories across three major South Asian languages. By foregrounding women's voices, the study moved beyond conventional historical narratives to highlight lived realities and emotional landscapes shaped by Partition. A comparative and intersectional approach was adopted to examine thematic concerns, narrative strategies, and the influence of caste, class, religion, and region on literary representations. As part of the project, a one-day bilingual international conference titled 'Beyond Human Divide: Revisiting the Partition of India' was organised on campus

(8 August 2025), with over 50 presenters participating in hybrid mode. An abstract compendium and two bilingual volumes of essays, Beyond human divide: Revisiting the partition of India and Manav vibhajan se parey: Bharat vibhajan ek punarvichar, were published. Additionally, to address gaps in Hindi literary resources, an anthology of short stories titled Smritiyan 1947: Bangal vibhajan ki kahaniyan, translated from Bangla to Hindi by the investigators, was published.

Dr. Mahesh S. Panicker and Dr. Leslie Keerthi Kumar SM (Department of Political Science) pursued their project titled 'Designing for Difference: AI and the Politics of Disability Inclusion.' For individuals with disabilities, AI holds immense potential. However, the AI era can also create significant challenges when AI development is not inclusive and participatory. This project employed a critical disability studies framework to examine how more inclusive AI development can happen. Over the year, this research project made significant progress in examining the intersection of AI and disability inclusion within the Indian context. A central aspect was the implementation of a mixed-methods research design. Through in-depth interviews, focus group discussions, and discourse analysis, the research team engaged with a diverse group of participants, including individuals with visual, auditory, mobility, and cognitive disabilities. The findings revealed that while AI technologies hold transformative potential, particularly in enhancing independence and access, many existing systems remain inadequately designed for diverse user needs. By actively involving persons with disabilities in the design and evaluation processes, the study demonstrated that more contextually relevant and accessible AI solutions can be developed. A national seminar titled 'Inclusive AI development: Building ethical, accessible, & equitable futures' was conducted in LSR (7 February 2026), which saw participation from scholars, industry leaders, and students from more than 15 institutions. The project findings are being published as three research papers, which are in various stages of publication.

Under the aegis of Dr Bharat Ram Research Grant, principal investigators Prof. Jyoti Darbari (Department of Mathematics) and Dr. Ujjayini Ray (Department of History) conducted a project titled 'An analytical study of barriers and enablers towards implementation of NEP in higher educational institutions.' The project engages with key themes of NEP including inter-disciplinarity, Indian Knowledge systems, Viksit Bharat, sustainable ecosystems of higher education in India, research, innovation, and industry collaborations. Furthermore, as part of the second phase of the study, eminent experts from academia and about 36 faculty members have been interviewed. Such perspectives help in understanding the NEP vision and its effectiveness.

The Summer School 2025. Under the leadership of Principal Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja, the IQAC organized a comprehensive three-part Summer School in June-July 2025. This initiative represented a pivotal step in the college's commitment to the effective implementation of NEP 2020, aiming to integrate interdisciplinarity and Indian Knowledge Systems (IKS) into the institutional fabric. The program featured three specialized courses: 'Bharat Bodha: Ancient Indian Wisdom and Its Contemporary Relevance', in collaboration with the Delhi Sanskrit Academy (9-23 June 2025), 'Timeless Lessons: Gita and Psychological Insights' (16-26 June 2025), and 'An Introduction to Zoroastrianism: Continuity and Change' (23 June-2 July 2025).

The summer school received an overwhelming response, with over 250 registrations from different parts of the country. Ms. Bansuri Swaraj, Member of the Lok Sabha, Shri R.K. Tripathi, Dean, Students Welfare, University of Delhi, Mr. Pavan Verma, Author and Diplomat, and Prof. Urmi Nanda Biswas, Department of Psychology, University of Delhi, inaugurated the summer school. Other invited speakers included Prof. Girishwar Mishra, Former Vice Chancellor, Mahatma Gandhi Antarrashtriya Hindi Vishwavidyalaya, Prof. Jyotsna Kalavar, Professor of Psychology, Georgia Gwinnett College, USA, and Dr. Rashmi Singla, Associate Professor, Department of People and Technology, Roskilde University, Denmark.

Professional Development Program for Non-Teaching Staff A four-day Professional Development Program was organized for the non-teaching staff of LSR between 8 and 11 July 2025, addressing several skills, particularly relevant to staff members working in the administrative section, accounts office, and college library. Psychologist and college counselor Dr. Jaya Mohan facilitated the first session (8 July). The next workshop (9 July) was by Prof. Pooja Anand, Department of Psychology, Daulat Ram College. The objective of the workshop was to develop an understanding of facilitative communication. Participants were encouraged to share their experiences and engage in role-plays to practice healthy communication techniques. On 10 July, Mr. Jai Chanda, Joint Registrar, Information, University of Delhi, addressed the participants on documentation and office procedures. During his lecture, Mr. Chanda talked about proper file numbering, documentation, and maintenance of records as essential components of efficient office management, especially in the context of RTI (Right to Information) cases. The last session of the program (11 July) was facilitated by Dr. Rohan Rai, Joint Registrar, University of Delhi. He focused on the theme of professional ethics and their importance for the effective functioning of an educational institution.

Research in Pre-Service Teacher Education.

The Department of Elementary Education, in collaboration with IQAC, organised a workshop on research methodology titled 'Research in Pre-Service Teacher Education' (5 and 6 August 2025). Several activities were conducted over two days. Prof. Kalyani facilitated a session on the scope and methodological possibilities in research in pre-service teacher preparation. Mr. Varish Dedha conducted a session on digital tools and research ethics. Workshops on Peer Support. The Department of Psychology, in collaboration with IQAC, organised a three-workshop series titled 'Recognise, Regulate and Relate-A Trauma Informed Skill Series for Peer Support'. The workshops were conducted by Ms. Vasundhara and Ms. Vani from the Humraahi Foundation in August-September 2025. Participants learned various skills effective in assisting persons who have experienced trauma. The facilitators conducted various interactive exercises with the participants. Some topics that were addressed included types of trauma, adverse childhood experiences, the nervous system and its response, the window of tolerance, and SIBAM (Sensation, Image, Affect, Behavior, and Meaning). Over 30 students received certificates for successfully completing the workshop series.

Session on Mediation as a Career Skill. IQAC organised a session titled 'Mediation: A Career Skill for the Real World' on 17 September 2025. The speakers for the session were Justice Gita Mittal, former Chief Justice of the Jammu and Kashmir High Court, and Dr. S. Singh, Honorary Professor, National Law University. They discussed the concept and significance of mediation as a way of resolving conflict. The speakers gave several real-life examples of using mediation in their own respective practices. Further, Dr. Singh provided relevant information on pursuing mediation as a profession in India.

A Dialogue on Happiness. IQAC hosted Dr. Satinder Singh Rekhi for a session titled 'Is your monkey brain making you unhappy?' on 14 October 2025. Over 100 students from different disciplines attended the event. The 'monkey brain' is a popular term to describe a restless, unsettled, and easily distracted mind. This mental state involves thoughts constantly swinging from one thing to another, often leading to overthinking and poor focus. The speaker, who is the founder of Rekhi Foundation, USA, addressed the various psychological processes that contribute to unhappiness and how these may be actively combated to alleviate distress. The session was highly interactive and offered the audience a new perspective on fostering positive emotions through practices like meditation, mindfulness, and self-compassion.

Course on Green Teaching for Climate Action. IQAC organised a one-week online certificate course on climate literacy titled 'Green Teaching for Climate Action' (1-6 December 2025) involving more than 90 enthusiastic participants. The course was open to in-service and pre-service teachers, teacher educators, research scholars, and students. The objectives of the course were to enable participants to gain in-depth knowledge of climate change-related issues, promote ESD competencies, and empower them to design transformative pedagogy for affirmative action in their learners. Various speakers were invited, including Prof. Chirashree Ghosh, Department of Environmental Studies, University of Delhi, Prof. Yukti Sharma, Department of Education, University of Delhi, and Prof. Manisha Wadhwa, Department of Education, Aditi Mahavidyalaya.

National Seminar with the Department of Psychology. The Research Circle, Department of Psychology, in collaboration with IQAC, organised a national seminar on Psychological Research. The event took place on 15 January 2026 and offered a country-wide platform for young researchers to present empirical and theoretical work in various areas of psychology. A total of 38 teams (with 1 to 4 participants each) registered for paper presentations, among which 9 were shortlisted to showcase their research. The judges for the event were Dr. Shefali Mishra (Jesus & Mary College) and Dr. Puspita Behera (LSR). The papers presented were on various themes such as social media platforms as sites of misogynistic radicalisation, post-traumatic growth, the lived experience of empty nest syndrome, and linguistic hierarchies. Naja M. and Husna Letheef won the first position at the event. The second position was awarded to Saloni Maheshwari and Raina Jain, while the third position was awarded to Kriti Jalpota.

The Science and Practice of Happiness: Lessons in Flourishing (5 February-12 March 2026). This certificate course, organised in collaboration with the Rekhi Foundation for Happiness, aimed to offer more than 80 participants practical tools that can be used during times of crisis and develop habits helpful in elevating physical and mental well-being. The course drew from the work of well-known theorists, including Martin Seligman and Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi. Over 80 inquisitive individuals come together to discuss the emotion of happiness and identify how one may flourish in life. The course focused on illuminating the empirical basis of happiness and concepts such as mindfulness, grit, resilience, flow, and vitality. It also engaged with contemporary ideas of happiness in career, daily life, and in the digital world.

Actuarial Career Exploration Session: Student Connect. The Departments of Mathematics and Statistics, in collaboration with IQAC, organized a session with Mr. Geet Maurya (FSA, FRM), Indian Staff Actuary at the Society of Actuaries, and Mr. Arindam Mookherjee, Advisor in Research and Sustainability and Consultant with SOA India on 13 March 2026. The speakers introduced students to the Society of Actuaries, its global presence, and the growing demand for actuarial professionals. They discussed the scope of actuarial science, career prospects, and the differences between Life and General Insurance actuarial roles, while outlining the structured ASA and FSA qualification pathways. Other points of discussion included exam logistics in India, global recognition of SOA credentials, and available student discounts. A scholarship package for five participants, including exam fee waivers and study materials, was announced during the session.

Workshop on Innovative Practices and Extension Activities in Women’s Educational Institutions. Delegates from SNTD Arts and Commerce College for Women, Pune, visited LSR on 13 March 2026, for a workshop on innovative practices and extension activities. The Principal, Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja, and the IQAC team welcomed the delegation. Prof. Ahuja led the workshop by presenting the best practices of the college, including a consistent focus on maintaining academic rigour, active student societies, international partnerships, and a strong scholarship program. Representatives of both institutions identified various possibilities of collaboration based on common areas of interest such as gender, community work, and research. The discussions were followed by lunch and a campus tour.

Training program under the Mission Karmayogi. On April 2, 2026, IQAC organized a comprehensive one-day cascading training program under the Mission Karmayogi initiative of the Government of India. The program has been designed to enhance professional competencies and align with the national vision of a future-ready civil service and workforce. The session brought together a dedicated group of 40 participants, fostering an environment of interactive learning and professional growth. The training was led by two eminent experts who brought a wealth of academic and technical expertise to the session: Dr. Nidhi Subash Chandra, Ram Lal Anand College, University of Delhi, and Dr. Sangmesh, JNU.

International Conference on Reimagining India's Development. The Department of Economics, in collaboration with IQAC, organised an international conference titled Reimagining India's Development: Growth, Equity and Sustainability in a Transforming Global Economy on 7 April 2026. The conference addressed a variety of sub-themes, including labour and employment, the future of work, gender, public policy, taxation, the digital economy, international trade, AI, and technology. Paper presentations on the sub-themes were invited from India and abroad. Presenters received comprehensive feedback from the audience and subject experts with the objective of enhancing the quality of research.

New Initiatives

Indian Knowledge System (IKS) at LSR

The Indian Knowledge System represents a holistic, multidisciplinary, and indigenous framework deeply rooted in India's traditions. It has demonstrated remarkable continuity, adaptability, and resilience in the face of global challenges, offering innovative solutions to modern complexities. In alignment with the National Education Policy 2020 and curriculum reforms, this initiative seeks to shape a brighter future guided by ancient wisdom. To lead this effort, the college has appointed Mr. Hari K. Sharma as the Nodal Officer for IKS, along with Ms. Priya Sharma from the Department of Political Science. As one of its first activities, the institution encouraged students to participate in the national-level Bharat Boudh IKS Examination, 2026. Ahead of the exam, Mr. Sharma conducted an interactive session in the college auditorium, where he explained the essence of IKS and the examination pattern. The session proved highly beneficial, with all student queries addressed, and the college ensured that quality study material was made available in the college library. On January 22, 2026, the college successfully hosted the Bharat Boudh IKS Examination on its campus, with enthusiastic student participation. To recognize outstanding performances, the institution has decided to award certificates and cash prizes. The smooth conduct of both the interactive session and the examination has inspired the college to expand its IKS-related academic and co-curricular initiatives. Looking ahead, the institution envisions organizing more workshops, talks, and student-focused programs.

राजभाषा कार्यान्वयन समिति

राजभाषा हिन्दी के गौरव को शैक्षणिक परिसर में प्रतिष्ठित करने के उद्देश्य से लेडी श्रीराम कॉलेज की 'राजभाषा कार्यान्वयन समिति' सदैव सक्रिय रही है। समिति अपने स्थापना उद्देश्यों के अनुरूप महाविद्यालय परिसर में हिन्दी भाषा के प्रयोग को बढ़ावा देने और

इसके आधिकारिक स्वरूप को सुदृढ़ करने के लिए निरंतर प्रयासरत है। इसी दिशा में समिति द्वारा शैक्षणिक सत्र 2025-26 के दौरान दो प्रमुख कार्यक्रमों का सफल आयोजन किया गया। जिनकी संक्षिप्त आख्या कुछ इस प्रकार है

1. विशेष व्याख्यान—राजभाषा हिन्दी और उसकी संभावनाएँ

समिति द्वारा 18 नवंबर, 2025 को कॉलेज के लोअर सेमिनार रूम में एक 'विशेष व्याख्यान' का आयोजन किया गया। इस कार्यक्रम के मुख्य वक्ता पद्मभूषण श्री राम बहादुर राय (अध्यक्ष, इंदिरा गांधी राष्ट्रीय कला केंद्र) थे। अपने व्याख्यान में उन्होंने हिन्दी के ऐतिहासिक विकास, संवैधानिक महत्व एवं प्रशासनिक उपयोगिता पर विस्तार से प्रकाश डाला। उन्होंने यह भी रेखांकित किया कि वैश्वीकरण के इस दौर में हिन्दी न केवल भारत की पहचान है, बल्कि अंतरराष्ट्रीय स्तर पर भी अपनी सशक्त उपस्थिति दर्ज करा रही है। उन्होंने इस बात पर बल दिया कि हिन्दी केवल संवाद की भाषा नहीं, बल्कि हमारी सांस्कृतिक पहचान और प्रगति का सशक्त माध्यम है। कार्यक्रम की अध्यक्षता प्राचार्य प्रो० कनिका आहूजा ने की।

2. हिंदी कार्यशाला—हिन्दी में काम, सबसे आसान प्रशासनिक कार्यों में हिन्दी की दक्षता बढ़ाने के उद्देश्य से 27 मार्च, 2026 को शिक्षकों एवं शिक्षणेत्तर कर्मियों के लिए एक 'हिन्दी कार्यशाला' आयोजित की गई। इस कार्यशाला में मुख्य अतिथि के रूप में श्री राम कॉलेज ऑफ कॉमर्स के प्रो० रवि शर्मा 'मधुप' उपस्थित रहे। उन्होंने "हिन्दी में काम, सबसे आसान" के मंत्र के साथ तकनीकी और व्यावहारिक बारीकियों को साझा किया, जिससे कार्यालय संबंधी कार्यों में हिन्दी के प्रयोग के प्रति उत्साह बढ़ा। उन्होंने अत्यंत सरल, स्पष्ट एवं व्यावहारिक तरीके से कार्यालयी कार्यों, पत्राचार, नोटिंग—ड्राफ्टिंग तथा दैनिक प्रशासनिक गतिविधियों में हिन्दी के प्रभावी उपयोग के उपाय बताए। कार्यशाला का स्वरूप सहभागितापूर्ण रहा, जिसमें प्रतिभागियों ने सक्रिय रूप से भाग लेते हुए अपने अनुभव साझा किए और व्यावहारिक समस्याओं के समाधान प्राप्त किए। इन आयोजनों के माध्यम से महाविद्यालय परिसर में हिन्दी राजभाषा के लिए एक सकारात्मक वातावरण निर्मित हुआ है।

College Library

The LSR library stands as a beacon of intellectual discovery, seamlessly blending a rich heritage of resources with cutting-edge technology to empower the academic community. More than a repository of books, it functions as a dynamic hub that fosters collaboration, innovation, and scholarly excellence. At the heart of its offerings is a fully computerized and meticulously organized data filing system, providing access to an invaluable collection. The library's vast holdings include over 1.51 million books, 7,706 bound journals, 1,462 reprographic materials, and 392 CDs and DVDs. To ensure access to the latest developments across disciplines, the library subscribes to a wide array of national and international journals and a diverse selection of newspapers. Through seamless integration with the University of Delhi Network, the DU-eLibrary, and DELNET (Delhi Library Network), it provides users with a gateway to an extensive repository of texts and research materials.

The library's user experience is underpinned by a meticulously maintained database, managed by a dedicated in-house team. In a pioneering effort to streamline research, the library has undertaken the indexing of articles from its acquired journals. This comprehensive, searchable database, available online and organized using the Library of Congress List of Subject Headings, ensures efficient and precise retrieval of pertinent materials. Committed to proactive support, the library offers a Current Awareness Service via email, keeping users informed about new acquisitions, newly indexed articles, and relevant news alerts. The Online Public Access Catalog (OPAC) facilitates efficient browsing and borrowing, while an automated circulation system adds a layer of user convenience. To ensure absolute reliability, a parallel manual book accession system is maintained alongside the automated processes.

Membership in the DU-eLibrary and DELNET networks further expands the wealth of accessible online resources. The adoption of barcode technology has enabled a thorough stock verification process, rectifying discrepancies and ensuring the integrity of the collection. Reinforcing its commitment to accessibility and innovation, the library has implemented an open-source Integrated Library System (ILS). In a significant step toward enhancing digital accessibility, the introduction of N-computing has revolutionized how users interact with technology. By allowing multiple users to share a single operating system instance, this system fosters both collaboration and efficient resource usage.

Initiatives in 2025-26

In a landmark initiative aimed at strengthening equitable access in higher education, LSR inaugurated a comprehensively upgraded Swavalamban Resource Centre for students with disabilities (PwD) in November 2025. While the Central Library continues to cater to the general student community as well as PwD students through online membership facilities for Divyang students, the primary focus during the academic year has been the technological upgradation of this dedicated support centre. This enhancement re-establishes the Swavalamban Resource Centre as a benchmark for inclusive education among colleges of the University of Delhi. The Library has introduced a new initiative for fourth-year students to support their research work and academic publications. As part of this initiative, facilities for plagiarism detection have been strengthened, and a series of lectures and orientation sessions on research methodology, academic writing, and publication ethics have been conducted. The LSR Library has introduced a dedicated collection on Indian Knowledge Systems (IKS), which was formally inaugurated by the College Principal, Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja. This collection aims to promote interdisciplinary learning and awareness of India's rich intellectual traditions. To further enhance research and learning facilities, the Library has recently installed ten new computers equipped with high-speed internet access, enabling students to efficiently conduct academic research and information retrieval.

The library is not only a center for resources but also a space for engagement. Regular book exhibitions and webinars foster intellectual discourse and a vibrant learning culture. The dedicated library staff is central to this mission, prioritizing student satisfaction by swiftly responding to requests for books, e-journals, and other materials. Comprehensive orientation programs equip users with the skills to maximize the library's resources, thereby enhancing their academic and professional growth. To remain at the forefront of the rapidly evolving field of information and communication technology (ICT), the library staff undergoes continuous training. This commitment ensures they are well-equipped to assist students in navigating digital resources effectively, underscoring the institution's dedication to both professional development and staff motivation. In summary, the college library stands as a testament to the institution's vision—a dynamic, forward-thinking center that masterfully integrates technology, innovation, and a user-centric approach to empower its community and drive academic success.

Academic Activities

Department of Commerce

The Department of Commerce at LSR marked the academic year 2025–26 with an exceptional roster of events that seamlessly bridged academia, industry and innovation.

Lectures and Talks

The department organised an inspiring speaker session with Ms. Archana Garodia Gupta, entrepreneur and LSR alumna, titled ‘Ideas. Impact. Influence’ (2 April 2026), offering students invaluable insights into entrepreneurship, leadership and the evolving landscape of business in India, sparking thoughtful dialogue on the role of women in commerce and industry. Mr. Jitender Kaushik, SEBI Empowered Trainer, was invited to conduct a ‘Financial Literacy Workshop’ (10 February 2026), where he acquainted students with various securities for investment, electronic securities and the fundamentals of risk and return, witnessing an engaged audience of 140+ attendees. The department also hosted a series of workshops featuring alumni of the college to kickstart its students’ preparation for the internship and placement season.

Academic Conference

The flagship event of the academic year was Comquest ‘25–26, the department’s Annual Academic Meet, titled ‘Synergia: The Power of Coming Together’ (25–26 September 2025). The fest featured 10+ flagship events and recorded an impressive footfall of over 1,500 participants, with 2,000+ registrations from colleges across the country, reflecting its wide reach and popularity. Our events witnessed enthusiastic participation, with 300+ registrations, 180+ presentations and a consistently high number of attendees from diverse institutions nationwide. The fest’s prestigious Panel Discussion brought together distinguished voices of industry leaders and change-makers, including Rajat Arora (YouTube educator), Anshita Mehrotra (CEO and Founder, Fix My Curls), Shatakshi Sharma (Founder, Global Governance Initiative), Shubhashis Nath (CEO, GRMI) and Smita Premchander (Secretary, Sampark NGO) who engaged students in candid conversations on ambition, resilience and modern careers (25 September 2025). Parag Gupta and Sunil Panda (YouTube educators) further enriched the experience by addressing students in a session titled ‘Candid Conversation on Modern Careers and Ambition’ (26 September 2025). The Academic Meet also hosted competitions across finance, marketing, sustainability and entrepreneurship, challenging students to apply their learning in high-stakes, real-world scenarios. Events included ReBrand India (550+ registrations) Ctrl+Alt+PR (300+ registrations), Metropolis (400+ registrations), Case and Capital (1,000+ registrations) and Shark Tank: Pitching Wars, each judged by senior industry professionals. Comquest ‘25–26 concluded with a memorable closing ceremony that encapsulated the spirit of Synergia, celebrating the collective efforts of the organising team and participants. The ceremony also recognised and felicitated the winners across events, bringing the fest to a fitting close with a sense of achievement, gratitude and shared success.

Other Association Highlights

The academic year was marked by a rich calendar of skill-building workshops, hands-on learning sessions and culturally vibrant departmental celebrations that fostered community and belonging. The department undertook an industrial visit to Udaipur (20-24 February, 2026), with over 70 participants, offering students firsthand exposure to business and craft ecosystems beyond the classroom, an experience that proved both educationally enriching and personally memorable. The department also takes immense pride in the achievements of its students, many of whom secured prestigious placements and internship offers with leading organisations this year, a reflection of both their dedication and the holistic learning environment the department strives to nurture.

Department Publications

The academic year 2025–26 saw the department enrich its intellectual culture through two significant publications. Wissen, the department’s newsletter, served as a vibrant platform for student voices, capturing the spirit of departmental life and current affairs in commerce. Comcorde, the department’s annual magazine, was released as a celebration of the collective creativity, academic rigour and personal growth of its students and faculty. Together, these publications reflect the department’s commitment to nurturing not just professionals, but thoughtful, well-rounded individuals.

Department of Economics

Lectures and Talks

The Department of Economics organised enriching academic sessions throughout 2025–26. The Dr. Saroj Gupta Memorial Scholarship Programme (11 September 2025) featured a lecture by Dr. Niti Bhutani on Law and Economics. On 11 February 2026, Dr. Surjit Bhalla, Former Executive Director for India at IMF and Former Member of the Economic Advisory Council to the PM, delivered a session on the Viksit Bharat 2047 vision. A Union Budget Analysis Session (6 February 2026), by Ms. Shubhi Singh, enabled students to engage with contemporary fiscal priorities. Ms. Inoshi Sharma, IRS Officer, delivered a talk on “Role of Income Tax in Nation Building” on 19 March 2026.

Academic Conference

EconVista, the Department’s flagship annual conference, held on 14–15 October 2025, featured 10 offline competitions and drew over 10,000 registrations from students across India, with 200 participants invited on campus after rigorous selection. Themed “The Economics of Inclusion: Gender Equity and Technology as Drivers of India’s Development,” it was inaugurated with a keynote address by Ms. Mandakini Kaul, Regional Coordinator (South Asia), World Bank. The panel featured Dr. Lekha S. Chakraborty (Professor, NIPFP), Dr. S. P. Sharma (Chief Economist, NNRC), Ms. Mugdha Sinha, IAS (Managing Director, ITDC), Mr. Dipinder Sekhon (Founder, IKITES) and Ms. Supriya Malik (Deputy Director, Ministry of Finance), who collectively addressed policy, innovation and inclusive development.

The Department hosted a landmark International Conference on “Reimagining India’s Development: Growth, Equity and Sustainability in a Transforming Global Economy” on 7 April 2026. The conference opened with an address by Dr. Angela Lusigi, Resident Representative, UNDP and concluded with a keynote by Dr. Indermit Gill, Chief Economist, World Bank. Of over 400 submissions received from across India and abroad, including Kerala, Punjab, Bangladesh among others. 225 researchers across undergraduate, postgraduate and doctoral levels, presented across eight parallel paper and poster presentation sessions spanning diverse themes, chaired by eminent faculty from institutions including the Delhi School of Economics and Jawaharlal Nehru University. The conference was marked by vibrant intellectual exchange and rigorous academic engagement.

Shri Ram College for Women) and Prof. Shireesh Pal Singh (Programme Coordinator, CIET-NCERT). The FDP featured expert-led sessions focusing on digital platforms such as DIKSHA, SWAYAM and PM e-Vidya, along with hands-on exposure to AI-assisted tools, AR/VR applications and platforms like Canva, Mentimeter and Nearpod. The sessions addressed themes including technology-integrated pedagogy, digital assessment, e-content development and the 5R framework for Open Educational Resources (OERs), aligning with NEP 2020 and NCF 2023. The programme enriched participants' understanding of integrating emerging technologies into classroom practices.

Other Association Highlights

The Department's student clubs contributed actively to academic life. The Finance, Investment and Crisis Understanding (FISCUL) Cell organised Monopoly Mania 3.0 and FISCUL Week 2026 featuring an IRS officer session, a case competition and an academic visit to the DSE Policy Conclave. The Opportunities Cell hosted Sawaal Jawaab 4.0 and conducted regular UPSC-focused quizzes. The Mentored Research Forum held sessions on Research Methodology and Python and published articles on its blog, Marginally Interesting. The EconWhiz Club (TEC) undertook Silaa se Badlaav, a research project with Singer India, alongside Brown Bag Sessions.

Department Publications

Ecollectual, the Department's monthly newsletter, released five editions during its 2025–26 tenure. The issues featured articles by students and guest authors, along with newly introduced sections for media recommendations and policy suggestions. The Editorial Board released the much-anticipated 22nd volume of Ecolloquial, featuring research papers and articles across a diverse range of topics. It also co-organised the Saroj Gupta Paper Presentation Competition in collaboration with the Mentored Research Forum.

Academic Seminar

The department organized a Seminar, SEHAR 2026, on 6 April 2026, themed 'Integrating Indian Knowledge Systems (IKS) in School Education'. The event featured keynote addresses by Prof. Sarika Sharma (Professor, Jamia Millia Islamia), who discussed the foundational concepts of Vidya, Pragya and Satya along with Indian knowledge traditions and Prof. Rajni Ranjan Singh

Department of Elementary Education

Lectures and Talks

The Department of Elementary Education organized a significant academic engagement through the Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on ICT and Emerging Technologies, held on 22nd January 2026 in collaboration with CIET-NCERT. The programme was inaugurated by Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja (Principal, Lady

Academic Activities

(Academic Expert in Education and Philosophy), who highlighted inclusive pedagogy through Gyanyog, Karmayog, Aatmayog and Sahayog, drawing from Aurobindo's philosophy. The seminar included competitions such as Poster Making, Quiz and Debate. A key highlight was the student-led theatrical production अंतर्द्वंद से स्वयं की ओर,' reflecting philosophical themes through performance. The event concluded with cultural performances and a valedictory ceremony.

Other Events

A workshop on 'Immersive Pathways to Mental Health and Resilience for Future Teachers,' conducted on 19 February 2026, was facilitated by Ms. Vasundhara Gupta (Psychotherapist, Humraahi Psychotherapy) and Ms. Vani Bhardwaj (Mental Health Professional, Humraahi Psychotherapy). The Alumnae Meet held on 6 October 2025 featured speakers including Dr. Jyoti (Educationist), Ms. Nisha (Assistant Professor and Ph.D. Scholar), Ms. Aabha (ECCE Professional) and Ms. Apoorva (Storyteller).

The session provided insights into higher education, career opportunities and professional growth.

Other Association Highlights

The academic year began with the Fresher's Orientation Programme on 2 August 2025, introducing students to course structure, faculty and campus life through interactive activities and a campus tour.

This was followed by the Freshers' Event 'Bollywood Junction' on 27 August 2025, which included a ramp walk, dance performances, competitions and a DJ session, fostering peer bonding and a sense of belonging among students.

Teacher's Day was celebrated on 9 September 2025, with student-led performances and a special alumni video message expressing gratitude towards faculty. These events collectively contributed to building a vibrant, inclusive and engaging academic environment.

Department Publication

The department's annual publication, SEHAR, serves as a reflective and creative documentation of the academic and co-curricular journey of the year. The 2025-26 edition of SEHAR was curated around the theme 'Integrating Indian Knowledge Systems in School Education'. The newsletter brings together a comprehensive account of departmental events, student achievements and academic engagements conducted throughout the year. It also provides a platform for students' creative expressions, including articles, reflections, artwork and literary contributions, allowing them to articulate their perspectives and experiences. Through its diverse content, SEHAR not only captures the intellectual and cultural vibrancy of the department but also encourages critical thinking, creativity and a deeper engagement with the theme.

Department of English

The English department steadfastly pursued its commitment to rigorous academic engagement, literary inquiry and interdisciplinary dialogue by cultivating a vibrant intellectual ecosystem bridging theoretical discourse and contemporary cultural praxis.

Lectures and Talks

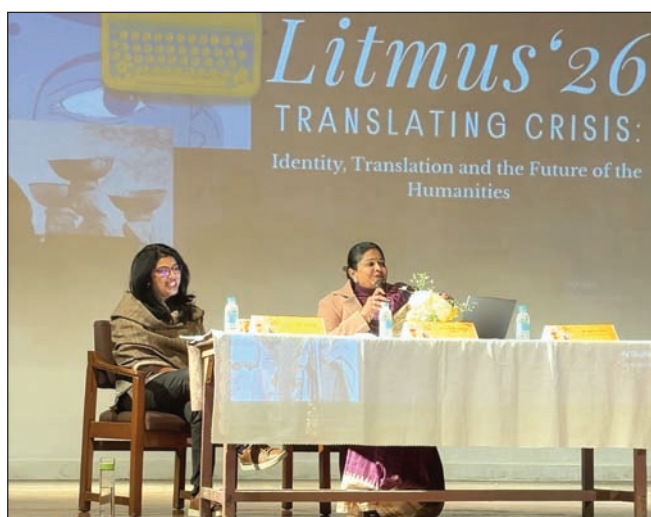

The annual lecture series served as a cornerstone for intellectual exchange, featuring three principal sessions designed to expand students' scholarly horizons. The series commenced on 30 September 2025, marking World Translation Day with a session featuring Prof.

Academic Activities

Lalit Kumar. His exposition framed translation not merely as a linguistic transfer but as a profoundly literary and cultural act. It was beautifully complemented by a performance of Indian folk songs alongside an interactive language game. On 30 November 2025, in collaboration with Taabeer, Ms. Ria Chopra directed an incisive session on the intersection of youth and digital media, fostering a critical dialogue regarding the rapid evolution and impact of digital cultures on modern identity. Concluding the series on 24 March 2026, Ms. Priyanka Sarkar delivered a lecture charting current trends within the publishing industry with emphasis on the expanding role of translation in shaping global literary markets.

Academic Conference

The cynosure of the academic calendar was undoubtedly the Annual Academic Conference, Litmus '26 (29-30 January 2026). Anchored by the theme, 'Translating crisis: Identity, translation and the future of Humanities', the international conference provided a robust platform for examining the intersections of language, survival and academic futurity. It was inaugurated with stirring keynote addresses delivered by Prof. Sukrita Paul Kumar and Prof. Rita Kothari.

The two-day event facilitated a synthesis of academic rigor and industry insight, with discussions ranging across translation, publishing paradigms, digital humanities, ecological literary studies and identity. Scholarly panels featured luminaries, including Prof. Arunava Sinha, Prof B. Mangalam, Prof. Rukmini Bhaya Nair, Dr. Vinayak Das Gupta, Dr. Sumana Roy, Dr. Ragini Kapoor, Prof. Veio Pou, Dr. Swatie and Dr.

Mohini Gupta. Perspectives from the vanguard of publishing were shared by industry voices such as Ms. Trisha Niyogi, Ms. Aditi Maheshwari and Ms. Shehnab Sahib. Litmus '26 was defined by vigorous student participation. Undergraduates and postgraduates from across the country presented academic papers and research posters. Students engaged in a dynamic turncoat debate, explored literary expression through blackout poetry and participated in photo walks to Purana Qila in collaboration with Potoroom. The evocative exhibition 'Pain to paper', curated by Taabeer and Hive, served as a striking visual testament to the conference's themes.

Association Highlights

Student associations were instrumental in bridging the gap between classroom pedagogy and experiential learning.

Academic Activities

Taabeer. Taabeer cultivated historical and generational awareness through an immersive heritage walk to the National Crafts Museum with the History department (6th of September, 2025) and a reading circle focused on dystopian graphic novels, organized jointly with The Proletariat.

Department Publications

Jabberwock. Jabberwock maintained a dynamic itinerary throughout the year, balancing academic skill-building with cultural enrichment. Incoming students were welcomed with an orientation and a screening of the cinematic adaptation of 1984 (25 August 2025), while later in the year, the association hosted a compelling screening of the documentary Occupation 101 (20 November 2025). In association with the Elocution society, Jabberwock organized a session on photographic narratives by Ms. Dilpreet Bhallar, moderated by Dr. Shashi Bhushan (25 September 2025). Further, the association conducted workshops on navigating JSTOR, the mechanics of research writing and editorial practices, spearheaded by Ms. Sana Jain.

The department's robust editorial output continues to provide a vital platform for academic and creative student voices. Jabberwock Online released three issues, Palimpsest, Drôle de ménage and Translating crisis: An interrogation into language, with each volume navigating complex thematic terrains. The flagship annual print journal, Jabberwock Academic, was released in April 2026 and showcases the finest critical inquiries produced by the student body this year.

Department of Hindi

The Department of Hindi organised an array of interesting and informative events throughout the year.

Lectures and Talks

The department commemorated the Vishva Hindi Diwas on 12 January 2026, marking the anniversary of the first World Hindi Conference inaugurated on January 10, 1975, in Nagpur, India. Writer and academic Ms. Archana Painuly was invited on this occasion to deliver a lecture on 'Hindi bhasha aur pravasi lekhan.' Pravasi lekhan refers to literature written by individuals who are living outside their home country—in this context, referring to Indian authors living abroad, often called Diaspora literature. Ms Painuly's talk focused on the global presence of Hindi and its diasporic literary traditions. On 6 April 2026, the department hosted Dr. Madhu Grover (Retired Professor, Department of English, LSR) and Dr. Bindu Agrawal (Senior Academician and Writer) during the Dr. Bindu Agrawal Scholarship Samaroh. The session, titled 'The art of research and the ability to notice', emphasized that research is a creative and interpretative process. The speakers highlighted that different readers bring different perspectives, leading to varied interpretations of the same text. Meaningful research depends on careful observation, critical thinking and the ability to read beyond the obvious. The quality of research is shaped not just by what we read, but how we read. The speakers were joined by Prof. Meenakshi Bharat, Retired Professor, Department of English, Sri Venkateshwara College, who spoke about the translation of Bindu Agrawal's memoirs, offering valuable literary insights to the audience. During this event, three students of the department- Anjali (3rd year), Sonali and Mohini (2nd year) were awarded prestigious scholarships in recognition of their academic excellence.

Academic Conference

The Department's annual Conference, Vagarth (12 November 2025), offered a dynamic platform for literary and intellectual exchange and was based on the theme- 'The need for literature.' The conference included an interaction with distinguished speakers, Prof. Rameshwar Rai (Retired Professor of Hindi Literature, Hindu College) and Prof. Jasbir Tyagi (Literary critic and academic), whose insightful deliberations fostered scholarly discussion and deeper engagement with contemporary literary discourse. Several student competitions took place during Vagarth, including 'Swarachit kavita path' (self-composed poetry recitation), 'Laghu katha lekhan' (short story writing) and 'Pustak samiksha' (book review presentation), encouraging both creativity and critical engagement among students. Over 100 students registered for these competitions. The paper presentation event was titled Pustak Samiksha, which was followed by a discussion among faculty and students.

Other Association Highlights

The Department actively participated in Environment Week. The students of the department created a board on the theme 'Nature: The root of culture.' The celebration of Hindi Diwas (14 September 2025) through 'Swarachit kavita sandhya' was a significant highlight of the session, providing students with a space to present their original compositions. A screening of the documentary called 'The community that jails its women on period' was held on 9 April 2026. It enabled students to engage with gender based socio-cultural themes through visual media, enhancing their analytical perspectives. Further, several student-led literary interactions contributed to a vibrant and intellectually stimulating academic culture of the department throughout the year.

Department Publications

The students' creative work was regularly displayed on the Hindi Department notice board throughout the year. Their writings were also published in the Department's publication Doorva and the Annual College Magazine. This year, Doorva was made more creative than previous editions, incorporating not only literary pieces but also artwork, interviews, personal experiences and film reviews, making it a more engaging and diverse platform for student expression.

Department of History

Lectures and Talks

The academic year 2025-26 began with the Departmental Orientation on 2 August 2025, which introduced the incoming cohort to the department's academic ethos. This was followed by the CV Building session on 23 August 2025, conducted by Ms. Vidhi Singh, alumna of the department. The month concluded with The LSR Heritage Walk on 29 August 2025, offering freshers an immersive introduction to Delhi's cultural landscape.

September saw a surge of academic engagement. On 19 September 2025, Dr. Pankaj Jha, Associate Professor, Department of History, LSR, delivered 'The Historian's Craft', a workshop that familiarised students with methods of historical inquiry. The month also featured Career Crossroads: Cracking CUET PG in History on 21 September 2025 by alumna Shivani Jamloki. A Reading Circle on 24 September 2025 focused on Habermas's Structural Transformation of the Public Sphere and encouraged deeper theoretical discussions.

The Editorial Board of Ijtihad organised an academically rich workshop, 'Is Kinship a Male Institution?', on 30 October 2025. It featured Prof. Smita Sehgal, Professor of History, LSR and Dr. Shatrupa Bhattacharyya, Assistant Professor, Department of History, LSR.

February began with 'Reading Primary Sources from Medieval India' on 5 February, 2025, delivered by Prof. Amita Paliwal, Professor, Department of History, University of Delhi, under the Editorial Board of Ijtihad. The department launched its podcast series on 11 February, 2025 with 'Unpacking Careers in Teaching and Academia', featuring Prof. Asmita Jataria, Professor, Department of History, LSR. This was followed by 'Career Crossroads' on 22 February, led by department alumna Ms. Yogita Jagetia. February concluded with a lecture on 'Performative Masculinities in Regional Courts of North India between the Sixteenth and Eighteenth Centuries' on 25 February, 2025 delivered by Dr. Vijayant Kumar Singh, Assistant Professor of History, Dyal Singh College (Evening), University of Delhi.

A collaborative session with the Department of Sociology hosted Dr. Twinkle Siwach, Assistant Professor, Department of Sociology, LSR, who delivered a talk titled 'Sati and the Debate over Tradition' on 25 March 2026. The month concluded with a lecture by Prof. Upinder Singh, Professor of History, Ashoka

University and former Head of the Department of History, University of Delhi, titled 'Asian Encounters: Exploring Connected Histories' on 27 March 2026.

April included a guest lecture by Dr. Tarana Hussain Khan on culinary traditions, organised by the editorial board of Ijtihad on 6 April 2026. The month also featured the National Seminar on 'Trends in Social Sciences Research' (9 April 2026), where Dr. Kajari Kamal, Dr. Sanjukta Datta and Dr. Radhika Chadha offered insights into emerging methodological and thematic directions within contemporary social science research, with a total of 57 individual registrations.

Academic Conference

The department's annual academic conference, Maazi-o-Mustaqbil, held in November, remained the highlight of the year. Pre-fest events explored themes such as decolonisation, memory, ecology and textual interpretation. The series included a lecture on Jinnology on 1 November 2025 by Dr. Anand Vivek Taneja, Associate Professor of Anthropology, Vanderbilt University. This was followed by a Reading Circle on Fanon on 4 November 2025, heritage walks including the Photowalk to Tughlaqabad Fort on 2 November 2025 and the Red Fort Walk on 7 November 2025 led by historian Dr. Amar Farooqui, Professor of History, University of Delhi and heritage expert Mr. Sohail Hashmi, along with creative activities such as origami-making, games and a musical collaboration with Dhvani.

The fest itself brought an impressive line-up of talks on the Israel-Palestine conflict, reinterpretations of the 1857 Revolt, Mughal environmental history and colonial knowledge systems. The fest also featured the Maazi Paper Presentation Competition (PPC), which received 10 registrations. A dynamic closing ceremony featured performances, quizzes, interdisciplinary collaborations and student exhibitions.

Other Association Highlights

Throughout the year, the department organised a range of community-building activities that enriched academic engagement. The Editorial Board screened 'All That Breathes', a film directed by Shaunak Sen. These initiatives were complemented by heritage walks, including the Hauz Khas Heritage Walk with Elocution on 18 January 2026, the Kamla Nehru Ridge Heritage Walk led by Dr. Justin Mathew and Dr. Shashi Bhushan Gupta on 15 February 2026 and the Mehrauli Archaeological Park Walk led by Ms. Samyukta Ninan on 15 March 2026 all of which strengthened experiential learning.

Department Publications

The Editorial Board published regular bi-monthly blogs throughout the year and Nazariya, the official Newsletter of the Department of History. Ijtihad, the annual academic journal of the department, continued to serve as a platform for student research, featuring articles across diverse historical subfields.

Department of Journalism

Lectures and Talks

The academic year commenced with an orientation session featuring Ms. Nidhi Razdan (2 August, 2025), senior journalist, as the Chief Guest. Her address provided students with valuable insights into the evolving media landscape and the responsibilities of contemporary journalism.

Academic Conference

The department's annual academic conference, Juxtapose (19 November 2025), served as a vibrant platform for academic engagement and creative expression. A key highlight of the conference was the panel discussion on 'The fifth estate', which brought together distinguished experts from the fields of media and public relations. The panel featured Dr. Samir Kapur, Senior Director at Adfactors PR Mr. Rajeev Kumar Shukla, Deputy Director General at All India Radio and Dr. Anubhuti Yadav, Head, New Media, IIMC. The discussion enabled students to critically examine the role of emerging media in shaping public discourse. Juxtapose featured competitions like the Binge battle quiz, Brand revival case and Media crisis MUN, along with online contests in caricature making, photography, filmmaking and logo and tagline creation, fostering both analytical and creative engagement. The annual publication team, Counter Talk, held a paper presentation on 'Mediated realities: How media shapes the public sphere', allowing students to explore how media moulds public understanding and share their perspectives on representation, identity and narrative-making.

Other Association Highlights

The department organised two photo-walks aimed at strengthening visual storytelling and field-based learning. The first was conducted at Humayun's Tomb in October 2025, followed by the second walk at Purana Qila in February 2026. These photo-walks provided students with hands-on experience in photography while engaging with historical spaces. In the lead-up to Juxtapose, a series of pre-events were organised, including Paint board and Media carnival. Among these,

'Gokuldham got juxitified' stood out as a creative and interactive initiative that witnessed enthusiastic participation. The department collaborated with the LSR Queer Collective to organise an investigative treasure hunt based on the Zelim Bakaev case (6 February 2026). The event encouraged participants to engage critically with themes of identity, media narratives and investigative storytelling through an interactive format.

A workshop was organised on photo editing software (7 November 2025), focusing on practical training in tools like Adobe Photoshop and Adobe InDesign. The session was conducted by Mr. Arun Joshi, an experienced professional in printing and design and provided students with hands-on exposure to digital editing, layout techniques and visual storytelling. The workshop helped bridge the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical application in media production.

Department Publications

The Department unveiled the theme for its upcoming annual media conclave, CounterTalk 2026, titled

'Mediated realities: How media shapes the public sphere.' The theme seeks to explore how media constructs and influences public perception, encouraging informed dialogue on the relationship between media, truth and society.

Department of Mathematics

Lectures and Talks

The Department of Mathematics invited various guests and alumni to deliver lectures and talks that foster academic rigour.

On 20 January 2026, in collaboration with the Students' Union, LSR, we hosted Mr Nachiket Mor for a session titled 'Beyond Access: Reimagining Inclusivity' with 50 attendees. Drawing on his extensive experience in finance and healthcare, Mr Mor reflected on ground realities while emphasising the urgent need to restructure and reform existing systems.

On 30 January 2026, we hosted Professor Kiran R. Bhutani, Professor & Chair, Department of Mathematics, The Catholic University of America, for a session titled 'Domination Related Graph Parameters and Their Application,' attended by 50 students. The session introduced graph theory through real-world contexts, including mapping landmarks to vertices and edges before advancing to domination parameters, their significance and broad interdisciplinary applications beyond mathematics.

Academic Activities

On 13 March 2026, in collaboration with the Department of Statistics, we hosted Mr Geet Maurya, Indian Staff Actuary and Mr Arindam Mookherjee, Advisor and Consultant, SOA, for a session titled 'Actuarial Career Exploration.' It explored the reasons behind choosing actuarial science, key role distinctions and the SOA pathway, outlining its structured phases, attended by 40 students across Economics, English, BAP and Statistics.

We organised a series of online sessions featuring accomplished alumni, offering students practical insights into careers and future prospects. On 24 August 2025 a session took place with Ms Mansi Kandwal on 'Cracking the Code to On-Campus Placements'. Similarly, on 5 October 2025, Ms Yashi Garg took a session on Navigating CVs and Technical Interviews'. On 12 October 2025, Ms Nishtha Kamra enlightened students about 'Cybersmartness and AI in the Corporate World'. A session was held on 9 January 2026 with Ms Aadhya Dhar titled 'LSE Summer School Walkthrough'. An interesting session was held on 1 March 2026 with Ms Divya Kesarwani titled 'Cracking the CUET PG Exams'

These sessions enabled students to gain first-hand guidance and make more informed decisions about their careers and academic paths.

Academic Conference

Enigma, the annual academic conference of the Mathematics Department, was held on 13 November 2025 under the theme 'STEMinism.' It opened with an inaugural ceremony featuring a skit, followed by a keynote address by Professor Aparna Mehra (Department of Mathematics, IIT Delhi) on 'Connecting Linear Algebra in Statistical Learning.' The session bridged theory and practice, illustrating how matrices are basis of large datasets, enable pixel-based video formation and facilitate efficient data transmission through diagonalisation, attended by 120+ students.

Our panel discussion on 'The Math Behind Markets: Modelling Economics and Finance,' featuring Professor Rudrani Bhattacharya (Associate Professor, NIPFP), Dr Tarunika Jain Agrawal (Assistant Professor, FMS) and Dr Surabhi Gupta (Assistant Professor, Department of Economics, LSR). The discussion explored how core mathematical principles shape financial markets and influence macro-level outcomes, highlighting their interdisciplinary relevance across AI, game theory and the stock market, met with 120 attendees.

Additionally, Sherlocked and Mathscape, our legacy games, received 306 and 225 registrations, respectively, from students across institutions, with 20 teams shortlisted for on-campus rounds, ending with a closing ceremony where winners were felicitated.

Association Highlights

Gurutsav 2025, held on 12 September 2025, in honour of Teachers' Day, commenced with a welcome for the faculty, followed by games, performances and tributes.

On 19 February 2026, we organised the 32nd Anupama Dua Paper Presentation and Scholarship Programme in memory of alumna Anupama Dua. The event featured 11 student paper presentations by 20+ participants with 114 attendees, followed by the felicitation of scholars.

We celebrated Pi Day on 12 March 2026, with a quiz centred around π and a team-based puzzle.

Department Publication

Quantum, our annual newsletter, serves as a platform for students to engage with and reflect on departmental activities, documenting key events, initiatives and achievements while providing space for student expression.

Department of Philosophy

Lectures and Talks

The Department of Philosophy hosted interactions with many eminent scholars and public intellectuals initiating discussions on a range of concerns both academic and beyond curricular constraints. A 'Dialogue on Ecofeminism: Indian Perspective' held on the 25 September 2025 (in collaboration with Prakriti Society) with Dr. Sujata Roy Abhijat from the Department of Philosophy at the University of Delhi explored the fecund intersections of gender, ecology and philosophy, introducing students to critical examination of environmental issues through a feminist lens. A workshop on Research Methodology led by Dr. Silika Mohapatra from the Department of Philosophy at St. Stephens College held on the 20 November 2025 addressed the challenges, possibilities and methodologies pertinent to undertaking research in philosophy.

Dr. Simon Brown from Ashoka University led an engaging conversation on the 'Business Of Doubt' on the 23 January 2026 interrogating unquestioning conformity to epistemic norms defining research and development milestones in areas that impact the way we negotiate life choices from the seemingly innocuous to the overtly impactful. The extrapolation of text book abstractions into the realm of current global concerns allowed for a lively discussion.

Academic Conference

The Annual Academic Conference, Aletheia'26, was held on 16 February 2026 foregrounding the theme: 'Epistemic Crisis and the Future of Philosophy.' A day marked by rigorous intellectual engagement commenced with Dr. Eric Snyder's presentation on 'Bridging Minds and Words: New Perspectives on the Problems of Access' which made an accessible introduction to an intriguing problem in the domain of analytic philosophy. Mr. Gurcharan Das, celebrated industry leader, author, playwright and columnist addressed a rapt audience on the expansive and pressing 'Why Bother? Finding Purpose in a Meaningless World' in a conversational narrative involving personal anecdotes and rich philosophical allusions.

The paper presentation competition in collaboration with the academic journal 'Noesis' of the Department drew encouraging response from various academic institutions across Delhi, of which seven papers which aligned closely with the overarching theme for the academic meet were shortlisted for presentation. An

Inter-College Debate Competition was organized, featuring nine teams from institutions across Delhi, who engaged matched wits and words on the motion: ‘Outsourcing thinking to technology marks the beginning of an epistemic decline.’

Other association highlights

The Department organized two film screenings: ‘Mimi’ directed by Laxman Utekar (28 August 2025), which engages with the powerful dilemmas of surrogate motherhood and Satyajit Ray’s ‘Two’ (3 October 2025), affording reflection on class and inequality. Each screening was followed by discussions that encouraged critical interpretation of the narratives.

A group discussion ‘Reel Words, Timeless Tales’ was organized the Books and Documentary Club on the 8th of November 2025, drawing on philosophical ideas of narrative, identity and memory to explore how stories shape our understanding of the self. A workshop on “How to Frame Questions for Research” was also conducted by Noesis, the department’s academic journal, on the 14 November 2025.

Department Publications

The department’s annual academic journal, Noesis, is now in its twelfth volume. The journal remains a platform for students to engage with philosophical questions, conduct research and present their work in a scholarly and dialogue-rich environment. By maintaining an open theme, Noesis encourages interdisciplinary contributions, fostering dynamic academic discussions that connect Philosophy with other fields.

Department of Political Science

Lectures and Talks

The Department of Political Science conducted a series of discussions and workshops during 2025–26, beginning with an inaugural session (25 September, 2025) featuring Dr. Gurpreet Mahajan which highlighted the importance of social sciences in a globalized world. Over the course of the academic year, the department organised a series of engaging discussions. The session titled ‘The Gendered State and the Green Revolution: Reimagining India’s Agrarian Policy’ featuring Priyambada Jayakumar, examined agrarian policy through a gendered lens. The department also organised interactive discussions on evolving international dynamics, including a panel (13 November 2025) with Dr. Chintamani Mahapatra and Dr. Arvind Kumar on India–United States relations. Another intellectually enriching session focused on Indian Knowledge Systems: Prospects and Challenges (25 September 2025). Featuring Dr. Pushkar Mishra and Dr. Reela Hota, the panel reflected on knowledge traditions from Vedic philosophy to performative practices.

The department also organised learning sessions. A session on Women’s Sexual and Reproductive Health, conducted in collaboration with Haiyaa NSS (20 November 2025) created an open and inclusive space. Led by Ms. Aarti Shukla, the workshop addressed the stigma around sexuality education in India. Similarly, a workshop on Indian Constitutional History (28 August 2025) highlighted the importance of historical context in understanding the Constitution’s evolution. The department explored politics and culture through a session on Ambedkarite Art (29 October 2025), highlighting how visual culture shapes political consciousness. A new student-led initiative, Dialectica, created an inclusive space for student-faculty roundtable discussions on the soft power in international relations, socially constructed self and AI.

Academic Conference

The Department of Political Science hosted its annual International conference, Polpourri 2026 (18-19 February 2026), on the theme ‘Worlds in Transition: The Expanding Horizons of International Relations.’ In the lead-up, a Pre-Polpourri session (16 February 2026), in collaboration with the Irish Embassy, featured Jack Chambers, Cabinet Minister in the Government of Ireland and Kevin Kelly, Ambassador of Ireland to India, exploring India–Ireland relations while strengthening institutional ties. The department also hosted Cynthia Enloe as a distinguished speaker, widely acclaimed for her work on gender and international politics.

The inaugural panel of Polpourri 2026 on ‘India’s Future Trajectory’, moderated by Dr. Rina Kashyap and featuring C. Raja Mohan, Suhasini Haidar and Happymon Jacob, set the tone with a multidimensional view of security and addressing shifting global dynamics. Other key sessions included Women in Diplomacy with former Ambassador Veena Sikri on gendered barriers, a discussion on Astropolitics and an Indo-Pacific panel. A national-level paper presentation competition MANTIQA and the Niti-Netritva policy case competition, along with a zine-making workshop with Delhi Zine, were also the highlights of Polpourri.

Publications

The Proletariat is the annual newsletter publication of the department of political science which incorporates themed articles and creative write-ups. The newsletter sets the theme on the basis of yearly developments in the country and around the globe.

This year's theme is ‘Ghare Baire: On Home and The World’ which engages with home, migration and belongingness.

The theme for Sabab, the annual academic journal this year, was ‘The World between Stillness and Sublimation,’ which focused on how the international order is marked, in popular imagination, by a ‘fragility’ of sorts, counterbalanced by a delicate, relative ‘peace’. Sabab also organized a critical essay submission this year, taking total submissions to the journal this year to 10.

Department of Psychology

The psychology department curated a range of events, fostering academic engagement, career exploration and mental health awareness among the student community.

Lectures and Talks

Several lectures were organised on psychologically relevant themes. Psychotherapist, Ms. Roopali Das, was invited to speak on 'Counselling from a Consciousness Perspective' (17 September 2025). College counsellor, Dr. Jaya Mohan, addressed the students in a session titled 'Suicide and Self-Harm Prevention' (18 September 2025). The Books, Documentary and Media club invited Dr. Wafa Hamid to speak on 'Unruly bodies, female malady and literary resistance' (25 September 2025). Several eminent speakers visited LSR during the Mental Health Awareness Week (MHAW, 12–17 October 2025), based on the theme of 'Access to Services: Mental Health in Catastrophes and Emergencies.' The experts included Prof. Renu Addlakha, Prof. Poonam Batra, Prof. Namita Ranganathan and CBT practitioner, Dr. Nimisha Kumar, who underscored the importance of accessible mental health services in times of crisis. The Peer Support Program team organised a session on 'Society, Stress and You' with psychiatrist, Dr Arnab Bhattacharya (8 November). Some other talks organised were 'Writing the self: Reflections on Autoethnography' (Dr. Khyati Tripathi, 30 October 2025) 'Invisibility and visibility in disability' (Dr. Saili Kulkarni, 16 January 2026),

'Inclusion as a lived experience' (Senior Vice-President, Sustainability & ESG, Lemon Tree Hotels, Aradhana Lal, 19 March 2026) and 'Living with Bipolar Disorder' (film-maker Promita Banerjee, 2 April 2026).

Academic Conference

The Annual Conference Zeitgeist was titled 'Harnessing AI as a Tool for Mental Well-Being' (26 February 2026). The conference commenced with the keynote address by renowned psychiatrist Dr. Sameer Malhotra (Max Hospitals). This was followed by interactions with Dr. Suyash Shendye (LimbiQ Centre for Psychiatry and Child Development) on online therapy skills and Dr. Amit Sen (Children First) on the impact of digital media on children. A student-led panel explored the role of AI in increasing equitable mental health care. Other student-driven events included the Neural Knockout Quiz and a case competition. The conference theme was also explored through the screening of the film 'Ava' and an exhibition titled 'Phir Le Aaya Dil'.

Other Association Highlights

The department organised a 3-workshop series 'Recognise, Regulate and Relate: A Trauma- Informed Series for Peer Support' with the Humraahi group (27, 28 August, 4 September 2025). Narrative therapy practitioner Shivangi Anil conducted a Disability Affirmative Therapy workshop (6 September 2025).

During MHAW, students conducted the workshop 'Mazbooti and Madad' for children at Prajna, an NGO focused on developing resilience among underserved youth. Later, the department hosted Dr. Amrita Pain, Psychologist, IBHAS, for a training session of peer supporters (1 November 2025), Ms Snigdha Sharma, Director, All Women Foundation of Deaf Women, for workshops on sign language (13 November 2025, 30th January 2026) and psychologist Aastha Bansal for a workshop on emotional regulation (9 April 2026). A notable event was the National Seminar on Psychological Research by the department's Research Circle (15 January 2026). A total of 38 teams registered for paper presentations, among which 9 were shortlisted to showcase their research.

Department Publications

In April 2026, the department published its annual academic journal, The Learning Curve, which provides a forum for researchers to publish empirical and review-based work. This year's articles address topics such as paternal post-partum depression, childhoods and conflicts and transnational families. The annual magazine- Zeitgeist themed 'Simulacrum' was also released. A simulacrum is a representation of a person/thing, acting to obscure the absence of the original. The magazine specifically focused on para-social relationships that mimic real, two-sided friendships but are maintained through mediated, non-reciprocal interaction. Zeitgeist featured essays, poetry, student achievements and interviews with faculty members.

Department of Sanskrit

Lectures and Events

The academic year 2025–2026 was marked by several vibrant academic and co-curricular initiatives organized by the Department of Sanskrit to promote the study and appreciation of Sanskrit language, literature and India's intellectual traditions. One of the major initiatives undertaken by the department was Sanskrit Samvad Shala, a ten-day spoken Sanskrit programme held from 23 April to 3 May at the New Conference Hall (NCH). The programme aimed to encourage students to engage with Sanskrit as a living and communicative language.

The valedictory session of the programme was graced by the presence of Prof. Chand Kiran Saluja. Prof. Saluja is a retired faculty member from the prestigious education college, the Central Institute of Education, University of Delhi and is presently devoted to working for the promotion of the Sanskrit language in social life with great dedication. Students were encouraged to practice the language in everyday contexts, thereby making Sanskrit accessible and enjoyable. The programme witnessed enthusiastic participation, with more than 100 students attending the sessions and benefiting from this immersive learning experience.

Sanskrit Week Celebrations

The department also celebrated Sanskrit Week through interactive and participatory activities designed to engage students from across the college. A thought board activity was installed near the Nescafé area where students from different departments were invited to share their reflections, ideas and perceptions about Sanskrit. In addition, a Sanskrit Quiz was organized focusing on basic knowledge of Sanskrit language, literature and cultural heritage. Students from diverse academic backgrounds participated enthusiastically, with more than 100 students taking part in the activity.

Association Highlights

The Shloka Gayan Competition, held on 25 September 2025, showcased students' ability to recite and present Sanskrit verses with clarity and expression. Amita Srivastava (2nd Year) secured the first position, Anjali Kumari (1st Year) secured the second position and Sudha Suryam (2nd Year) secured the third position. The Speech Competition, organized on 16 October 2025, provided a platform for students to demonstrate their oratory skills and articulate their ideas in Sanskrit. Nandini Vij (3rd Year) won the first prize, followed by Amita Srivastava (2nd Year) in second place, while Smriti Verma (3rd Year) secured the third position. Shweta Pandey (1st Year) also participated with great enthusiasm. The Prose Reading Competition, conducted on 13 November 2025, focused on improving students' pronunciation, fluency and comprehension of Sanskrit prose texts. Nandini Vij (3rd Year) secured the first position, Lakshaki Gupta (3rd Year) obtained the second position and Amita Srivastava (2nd Year) achieved the third position. Creativity was further encouraged through a Sketching Competition held on 20 November 2025, where students visually represented themes inspired by Sanskrit literature and culture. Yogita Kumari (2nd Year) secured the first position, Himani Panchal (2nd Year) secured the second position and Shweta Pandey (1st Year) achieved the third position. Bhoomi Basoya and Manvi Shukla (1st Year) were awarded consolation prizes for their artistic contributions.

Annual Academic Conference

The Department of Sanskrit organized its Annual Academic Meet 'Samskriti '26' on 21 February 2026 at the New Conference Hall. The event brought together scholars, faculty members and students from different institutions for a day of academic exchange and cultural engagement.

The first session was based on the theme 'Indian Knowledge Tradition and National Renaissance.' The session featured distinguished speakers Prof. Ramraj Upadhyay from the Department of Vedavedanga, Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri National Sanskrit University and Prof. Santosh Kumar Shukla from the Institute of Sanskrit and Indic Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University. The speakers highlighted the continuing relevance of India's knowledge traditions in shaping contemporary intellectual discourse.

The second session included inter-college competitions such as Shloka Gayan and Sanskrit Quiz, along with cultural performances by students. The competitions were judged by Dr. Neha Beniwal, Assistant Professor, Department of Sanskrit, Satyawati College and Dr. Vishnu Mishra, Department of Sanskrit, Lady Shri Ram College. Their guidance and evaluation added significant academic value to the event.

Publications

In line with its academic objectives, the department published its annual research journal Tejas and the departmental newsletter Samprekshika. These publications featured original articles written by students as well as documentation of departmental activities conducted throughout the academic year. The publications serve as important academic platforms that encourage research, critical thinking and creative writing within the field of Sanskrit studies.

Department of Sociology

The Department of Sociology's annual calendar features a range of events: lectures by eminent speakers, research papers and poster presentations, exhibition, quiz and policy drafting competitions, film screening and discussions.

Lectures and Talks

25 September 2025: In the academic year's inaugural lecture Visualizing Valour: Battle Paintings and their Viewers, Prof. Radhika Chopra, former Professor in the Department of Sociology, DSE, spoke about battle paintings in the Golden Temple that transform private mourning into collective memory through visual martyrdom. 111 students participated in this event.

February 2026. On 19 February, 2026, Dastak organized the screening of the film Persepolis followed by discussion.

Department Publications

In August 2025, the department published the 2nd edition of its bi-annual magazine Dastak on the theme Mediation of Realities: Self and Society in the Digital Age, featuring essays, research articles, book reviews and interviews. The 3rd edition of Dastak dated April 2026, on the theme Collective Memory: On Remembering and Forgetting, comprises essays, articles, research papers and poems. The department's paramount publication 'The Antarala', The Annual Field Trip Journal of the Department, dated April 2026, is a compilation of research papers by the third-year undergraduate students based on their immersive field research in Bhubaneswar, Odisha. The journal compiles concise findings pertaining to the various sub-fields explored by different research groups on topics such as temple architecture and rituals, local food cultures, leisure practices, women's night shift experiences, traditional art forms of the saura paintings, pattachitra and applique work.

Department of Statistics

The Statistics department curated a dynamic portfolio of events during the academic year, aimed at fostering academic excellence, career awareness and practical skill development. Through a series of thoughtfully designed sessions, students were exposed to diverse career pathways and real-world applications of statistics.

Lectures and Talks

The department hosted multiple speaker sessions featuring industry professionals and domain experts. These included Malavika Krishna and Mannat Kaur Johar (4 July 2025), who provided insights into analytics roles, Anugrah Agnihotri (5 September 2025), who spoke on entrepreneurship, Jatin Sehgal (15 November 2025), who explored careers in quantitative finance and Kritika V. (24 January 2026), who discussed opportunities in risk management. Additionally, Mr. Gagandeep Arora (19 February 2026) conducted an impactful session on placement preparation, equipping students with actionable strategies to navigate recruitment processes.

Statistics Week (3–7 November 2025) served as a flagship initiative, blending academic enrichment with career-oriented exposure. A key highlight was the 'Career bootcamp' led by Mr. Atul Khandelwal from Flink Analytics, which emphasized industry expectations and practical skill-building.

Academic Conference

The Annual Academic Conference Moments'26, held on 19 March 2026 on the theme 'Unleashing unspoken uncertainties', was inaugurated by Dr. Saurabh Garg, Secretary, Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation. The event featured five competitive events, attracting 4000+ registrations from students across institutions nationwide, with participation exclusively from across India and a majority representation from leading Delhi University colleges. Approximately 150 participants were shortlisted for the offline round across all five competitions. A total of 65 presentations were conducted, enabling a comprehensive assessment of participants' analytical abilities, communication skills and overall development. Spanning diverse themes, from case competitions and sustainability challenges to stock market simulations, the competitions witnessed strong engagement and highlighted the problem-solving acumen of participants.

Other Association highlights

To strengthen application-based learning, the department organized skill-building workshops and interactive sessions. These included an Excel workshop by Mr. Vishal Chopra (18–19 August 2025) and an SQL workshop by Arushi Gupta (21–22 February 2026), both designed to enhance technical proficiency. Complementary sessions such as Guesstimates by Mr. Abdul Bari Khan (23 September 2025) and Consulting by Mr. Mayur Tejwani (14 September 2025) provided hands-on exposure to analytical thinking and business problem-solving. A session by Ms. Arti Bangia (25 September 2025) offered insights into the functioning of the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation. A talk on actuarial careers, conducted in collaboration with the Department of Mathematics, LSR-IQAC and the Society of Actuaries, expanded students' awareness of specialized professional pathways (13 March 2026).

Department Publications

In April 2026, the department published its annual newsletter, Degrees of Freedom, which captures the essence of the year's activities. The publication fosters engagement through thought-provoking articles, case studies and perspectives that explore statistics and its applications beyond the classroom, reflecting the department's commitment to holistic intellectual development.

Department of B.A. Programme

Lectures and Talks

The Department of B.A. Programme organised a rich calendar of speaker sessions throughout the session 2025–26, encouraging intellectual engagement across disciplines. On 7 September 2025, the session 'A Guide to Growth' was held online, featuring LSR alumni Aditi Trivedi and Ruhani Taneja, who drew from their corporate and entrepreneurial experiences to guide students on internships, leadership and navigating professional life. On 5 February 2026, Professor Rajeev Bhargava, Indian Political Theorist delivered an illuminating lecture on 'What Political Theory Can Teach Us' offering students a grounding in foundational conceptual frameworks. On 9 February 2026, a session titled 'Navigating CUET PG' was held, featuring CUET PG toppers, Saumya Verma, Anshita Tripathi and Akshat Gupta, who offered practical guidance to students preparing for postgraduate entrance examinations. On 19 February 2026, Dr. Shiksha Deepak led 'Is This Love' an engaging informal session exploring the intersections of love and literature. On 23 February 2026, Ishank Popli, Co-Founder of Huptle and Hugg.co.in conducted 'Navigating the Opportunity Landscape' guiding students through emerging career avenues and opportunities.

Academic Conference

The department's annual academic Conference, Samagam, themed 'AI Metamorphosis: Knowledge, Power and Emerging Futures', was held on 24 September 2025 and served as the centrepiece of the year. The meet commenced with an opening address, followed by a Panel Discussion featuring Mr. Pratyush Ranjan, Chief Editor, Press Trust of India, Dr. Aahana Chopra, Assistant Professor, Kalindi College and Dr. Sandip Datta Assistant Professor, DSE, with Dr. Mahesh Panicker as moderator. The afternoon session saw two parallel competitions, a Paper Presentation Competition, which received 45 submissions with 14 papers presented and the Next Gen AI Ventures Competition, where student teams pitched AI-driven solutions to real-world problems. The Annual Book Exchange, held throughout the day, provided a warm, community-driven counterpoint to the competitive events. The pre-Samagam season featured a documentary discussion in collaboration with Projekt (18 September 2025), featuring Dr. Jonathan Koshy Varghese and Dr. Leslie Keerthi Kumar as well as a Heritage Walk to the National Gallery of Modern Art (21 September 2025).

Other Association Highlights

The tenure was distinguished by several student-led and collaborative initiatives. On 15 November 2025, a Heritage Walk to the Ambedkar Memorial Museum was led by Prof. T. Kannan in association with the SC/ST Cell, deepening students' engagement with Dr. B.R. Ambedkar's life and legacy. On 21 November 2025, The Privileged Paradox, organised in collaboration with Interface Society, facilitated a critical discussion on power, representation and elite-driven activism. On 6 February 2026, a Reading Circle and discussion on George Orwell's works fostered literary engagement within the department. On 22 February 2026, a Photowalk to Hauz Khas offered students a creative excursion into the city's heritage. On 4 April 2026, LSR Alumni Shreya Gupta (AIR 114) led an informal session, sharing key insights on 'Cracking UPSC CS.'

Department Publications

The session marked significant milestones in the department's publication history. The year saw the landmark launch of Consilient Conscience, the department's first academic journal, establishing a new platform for scholarly inquiry and research within the department. Montage, the department's annual magazine, incorporating Alfaaz, the newsletter of the MFY team, was released, celebrating student voices and creative expression.

National Sports Organization (NSO)

NSO plays a dynamic role in fostering a culture of fitness and teamwork, while ensuring that college life remains engaging and vibrant. Throughout the academic year, it organizes a diverse range of events that encourage participation and promote holistic development. Sports at LSR go beyond teams and competitive excellence, encouraging everyone to embrace sports as a way of life. One of its flagship events, the Annual Run, brings together students, faculty, and staff in a spirited celebration of health and unity, combining enthusiasm with a shared sense of purpose. Another major highlight is the prestigious Dr. Bharat Ram Sports Meet, an inter-college event that showcases talent, healthy competition, and true sporting excellence. Adding to its remarkable achievements, LSR's tennis, swimming, and archery teams have emerged as champions of Delhi University, reflecting consistent dedication and outstanding performance.

The Sports Union is led by Anushka Mishra (President), Samiksha (Vice President), Kreti Chawaria (General Secretary) and Pranshu Sharma (Treasurer) working under the esteemed guidance of faculty members Prof. Meenakshi Pahuja, Dr. Anurag Sharma & our well qualified & dedicated coaches: Mr. Anand Prakash (Table Tennis), Mr. Kamaljeet Singh (Badminton), Ms. Shakun (Shooting), Ms. Reshma (Judo), Ms. Nobi (Football), Ms. Anktriksh (Yoga), Ms. Jaya, (Handball), Mr. Mahesh (Volleyball), Mr. Rupesh (Chess), Mr. Honey (Basketball), Mr. Sudhir (Tennis), Mr. Ajay (Athletics), Mr. Amit (Boxing) & Mr. Arif (Archery).

Zainab, a first-year student, competed in the Mangalore India International Challenge and reached the pre-quarterfinal stage. At the India International Challenge in Hyderabad, she qualified for the main draw, and she also qualified for the main draw at the Bangladesh International Challenge.

At Spardha NDIM 2026, Sania delivered an outstanding performance by winning gold medals in both women's singles and women's doubles, and was awarded the Best Player of the Tournament in the women's category. Pratistha also secured a gold medal in women's doubles at the same tournament.

Basketball

The LSR Basketball Team, led by captain Palak Shivani and vice-captain Anshika Tripathi, comprised a talented and dedicated group of players, including Vipasanna, Kaina, Apurva, Aanavi, Jiya, Gunja, Tanisha, Bhargavi, Raunita, Yesha, Anshika Ahlawat, and Saumya. This season marked one of the most successful years in the team's history, reflecting their consistent hard work, resilience, and determination.

The team delivered outstanding performances across numerous tournaments, emerging as champions at prestigious events including Royals, the Ashoka University Sports Meet, Maulana Azad Medical College Basketball Tournament, NDIM Sports Meet, Institute of Home Economics Sports Meet, and LSR's Dr. Bharat Ram Sports Meet. A defining highlight of the season was their remarkable victory at the inaugural Delhi State Khelo Mahakhumbh basketball tournament, where they secured first place and were felicitated by the Honourable Chief Minister of Delhi.

In addition to these achievements, the team secured the runner-up position at the Delhi University Inter-College Women's Basketball Tournament and the OP Jindal Sports Meet, while also finishing third at the YMCA Tournament. Further showcasing their versatility, four of the team members (Palak, Anshika, Kaina, and Aanavi) clinched first place in the 3x3 Basketball Tournament at the Erobern Sports Meet held at Miranda House.

Among individual accomplishments, Yesha Chikkara stood out for her exceptional contributions. She captained the Delhi team at the U-19 National Basketball Championship, earned the Most Valuable Player award at the Royals Tournament, and represented Delhi University at the North Zone Inter-University Tournament. The team's performance is supported by consistent training sessions under the guidance of Coach Honey Shringi.

Boxing

The Boxing Team of our college had an eventful and successful year, marked by dedication, consistency, and a strong commitment to excellence throughout the academic session. Under the able leadership of captain Manasvi Tokas and vice-captain Pranshu Sharma, the team demonstrated exceptional coordination, discipline, and a winning spirit across all major competitions.

The team actively participated in the Delhi University Inter-College Tournament, where they delivered an impressive performance, securing two gold medals and one bronze medal, won by Manasvi Tokas (weight category 70–75 kg), Himani (weight category 51–54 kg), and Pranshu Sharma (weight category 60–65 kg), respectively. A special mention must be made of Manasvi Tokas, whose dedication and excellence have been exemplary. She has had the rare distinction of representing the college at the All-India Inter-University Tournament in all three years of her graduation.

Building on this success, the team also competed in the Kalindi College Invitational Tournament, where they continued their strong performance and secured the position of first runner-up. The team achieved an outstanding haul, with gold medals secured by Manasvi Tokas (70–75 kg), Himani (51–54 kg), Pranshu Sharma (60–65 kg), and Kreti Chawaria (65–70 kg), along with a silver medal secured by Niyati Pujari (57–60 kg) and a bronze medal secured by Chandni Goswami (45–48 kg). Their participation reflected not only technical excellence but also resilience and composure under pressure.

Chess

The LSR Chess Team, led by captain Yashika Jain and vice-captain Vaishnavi, along with team members Abinaya, Anishka Vikram, Sunita, Riya, and Ananya, has delivered commendable performances throughout 2025.

The team, consisting of Yashika Jain, Vaishnavi, Abinaya, Anishka Vikram, Sunita, Riya, and Ananya, clinched the third position at the Dr. Bharat Ram Sports Meet 2025, proving their dominance at the collegiate level. Over the course of the season, the team delivered consistent and commendable results across major competitions. The team secured first position at Ashoka University and second at the Dr. Bharat Ram Sports Meet, and finished third at the Bharati Cup. It also demonstrated strong competitive performance at the Delhi University Intercollege Tournament, Khel Mahakumbh, Spardha at Shaheed Rajguru College for Applied Sciences, and Synapse at Maulana Azad Medical College, advancing to the semi-final and quarter-final stages. In recognition of individual excellence, Shagun Suhag was awarded the Best Spiker title at the Bharati Cup.

Yoga

The LSR Yoga team comprises Sughra Mehdi Naqvi (captain), Diksha (vice-captain), Anushka Saini (vice-captain), Yesha Sehgal, Harman, and Shreya Madhawi.

This year, the Yoga team has had a truly remarkable season, bringing home nine medals and three trophies across multiple prestigious inter-college competitions. Sughra Naqvi led the team with an outstanding individual performance by winning gold in Rhythmic Solo at DBR'26, also given the title of Best Player, gold in Traditional Solo at Surge'25 SNU, silver in Traditional and Rhythmic Solo at Jivamukti'26, and a bronze at Yogotsav'26. Together, Sughra and Diksha made a formidable pair, clinching gold in Artistic Pair at DBR'26 and silver at Jivamukti'26, while Diksha also added a silver in Traditional Solo at Surge'25 to the tally. A special mention goes to Yesha Sehgal, who, in her very first year as a fresher, competed with remarkable courage and composure, winning Bronze in Traditional Solo at both Jivamukti'26 and Jazba'26, a debut that truly promises great things ahead. Together, the team has represented the college with grace, grit, and glory on every platform they competed on.

Gymnastics

The Gymnastics comprises two athletes: Udit Parmar and Divya Prashant Mondekar, both of whom have demonstrated remarkable commitment and achievement in the sport.

Udit Parmar delivered an outstanding performance at the Delhi State Gymnastics Championship 2025–26, securing one gold and two silver medals. She further represented the University of Delhi at the All-India Inter-University Games 2026. Divya Prashant Mondekar has secured medals at the All-India University Games, including a Bronze Medal and a Ribbon in 2024, followed by a Team Silver Medal in 2026. Additionally, she represented at the National Games held in Goa in 2023. The team remains committed to future success, and strives to continue improving its performance in the coming years.

Delhi University Inter College Tournament and Admission Trials

LSR successfully hosted the Delhi University Inter-College Shooting, Tennis, and Table Tennis tournaments, along with the admission trials for Shooting and Table Tennis. The Shooting admission trials and Inter-College Tournament were held at the Dr Karni Singh Shooting Range on 4 August 2025 and 5 January 2026, respectively. The college has consistently demonstrated its commitment to promoting shooting sports and has hosted this prestigious inter-college event multiple times, contributing significantly to the development of the sport within the University.

The college was proud to host the Delhi University Inter-College Tennis Tournament on its synthetic courts for the second consecutive year. The tournament, held from 3–6 November 2025, was followed by the Delhi University Women's Tennis Team Selection Trials, which were also smoothly conducted on the College campus from 6 to 7 November 2025. These trials saw three of our team members—Aditi, Anya, and Jasmine—secure selection to the North Zone silver medal-winning team for the year 2025–26.

The college also organised the Delhi University Inter-College Table Tennis Tournament (women) from 13 to 15 November 2025 at the Multipurpose Hall. The event witnessed enthusiastic participation and highlighted the growing competitive spirit among players, further strengthening the presence of table tennis within the university circuit.

LSR Participation at the Sunday Cycling Event at India Gate

The students of Lady Shri Ram College for Women enthusiastically participated in the Fit India Sunday Cycling Event held on 5 October 2025 at India Gate, New Delhi. The event began at 6:00 AM in the morning and witnessed a large gathering of people from across the city, all united by a common goal to promote fitness, health, and well-being under the Fit India Movement. The participants from LSR actively took part in the cycling event, enjoying the scenic early morning ride around the iconic India Gate. In addition to cycling, there were several exciting fitness activities such as Zumba sessions, skipping, and other engaging events, which added to the enthusiasm and vibrancy. The event beautifully combined fun, fitness, and community spirit.

LSR Students at Shakti Walk

LSR students enthusiastically participated in the Shakti Walk organized on the occasion of International Women's Day at India Gate, New Delhi. The event aimed to celebrate women's strength, resilience, and empowerment while encouraging collective action towards gender equality.

The walk witnessed the presence of several distinguished dignitaries, including Chief Minister Rekha Gupta, whose presence added great significance to the occasion. Students from LSR joined the initiative with great zeal, standing in solidarity with women from diverse backgrounds and reaffirming their commitment to building a more inclusive and empowered society.

Students who enthusiastically participated in the walk included Divya Mahajan, Anushka Mishra, Suhani, Priya, Lucky, Anjali, Samiksha and Nisha.

Freshers' Event

The 2025 Freshers' event was an informal, welcoming event held specially for the incoming students. It provided an opportunity for first-year LSR students to showcase their sporting prowess, while also engaging and interacting with the LSR Sports community.

Annual Run

Lady Shri Ram College for Women successfully organized its Annual Run 2025–26 on 14 October 2025, uniting over 550 participants in a remarkable display of fitness, environmental consciousness, and community spirit. The 3 km run aimed to raise awareness about climate change under the powerful theme 'Beat the Heat, Save the Earth'. The event saw enthusiastic participation from students, faculty, alumnae, and volunteers.

The chief guest was Ms. Manjusha Kanwar, Ex-International Badminton Player & Head of Sports Cell, Indian Oil Corporation Ltd., New Delhi. The Guest of Honour was Ms. Tanushri Roy Alumna, LSR (Batch of 2016, former athlete & Lawyer & Policy Expert, NITI Aayog, Government of India).

Large number of students took part in the 2.5 km environmental awareness run out of which top 20 runners were awarded for exceptional performance. Students carried cards promoting ecological responsibility conserving water, reducing heat, and sustaining green spaces. The Annual Run stood as a symbolic stride against the climate crisis, encouraging students to adopt an active lifestyle while advocating sustainable practices. The college reinforced the message that collective action, however small, contributes to a cooler and greener planet.

Purnima Kaushik secured first position in the run, followed by Vedika Gulia and Palak, who secured second and third positions, respectively. Other students who performed well and won prizes include Harshita Lakhina, Khushi, Aditi Pandey, Muskan Kumari, Aisha Yadav, Vriddhi Gelani, Shimreen Ahmad, Sivananda, Cheshta Bisht, Shagun Suhag, Manya Chopra, Soni, Shilpi Kumari, Suruchi Kumari, Pragya Kumari, Rinki Kumari, and Tsayang Lhamo.

Dr. Bharat Ram Sports Meet

LSR hosted the Dr. Bharat Ram Open Sports Meet from 19 November to 21 November 2025. With representation from over 70 colleges, approximately 1200 players actively participated in various sports disciplines including Archery, Athletics, Badminton, Basketball, Chess, Judo, Kurash, Lawn Tennis, Shooting, Table Tennis, Volleyball, Football, and Yoga.

The event also welcomed participation from LSR faculty and alumni, with informal games planned for the teaching staff. The event not only highlighted high-level competition but also emphasized the values of teamwork, discipline, and mutual respect across institutions.

Commander Vipul Manocha Retd., founder of LAWA Global Innovation Pvt. Ltd. graced the occasion as the Chief Guest. The event was also honored by the presence of Harnoor Kaur Dhanjal, former Sports union treasurer (Batch of 2021), along with CA Alisha Gandhi, Chief Financial and Administrative Officer, as Guests of Honour. The prize distribution ceremony was led by Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja, Principal, Lady Shri Ram College for Women.

National Service Scheme

NSS-LSR commenced its new tenure with a rejuvenating yoga workshop themed ‘Yoga for one Earth, one health’ (21 June 2025) led by Yogacharya Gopal Ji with Dr. Aditi Nigam as the facilitators. The workshop created a meaningful space for participants to focus on physical well-being, mindfulness, and inner balance, setting a positive and energising tone for the year ahead. NSS hosted several distinguished speakers, including Lt. General Vinod Bhatia (Retd.), former Director General of Military Operations, on the occasion of Kargil Vijay Diwas (26 July 2025), making the event deeply inspiring and reflective through discussions on courage, patriotism, and service to the nation.

As part of the Swachhta Pakhwada Campaign (17 September to 2 October 2025), NSS organised impactful initiatives such as cleanliness drives, a thought-provoking skit, and a Swachhta pledge to spread awareness on the importance of maintaining clean surroundings and encouraging responsible civic behaviour. Under the Tobacco Free Youth Campaign 3.0 and the Nasha Mukta Bharat Abhiyan, NSS conducted a myth-busting session and a slogan writing competition (16 October 2025), which encouraged participants to challenge misconceptions around substance use and promote healthier, more informed lifestyles.

NSS participated in a Unity March and organised a National Unity Pledge to commemorate the legacy of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel (21 November, 2025) reinforcing the ideals of national integration, harmony, and collective responsibility. A special session on ‘Working with children through a trauma-informed lens’, conducted by Humraahi Psychotherapy, introducing participants to child-sensitive and trauma-aware approaches, particularly useful for volunteers working closely with children through NSS initiatives was organized as well (21 November 2025). An important event of the year was the blood donation drive (5 February 2026) in collaboration with Rotary Blood Bank, preceded by highly engaging pre-events such as a game carnival and a nukkad natak.

Reflecting on the values of compassion and community care, NSS conducted an awareness session on campus stray animals in collaboration with Stray Sathi, led by Manjunath Kamnath (25 March, 2026). The session focused on sensitising participants towards the humane treatment of campus animals, building legal and ethical awareness, and promoting responsible coexistence. On the occasion of Ambedkar Jayanti celebrations (9 April, 2026), NSS organised a pledge ceremony, reaffirming collective commitment to equality, dignity, justice, and constitutional values.

Three annual flagship events - Varshik Samaroh (Threads of kindness, 9 October 2025), Nexus (From me to we: Building community-led change, 6 February 2026), and Kala (Sapno ki udaan – Khushiyon ke rang, 7 February 2026) celebrated the spirit of service, collaboration, leadership, and creativity, garnering an enthusiastic response from participants and attendees. Additionally, NSS celebrated Valentine's week for animals (7-11 February, 2026), reflecting the importance of empathy, kindness, and welfare-oriented initiatives.

Throughout the tenure, all 27 NSS-LSR projects remained active and hosted insightful sessions, ensuring sustained engagement, meaningful outreach, and continued commitment towards social impact, community building, and holistic student involvement across diverse thematic areas.

National Cadet Corps (NCC)

The National Cadet Corps (NCC) unit of LSR, under the guidance of Captain Dr. Sarika Kalra, has consistently worked towards shaping disciplined, confident, and socially responsible individuals. The unit serves as a platform where academic learning is complemented by structured military training, leadership development, and active community engagement. In 2025–26, NCC LSR witnessed significant growth in participation, performance, and outreach. The year was marked by extensive involvement in national-level camps, strong representation in competitions, impactful social service initiatives, and the successful execution of institutional events, reinforcing the unit's commitment to holistic development and nation-building.

Camps

The tenure was distinguished by wide-ranging participation in camps, each contributing uniquely to cadet development:

Scuba Diving Camp, Chanakyapuri. This camp introduced cadets to underwater training, enhancing their confidence, adaptability, and ability to operate in unfamiliar environments. It emphasized overcoming fear and developing mental composure.

Team Building and Leadership Camp (NIM Uttarkashi) – I & II. Conducted in a high-altitude environment, these camps focused on leadership under pressure, decision-making, and teamwork. Cadets were trained to navigate physically demanding conditions while working cohesively in teams.

Combined Annual Training Camps (CATC I, II, III). These camps formed the backbone of NCC training, covering drill, weapon handling, physical fitness, and theoretical knowledge. They served as the foundation for discipline and were crucial for further camp selections.

Independence Day Camp. During the camp, cadets prepared for ceremonial participation, reinforcing discipline, coordination, and pride in national service.

Chief Minister's Rallies (I & II). Participation in these rallies showcased the unit's drill precision and discipline at the state level, reflecting high standards of training.

Inter-Directorate Sports Shooting Competition, Maharashtra. This competition enhanced focus, precision, and mental discipline, allowing cadets to represent the unit in a highly competitive environment.

Thal Sainik Camp (TSC). One of the most prestigious camps, TSC, provided hands-on exposure to field craft, firing, obstacle training, and map reading, strengthening practical military skills.

India–Bhutan Youth Friendship Camp. This international exchange fostered cultural understanding, diplomacy, and global exposure, broadening cadets' perspectives beyond national boundaries.

Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat Camps (Rourkela, Gopalpur, New Delhi). These camps promoted national integration through cultural exchange, helping cadets appreciate India's diversity while building unity.

Rock Climbing (Pithoragarh), Sports Climbing (Lansdowne), and Trekking Expedition (Haldighati). These adventure activities tested physical endurance and mental resilience, encouraging cadets to push beyond their limits.

White Water Rafting Camp, Rishikesh. This activity emphasized teamwork, quick decision-making, and adaptability in dynamic environments.

Special National Integration Camp, Jaisalmer. Focused on cultural unity and national pride, this camp strengthened interpersonal connections across regions.

Advance Leadership Camp, Etawah. This camp refined leadership qualities, focusing on command, responsibility, and situational decision-making.

Idea and Innovation Camp, Vijayawada. Encouraged creative thinking, problem-solving, and innovation, expanding cadets' skills beyond traditional training.

Chi Running Camp, New Delhi. Focused on endurance, fitness techniques, and injury prevention, promoting long-term physical well-being.

Military Hospital Attachment Camp, New Delhi. Provided exposure to medical services within defence systems, building awareness of discipline and coordination in critical environments.

Prime Minister's Rally & Republic Day Camp (RDC). These prestigious platforms represented the pinnacle of NCC achievement, where cadets demonstrated excellence in drill, cultural performances, and national representation.

Achievements and Recognition

The unit achieved significant recognition by securing the Second Runner-Up position for Best College Institution during the Board of Officers and ADG Visit (9 January 2025), reflecting excellence in overall performance, discipline, and organization. Individual accomplishments further highlighted the strength of NCC LSR. SGT Devika received the DG Recommendation, marking exceptional performance and dedication. SUO Mahak Yadav and JUO Lakshaki Gupta were honoured with the Young Achiever Award by the Delhi Government, recognizing their leadership and contribution. The unit also excelled in inter-college competitions, demonstrating versatility across drill, cultural, and creative domains, thereby establishing a strong competitive presence.

Major Activities

The unit conducted a nukkad natak on yoga awareness, promoting the importance of physical and mental well-being, along with celebrating International Yoga Day (21 June 2025). Under Swachhhta Pakhwada (16-30 September 2025), a series of activities were conducted, including cleanliness drives, awareness campaigns, waste segregation initiatives, creative competitions, and community engagement programmes aimed at promoting hygiene and environmental responsibility. On World Rivers Day (28 September 2025), cadets engaged in awareness campaigns, discussions on conservation, and creative activities highlighting environmental concerns. Participation in the Vedanta Half Marathon (12 October 2025) promoted endurance and fitness.

The unit actively commemorated important national days such as Independence Day, Republic Day, and Kargil Vijay Diwas, fostering patriotism and collective responsibility. Events like Rashtriya Ekta Diwas, Constitution Day, and Cyber Security Awareness Day contributed to civic awareness and informed citizenship. Under Mission LiFE, cadets participated in activities such as PPT presentations, quizzes, and tree plantation drives, encouraging sustainable living practices. The initiative on Empowerment through AI and Digital Skills enabled cadets to explore technology through creative mediums such as digital posters, comic strips, and short videos, while also reflecting on the role of AI in modern society. Creative expression was encouraged through poetry, essays, and writing competitions. Community outreach activities included visits to blind homes, orphanages, and old-age homes, fostering empathy, compassion, and social responsibility. A Civil Defence Demonstration further enhanced awareness regarding emergency preparedness, including hostile attack response and air raid protocols. The unit successfully hosted the Board of Officers and ADG Visit, where its discipline, organization, and performance were highly appreciated.

Veerangana 2026

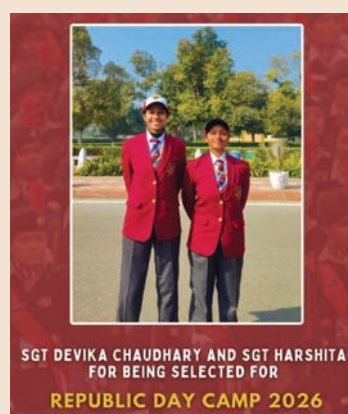

The successful organization of Veerangana (17 February 2026), the annual fest of NCC-LSR, provided a platform for cadets to showcase their skills across multiple domains, encouraging healthy competition and team spirit. A notable addition this year was Veerangana Voices, an initiative aimed at encouraging open dialogue, expression, and awareness among cadets on relevant social and personal issues, thereby fostering a more inclusive and reflective environment. The speaker session by Brig. (Retd.) Akhilesh Bhargava on The soldier mindset: Push yourself towards success provided invaluable insights into discipline, resilience, and leadership, inspiring cadets to adopt a growth-oriented mindset.

The tenure 2025–26 has been marked by comprehensive development, extensive participation, and commendable achievements. NCC LSR continues to play a pivotal role in shaping disciplined, confident, and socially responsible individuals. With its continued focus on training, leadership, and service, the unit remains committed to contributing meaningfully to both institutional excellence and nation-building.

Office of International Programmes

The Office of the International Programmes, LSR, continued to expand its global engagements during 2025-2026 through a series of academic interactions, collaborations, and student opportunities. The Office was honoured to host delegations and engage with representatives from leading universities across the globe, including Hertie School and Rutgers University. These engagements created avenues for discussions on student and faculty mobility, collaborative research, and interdisciplinary learning, reinforcing LSR's commitment to global academic integration. Interactions with international scholars and institutional representatives contributed to building a dynamic platform for cross-cultural and intellectual exchange.

OIP activities began with nominating outbound students for exchange programs and selecting a new team of coordinators. The coordinators for 2025-26 were Kritika Sharma (Journalism), Ruhi Ahuja (Political Science), Nazmin Fathima M. (Economics), Anwasha Mukherjee (Political Science), and Ritika Pandey (English). The Office celebrated the college's successful representation at the Asian Undergraduate Symposium, organized by the National University of Singapore, in July 2025. Seven students represented LSR, participated in various events, and were acknowledged for their contributions to the symposium. The group included Kritika Sharma, Mannat Parmar, Niyati Bali, Meenakshi Jha, Anvi Khatri, Noor Sehgal, and Ishpreet Kakkar.

The Office hosted several scholars during the year. Dr. Axel Baisch, Managing Director at Hertie School, Berlin, led a session titled 'From peace dividends to security imperatives: Universities as strategic actors in Europe' (29 October 2025). The speaker offered a nuanced analysis of Europe's transition from the post-Cold War peace dividend era to a contemporary geopolitical landscape marked by renewed security concerns. He traced the decline in defence expenditure across Western Europe following 1990 and contrasted it with the sharp reversal following the Russian invasion of Ukraine, which prompted widespread rearmament and strategic recalibration.

Another session titled 'Two giants, one planet: Rethinking EU-India climate cooperation' was conducted with Prof. Jesse Scott, Professor, Hertie School, Berlin, and Senior Fellow at the Observer Research Foundation, Delhi (13 March 2026). Professor Scott brought a comprehensive and interdisciplinary perspective to the discussion, drawing on her extensive experience in climate policy, energy transition, and international governance. Her lecture highlighted the growing importance of cooperation between India and the European Union in addressing global climate challenges, particularly in the context of accelerating environmental crises and evolving geopolitical dynamics.

Ms. Julie Brooks, Director of Postgraduate Programmes at the School of Management, University of St Andrews, UK, delivered an address on 'Trust and marketing in the online environment' (9 April 2026). The session engaged with a pressing question in contemporary digital capitalism: how trust is constructed, mediated, and monetised in virtual marketplaces. Ms. Brooks foregrounded the argument that the absence of physical proximity in online transactions amplifies classical economic uncertainties, thereby making trust, rather than price, the decisive variable in shaping consumer behaviour. Her insights resonated with broader debates in behavioural economics and digital sociology, particularly those associated with information asymmetry and platform capitalism.

Delegations from various international universities visited LSR. OIP warmly hosted a distinguished delegation from Rutgers University (11 November 2025), marking a significant step toward strengthening global academic collaborations and fostering cross-cultural dialogue. The interaction began with a formal welcome, setting a tone of intellectual exchange and mutual learning. Faculty members and students had insightful discussions on global education, research opportunities, and shared academic interests. The delegates and LSR representatives explored avenues for student exchange programs, collaborative research initiatives, and interdisciplinary learning frameworks. A significant highlight of the session was the selection of six students from various departments, following a rigorous and competitive process, for participation in the AUS-NUS LSR Undergraduate Symposium to be held at the National University of Singapore in July 2026. The selected students are Maanya Rajgopal, Disha Prajapati, Ruhi Ahuja, Amna Haleem, Bhoomika Kapale, and Vanisha Tyagi. An online orientation session was conducted for the parents of candidates selected for the AUS 2026 programme, with the aim of fostering clarity, confidence, and meaningful engagement. The session provided a comprehensive overview of the Asian Undergraduate Symposium, highlighting its vision, structure, and the diverse opportunities it offers to participating students. Students were selected for a 2-semester exchange with international partners. Ms. Srishti Singh has been nominated to La Trobe University, Australia; Ms. Mannat Parmar was nominated to Fukuoka Women's University, Japan; and Ms. Anagha Chavan was nominated to Macquarie University, Australia.

CTPB

The Aung San Suu Kyi (ASSK) Centre for Peace, established in 2005, has consistently worked towards fostering a deeper understanding of conflicts, especially from a South Asian perspective. Its flagship initiative, the diploma programme on Conflict Transformation and Peace Building (CTPB), is designed to equip individuals from varied disciplinary backgrounds with the theoretical knowledge and practical skills required to engage with contemporary conflicts. The programme not only examines the evolving nature of conflicts but also aims to cultivate a network of socially conscious youth committed to nonviolent change and sustainable peace-building efforts. This year, following a rigorous screening and interview process, 26 students were selected for the course. The programme commenced on 14 August 2025 with an orientation lecture delivered by Prof. Amitabh Mattoo, Dean and Professor at the School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University. Prof. Mattoo addressed the students on the topic of 'Changing Nature of Conflicts in the 21st Century' and introduced students to the evolving geopolitical landscape and its impact on contemporary conflicts. This was a suitable beginning to a year marked by several meaningful academic engagements, apart from regular classes.

On 13 September 2025, a special lecture was delivered by Mr. Peter Knoope, Director of the International Centre for Counter-Terrorism in The Hague (ICCT), co-founded by the Clingendael Institute. His talk focused on global counter-terrorism strategy amidst a changing global security environment. A workshop on Peace Education was held on 31 January 2026 on the theme 'Cultivating Peace' and it saw enthusiastic participation from students of the Department of Political Science, alongside ASSK Centre students.

Dr. Kamiya Kumar, who completed her PhD in Peace Education from Columbia University, was the resource person for the workshop. The workshop provided participants with conceptual understanding and practical skills to nurture peace within themselves, in interpersonal relationships, and in community settings. It balanced theory, reflection, and highlighted the importance of culturally relevant practices. The CTPB programme emphasizes research, as students have to submit a dissertation at the end of the year to receive their diplomas. With the completion of their semester one coursework, students engaged with their dissertation work and were allotted supervisors from different departments of the college, based on their topic. Their dissertation topics this year included relevant questions on migration, the impact of emerging technologies like Artificial Intelligence on conflicts, and peace education, among others. With able guidance from faculty members from various disciplines, the dissertations reflect an interdisciplinary approach to understanding conflicts. Internships are an important part of the pedagogical framework, and students interned in many prestigious institutions this year to gain real-world experience in dealing with conflicts. In the forthcoming year, the ASSK Centre aims to extend its national and global partnerships to foster intercultural and transnational dialogues on peacebuilding.

The Placement Cell

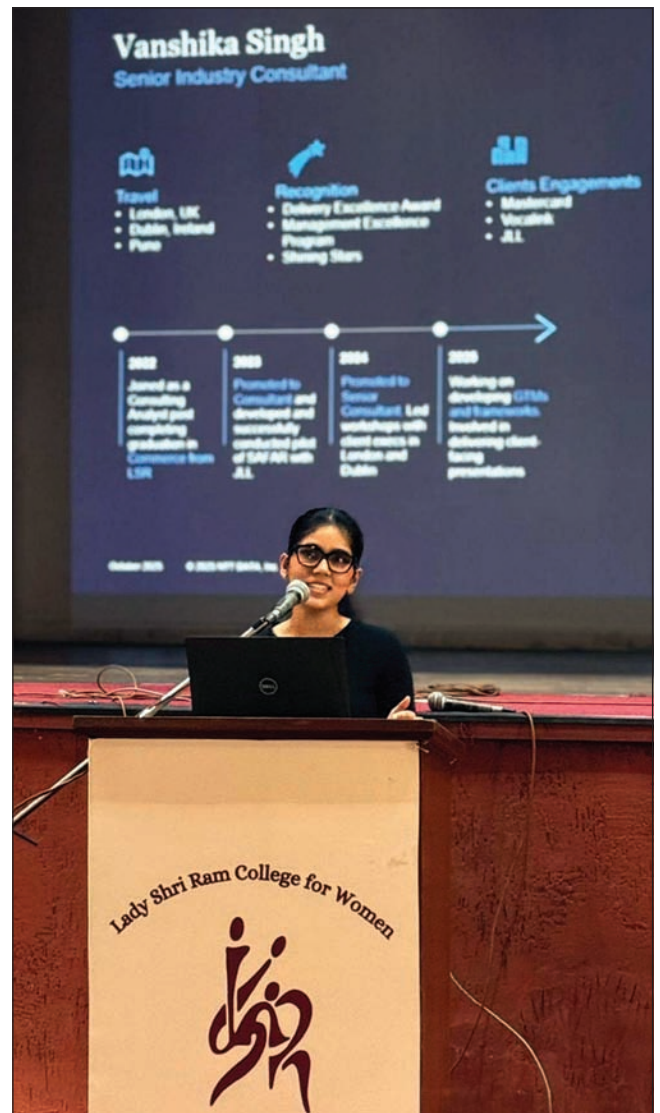

The Placement Cell of LSR continued to uphold its legacy of excellence during 2025–26, facilitating a dynamic and successful recruitment cycle. The Cell witnessed participation from a diverse pool of over 50 organisations, offering students opportunities across consulting, finance, marketing, analytics, and product domains.

A total of 160+ offers were made during the placement season. The highest package offered stood at Rs. 36.25 LPA, while the average and median packages were The Placement Cell Rs.13.54 LPA and Rs.13.1 LPA, respectively. The recruitment cycle saw strong representation in consulting roles, alongside significant opportunities in finance, data analytics, marketing, and product management.

The internship cycle witnessed strong engagement, with total of 135 internships offered by 40 organisations, including 60 full-time and 75 part-time more than 60 structured internships offered by over 12 organisations. Leading recruiters included L.E.K. Consulting, World Wide Technology, and McKinsey & Company. The highest stipend stood at Rs. 3,60,000 for an 8-week engagement, while the average stipend was Rs.67,745, Prominent recruiters included McKinsey & Company, Boston Consulting Group, Accenture Strategy & Consulting, Bain Capability Network, Meesho, BlackRock, ZS Associates, Amazon, and L.E.K. Consulting, among others. The Cell also welcomed new recruiters, further expanding the breadth of opportunities available to students.

The Placement Cell

reflecting the quality and competitiveness of opportunities secured by students.

The Placement Cell undertook key initiatives aimed at enhancing accessibility and preparedness. The Cell initiated its first-ever workshop series for Persons with Disabilities, conducting 4 sessions with distinguished speakers to foster inclusive career development and targeted guidance. The LSR Consulting Casebook 2.0 served as a comprehensive resource for students preparing for case interviews, compiling curated case studies, guesstimates, and interview experiences. The Humanities Career Handbook was introduced as a structured guide to document real and replicable placement pathways for students from humanities and social science backgrounds. By focusing on real recruitment journeys and profile-building strategies, the handbook sought to bridge the gap between academic training and industry expectations, enabling students to better navigate diverse career opportunities.

The Cell organized over 25 skill-building sessions throughout the academic year, featuring distinguished speakers from leading organisations. These included Ruchi Aggarwal (Consultant, McKinsey & Company) on consulting interviews, Ananya Kalra (Consultant, Bain & Company) on CV building and case preparation, and Ruchika Bhartiya (MBA, IIM Bangalore; Ex Bain & BCG) on case-based problem solving. Sessions were also conducted by professionals such as Major Abhinandan Singh (IPS), Kavitha K K (Independent Policy Advisor), and industry experts from Accenture, Redseer Strategy, and Bain Capability Network, covering diverse areas including consulting, finance, public policy, and marketing.

Through its sustained efforts, the Placement Cell reaffirmed its commitment to fostering industry readiness and holistic development, equipping students with the confidence and capabilities required to excel in competitive professional environments.

The North-East Cell

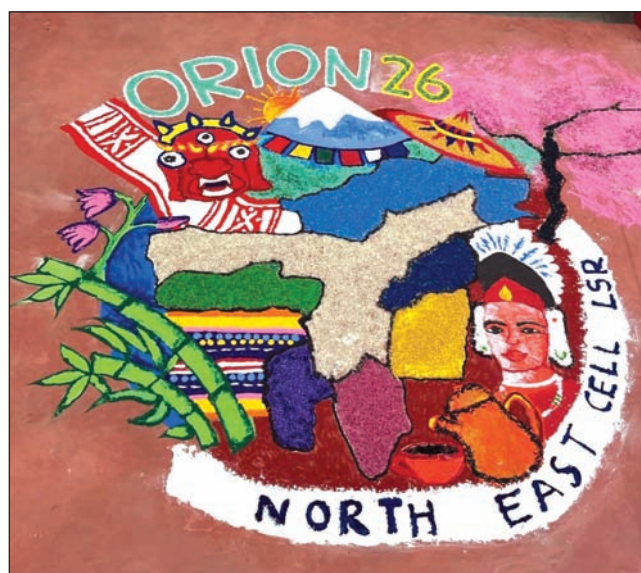

The North-East Cell had an active year marked by several social and cultural initiatives. In early June 2025, relentless monsoon rains caused severe flooding and landslides across the north-eastern states. In response to the crisis, the Cell organized a targeted drive for the non-governmental organization TSF, and the N.E Students of Delhi's Flood Relief drive on 9 and 10 June, 2025. Monetary and in-kind donations were collected for the affected population. Recognizing the challenges faced by students migrating from the north-east to Delhi, the Cell launched an online admission helpdesk on 12 July 2025. Applicants were guided through the admission process, offering the new students a steady hand as they navigated their initial days in the college.

The academic year of 2025-26 began with the orientation program on 29 August 2025, introducing the first-year students to the Cell's vision of being a support system for North-Eastern students.

On 9 October 2025, the Cell's student-led stall initiative at the 'Varshik Samaroh' organised by NSS, introduced the culinary heritage of the north-east to the campus community. In November, the Cell transitioned from cultural representation to institutional advocacy. In a cross-functional collaboration with the Equity Cells and the Students' Union, the Cell hosted an Inclusivity Sensitisation Session, designed to cultivate a more empathetic environment within LSR by focusing on the lived experiences of students from marginalized backgrounds. On 20 November, the cell hosted a panel discussion titled 'Between Borders: Navigating Student Migration and the Politics of Belonging as a Northeast Indian in Mainland Cities' with esteemed advocate Dr. Alana Gomei, General Secretary (NESCH) and Founder of Pann Nu Foundation, and Dr. Avitoli G. Zhimo, Joint Director, Centre for Tribal Studies (University of Delhi). The panel was moderated by Dr.

Kingaule Newme. Soon after, distinguished classical dancer and cultural ambassador Dhanarani Devi Lamabam led a workshop on the discipline and grace of Manipuri dance titled 'A Journey into Manipuri Classical Dance' in collaboration with LSR's Dance Society. The Cell joined the Students' Union and Projekt for a screening of the film Aaba on 21 November and partnered with the SAAZ, LSR's Instrumental Society, to perform Christmas carols on 26 November to celebrate the region's unique festive traditions.

The highlight of the year was the Cell's annual academic and cultural conference, Orion. The pre-conference event was the screening of Axone, a film that speaks to the friction and resilience of north-eastern identity in urban spaces. The conference also included a paper presentation competition judged by National Award winner Dr. Meena Longjam (filmmaker and director) as the Chief Guest, and Dr. Jonathan Koshy Varghese, from the English Department of LSR. Ms. Nabamallika Bhagabati (folk artist and classical vocalist) was invited as the cultural judge. Other events included group dance, solo singing, online photography, and online painting, which produced entries from across the country.

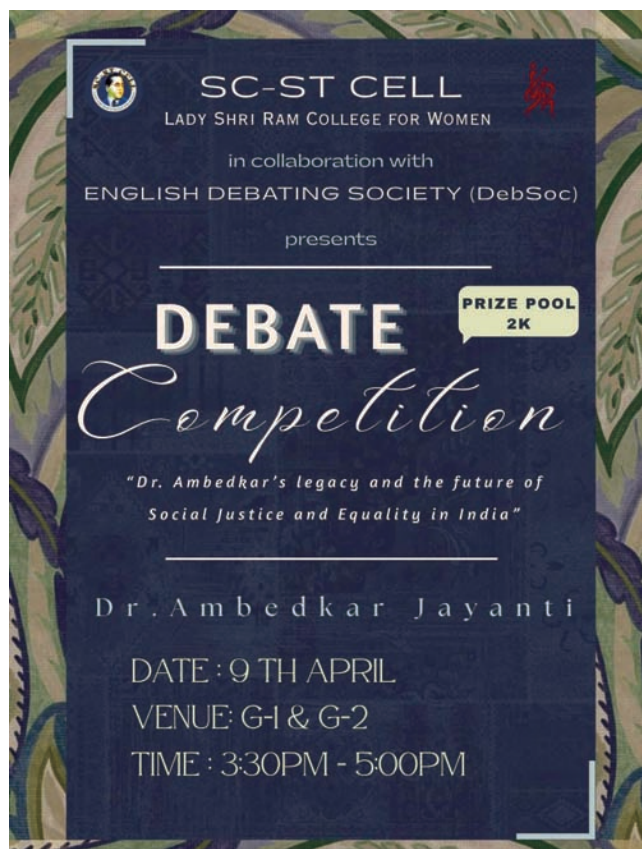

On 4 April, the Cell hosted an online international seminar titled Strategic Pathways for Northeastern Scholars Abroad: Pedagogical Shifts, Challenges and Opportunities with two alumnae of the Northeast Cell: Abi Mor, currently pursuing an MSc in Modern South Asian Studies at Oxford University, and Unmona Dohutia, a public health professional and researcher from Edinburgh University.

SC-ST Cell

The SC-ST Cell of Lady Shri Ram College for Women remained committed to fostering dialogue, inclusivity, and critical engagement with issues of caste, identity, and social justice during the academic year. Through discussions, screenings, and collaborative initiatives, the Cell created spaces for reflection and meaningful exchange within the campus community. The year began on 7 October 2025 with Resonance, a discussion session on protest and resistance songs organised by the Books and Documentary Club. Featuring songs across Malayalam, Tamil, Bengali, Bhojpuri, Hindi, and Spanish, the session explored themes of caste oppression, gender-based violence, and resistance, encouraging students to engage with music as a powerful form of social commentary.

As part of Constitution Day, the Cell organised a series of events. On 14 November 2025, a speaker session titled 'Caste concealment and coming out' in collaboration with Expressions LSR featured Dr. Arunima Ray, who discussed caste identity, concealment, and Dalit feminist thought, drawing on autobiographies and Yashica Dutt's Coming Out as a Dalit. On 15 November 2025, a photo walk to the Dr. Ambedkar National Memorial was conducted under the guidance of Mr. T. Kanan, enabling students to engage with Ambedkar's life and legacy. On 19 November 2025, the Cell collaborated with the Students' Union, Women's Development Cell, Reach, the Queer Collective, and the North-East Cell to organise an Inclusivity Sensitisation Session. Featuring a mime performance, sharing circle, and affirmation activity, the session encouraged reflection on everyday discrimination. On 29 January 2026, a documentary screening on the Musahar community was followed by discussions on socio-economic inequalities and responsibility.

The Cell's flagship initiative, Samanvay 2026, commemorated Dr. B. R. Ambedkar's 135th Birth Anniversary through a series of events. As a prelude, a screening of Burn on 7 April 2026 examined institutional discrimination faced by marginalised research scholars. A significant highlight was the inauguration of the mural 'Echoes of Her Strength: A Mural of Resistance and Renewal, unveiled in the presence of Principal Dr. Kanika K. Ahuja and staff advisors. The mural pays tribute to the resilience of SC-ST communities and foregrounds iconic women such as Savitribai Phule, Fatima Sheikh, and Dakshayani Velayudhan, symbolising a journey from resistance to renewal. On 9 April 2026, a Guest Speaker Session 'From Margins to Mainstream: Reimagining Media through Ambedkarite Lens' featured journalist Ms. Meena Kotwal. A documentary, 'Voice of India's Voiceless' traced her journey, followed by discussions on Dalit-led media and her initiative The Mooknayak. The session included an interactive Q&A and was graced by Shri Sravan Bagaria, IAS. The Cell also organised an Inter-DU Quiz Competition (in collaboration with the Quiz Society, LSR) on the theme 'Margins and Movements: From Ambedkar to the Present', judged by Dr. Shama Norien Major. An Inter-College Undergraduate Research Paper Presentation Conference featured participants from institutions such as St. Stephen's, Miranda House, Daulat Ram College, Jadavpur University, and O. P. Jindal Global University, evaluated by Dr. Puspita Behera and Mr. T. Kannan. Additionally, an Inter-DU Debate Competition (in collaboration with the English Debating Society) examined the motion on prioritising annihilation of caste over political empowerment. The debate fostered nuanced discussions, with participants presenting arguments on both sides, and was judged by Dr. Dhiren Sahoo and Dr. Sridhi.

Internal Committee (IC)

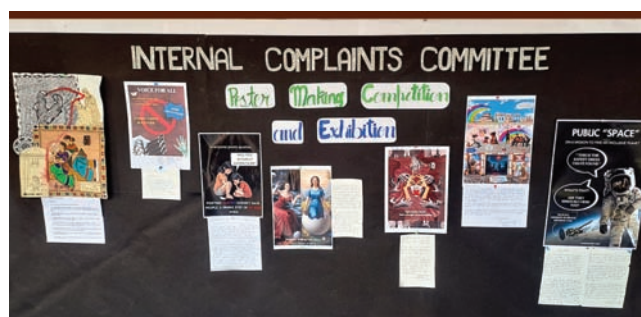

The Internal Committee of LSR remains committed to ensuring a safe, inclusive, and respectful environment for all members of the college. The IC carried out its responsibilities with a focus on both redressal and prevention. All concerns brought before the committee were addressed with confidentiality, sensitivity, and fairness. Continuous efforts were made to promote awareness and understanding of gender related issues within the college.

During the academic year, the IC focused on conducting sensitisation initiatives across campus. The first major initiative of the academic year was the “Gender Sensitisation and Strengthening POSH” workshop conducted by Dr. Poulami Pal, Programme Specialist, UN Women India Office, on 18 September 2025. The workshop focused on building a clear understanding of sexual harassment and the legal provisions under the POSH Act. It covered key areas such as gender roles, stereotypes, unconscious bias, gender responsive communication in institutional contexts, and the responsibilities of the Internal Committee. It also included discussion of case studies and real-life situations to help participants understand practical aspects of handling such issues. The session was interactive, and participants engaged in discussions and activities, including video-based reflections. The workshop helped in strengthening awareness and emphasised that maintaining a safe environment is a shared responsibility.

The IC organised a poster-making competition and exhibition on 5 February 2026 with the theme “Art for All: Spaces that Speak Safety.” The aim was to provide students with a platform to express their understanding of safety, consent, dignity, and inclusivity through creative work. The exhibition that followed was open to all students, which allowed wider engagement across the college. Students participated actively in the competition and presented posters that reflected different interpretations of safety in shared spaces. Through visual expression, students were able to communicate ideas that are often difficult to discuss in formal settings. The exhibition encouraged students to engage with these issues and think about the role they play in creating safer spaces.

Institution's Innovation Council (IIC)

LSR's Innovation Council (IIC) organised several impactful activities aimed at fostering innovation, entrepreneurial thinking, and awareness of contemporary socio-economic and technological issues among students. An awareness initiative, 'Cyber Safety Starts with You' was held on 28 January 2025, featuring Ms. Neha Yadav (Associate Vice President, Federal Bank) and RJ Harii (Radio Jockey, Radio City Delhi). The speakers sensitized students to cyber threats, fraud prevention, and responsible digital behavior, which are themes highly relevant in today's digital age.

Marking the World Creativity and Innovation Day, the IIC organized a session on 21 April 2025 titled 'Innovative Adaptation Techniques to Climate Change in Agriculture' with Dr. Shrishty Kasana (Guest Lecturer, Daulat Ram College). The session explored sustainable agricultural practices and adaptive strategies to address climate change, encouraging students to think critically about environmental and technological intersections. A Paper Presentation Competition on Intellectual Property Rights was held on 26 April 2025 evaluated by Dr. Sunil Kumar Yadav (Academic Professional and Subject Expert), promoting research-based learning and awareness of intellectual property in the modern knowledge economy.

The new academic year began with an engaging session under Rashtra Pratham, conducted on 22 August 2025, featuring Mr. Ankur Warikoo (Entrepreneur and Founder, WebVeda), under the guidance of Dr. Abhay Jere (Vice Chairman, AICTE & Chief Innovation Officer, MoE's Innovation Cell). The session focused on entrepreneurship, financial awareness, and the importance of resilience in professional journeys. Soon after, a Digital India Awareness Workshop was organized on 26 August 2025 in collaboration with the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY). The session was led by officials from the National e-Governance Division (NeGD), who discussed key digital governance initiatives, cybersecurity practices, and the role of citizens in India's digital transformation. The workshop enabled students to understand the practical implications of digital infrastructure and governance.

The IIC also hosted sessions under the theme 'Celebrating Failures', including one on 11 July 2025 by Mr. Mayank Bidawatka (Co-founder, KOO) and the other on 12 September 2025 by Mr. Fariq Naushad (Co-founder, Greenikk). These sessions highlighted real-world entrepreneurial challenges, emphasizing learning from setbacks and adapting to dynamic market conditions. To align students with institutional innovation goals, an Orientation Session on IIC 8.0 Calendar and R&D Activities was conducted on 22 October 2025, addressed by Prof. T. G. Sitharam (Chairman, AICTE). The session provided insights into innovation planning, research opportunities, and structured engagement with national innovation initiatives. To enrich students' technological knowledge, an online session on 'Incubated Startups and the AI Innovation Ecosystem' was conducted on 25 January 2026, where startup representatives shared insights on artificial intelligence, incubation support, and innovation-driven entrepreneurship.

Overall, the IIC activities reflected a well-rounded approach, integrating academic rigor, industry interaction, and practical awareness. The council continues to play a pivotal role in nurturing innovation, critical thinking, and future-ready skills among students.

The Students' Union

The Student Union curated a year of cultural celebration, intellectual inquiry, emotional well-being, and inclusive dialogue. The academic year began on 1 August 2025 with the Annual Orientation Program, welcoming the incoming batch with addresses by Chief Guest Prof. Rajni Abbi, social activist Anjali Bhardwaj, Maharani Mahima Kumari Mewar and alumna-entrepreneur Shubha Lal. One week later, the Student Union hosted the inaugural Baithak: Meet Your Representatives, an open dialogue circle where students engaged directly with the Union, societies, and student groups. The Events Team presented 'The Listening Booth: Ek Mehfil' on 14 August, an open-mic celebration where students shared poetry, music, dance, and spoken word in a retro-tinged atmosphere. India's 79th Independence Day was observed on 15 August with the hoisting of the National Flag by Principal Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja, a ceremonial salute by the 4 Delhi Girls Battalion, and a stirring rendition of Saare Jahan Se Achcha by Dhvani. The Student Council Orientation on 22 August introduced the full council to the student body, with each team outlining its role and flagship initiatives. The Events Team's first mega event, 'Dil Hai Retro', on 27 August, brought together vintage fashion, face painting by HIVE, a ramp walk, and performances by Divyshree and Kashish Pansari.

Teacher's Day celebrations on 10 September involved a program of performances by Dhvani, Saaz, Dance Society, Dramatics Society, Western Music Society, North East Cell, the Student Council, Projekt's short film tribute 'Har Ek Prof Zaroori Hota Hai', and a Bharatnatyam Guru Vandana. On 16 September, the Research and Development Team screened 'Mau: The Spirit Dreams of Cheraw', an award-winning documentary by alumnus and National Award-winning director Ms. Shilpika Bordoloi. The Design and Decor Team hosted 'Rang-e-Sukoon' at Nescafé on 3 November, their first independent event, with the theme 'Let Go and Grow'. 'Suron Ki Mehfil' on 6 November was an acoustic concert by the Events Team featuring LSR's Priyanka and singer Tanmay Maheshwari. The Inclusivity Sensitisation Session on 19 November, with Women's Development Cell, REACH, SC-ST Cell, Queer Collective, and North East Cell, opened with a mime performance on acceptance before expanding into a student-led discussion circle on identity, difference, and belonging. On 21 November, the Research and Development Team screened Abba in collaboration with Projekt and the North East Cell, an award-winning short film from Arunachal Pradesh exploring grief and cultural memory. 'Reflection and Resolution' on 11 February, organised by the Campus and Student Welfare Team near Nescafé, invited students to respond to prompts on gratitude and personal goals, with the wall gradually filling with colourful sticky notes. On 5 February, the Annual Pride Parade, organised by the Queer Collective and Students' Union with support from Dramatics Society, HIVE, the Elocution Society, media partners Photo Room LSR and the Journalism Department, moved through campus in a joyful celebration of love in all its forms. The Events Team's Love in All Directions celebrated love across four activities: rose-making and note-writing, the Hugging Stall, a jamming session, and a joyful close of DJ, photobooth, ramp walk, and face painting. On 19 March 2026, the college hosted a Felicitation Ceremony honouring its alumnae who had cleared the UPSC Civil Services Examination 2025. The ceremony stood as a testament to LSR's legacy of preparing future women leaders. On 7 April 2026, the union organized Gratitude

Day, honouring the administrative and support staff of the college.

Bahubhashi

On 26 August, the Research and Development Team hosted 'Kisso Ka Safar', a pre-Bahubhashi event where freshers shared folk songs, stories, and folktales from across the country. On 13 November, the team hosted 'Samwad Sangam', an inter-department academic pre-Bahubhashi dialogue on identity, language, and belonging. Along with Saaz they hosted the Bahubhashi pre-event and banner reveal, building anticipation for the festival. Project Bahubhashi 2026 unfolded across three days. The first day, 25 February, featured performances by Ms. Arshia Mathur and Mr. Lekshman Raj alongside Projekt's short film Human Tempo. The second day involved student-led cultural exhibitions, stalls, and performances. The festival closed on 27 February with an illuminating lecture by Padmashree awardee and linguist Prof. Anvita Abbi, who said that language carries cultural memory and identity, and that true unity lies in celebrating every voice.

Expert echoes. The Research and Development Team hosted Expert Echoes Episode 2 in collaboration with Hive and Prakriti, featuring artist Mr Santunu Dey. Expert Echoes Episode 3, in collaboration with the Department of Mathematics, brought Dr. Nachiket Mor, former Director on the Central Board of the RBI, for a thought-provoking conversation on reimagining inclusivity beyond entry points and the structural dimensions of equity.

Project Jagriti

Project Jagriti launched its first episode, 'Hands of Harmony', on 19 September in collaboration with REACH, featuring a workshop on Indian Sign Language by Dr Sandesha Rayapa-Garbiyal from JNU. The second episode, Voices in Threads, on 13 October marked the International Day of the Girl Child through a yarn-passing circle activity where students shared reflections on gender, identity, and empowerment.

Campus Conversations Episode 1 on 30 January 2026, under Project Jagriti, featured a screening of the short film Naked directed by Rakesh Kumar, followed by a discussion on digital violation, consent, cybercrime, and gender. Episode 2, themed 'Beyond the Prompt', involved a workshop exploring the impact of AI on creativity and authenticity. Episode 3 explored social media algorithms and fast fashion, uncovering the hidden environmental and human cost behind everyday fashion choices.

Project Sabhavna

The Campus and Student Welfare Team launched Project Sabhavna on 25 September with 'Jazbaat, Rang aur Muskaan', a vibrant pre-launch at Nescafé. On 1 October, a dance movement therapy session, led by certified practitioner Ms Kanupriya, guided students through mirroring exercises and movement activities. Resilience Circle on 14 October, in collaboration with the Department of Psychology as part of Mental Health Awareness Week, brought students together to share stories of personal rebuilding and resilience. Rihayi, a theatre performance by Sukhmanch Theatre Group in collaboration with Project Manthan, brought a powerful portrayal of mental health to the auditorium on 14 November.

Tarang (28 to 30 March 2026)

Tarang 2026, themed Khud Se Mulaqat, was preceded by six pre-events: Mulaqat-e-Sur with singer Sushant Mishra and the date reveal, Antarang with Dance Society, Andaaaz-e-Tarang with Shreya Sharma, Mehfil with Dramatics Society, Mulaqat with Saaz, and Junoon-e-Tarang with Safarnama band. The main festival transformed the campus into a living celebration of art, culture, and identity, with headliners RAVATOR on Day 1, Saaj Bhatt on Day 2, and Navjot Ahuja on Day 3 bringing the theme of self-discovery to life through music that stirred the audience.

Other Developments

Student WiFi was rolled out across campus, and email access was extended to third and fourth-year students. Sanitary pad vending machines were installed across four washrooms in the Old and New Buildings in collaboration with Nua. A Pink Booth was set up by the Delhi Police near the Frank Anthony School Lane, offering students an accessible point of support, reflecting the college's commitment to women's safety.

Extra Curricular Activities

Abhivyakti, Hindi Creative Writing

Abhivyakti, the Hindi Creative Writing Society, serves as a vibrant platform dedicated to fostering creativity and free expression among students. The committee successfully organised various events during this year including 'Slogan writing competition' under Anti ragging week – in collaboration with the Expressions Society to promote a ragging free campus.

Beginning with an orientation session organised for first year students, to various other events like Movie Screenings, and 'Chitthi: Dil Se Dil Tak', to reconnect students with the traditional art of writing letters. Other events for the student body such as a literary discussion on the classic tale, 'Budhi kaki' by the editorial board, events such as 'MIC PE MULAKAT' (Open mic) were held during the tenure.

On the occasion of children's day, 'Muskurahat bachpan ki' was organised to celebrate the joy and innocence of childhood through creative performances. An inter-college poetry symposium (Kavi sammelan) was held under the Pre-bhavakriti banner, revitalizing the tradition of oral literary performance, followed by a flash mob.

The tenure was concluded by the annual event 'Bhawakriti', a two-day inter-college competition which witnessed enormous participation from the student body across Delhi University.

Dance Society

The Dance Society of LSR comprises three wings: Choreography, Classical and the Western wing, each of which presented their annual production across colleges and fests, winning accolades at various stages of the Delhi Dance Circuit.

They society began this tenure with all three wings showcasing various art forms, assimilating them into a single performance for the College's Annual Day celebrations on the 29 April 2025. They further performed on the Orientation Day, which was enthusiastically welcomed by the freshers, who would start their journey here at LSR held on 1 August 2025. The Dance Society also performed for the Teachers' Day on 10 April 2025, making it a glorious event.

As part of the Pre-Tarang celebrations, LSR Dance Society, in collaboration with the Tarang Organizing Committee, organized the Pre-Tarang event: 'Antarang' on 17 March 2026, where they created a medley of dances which began the fervour for the annual cultural fest, Tarang.

As part of Tarang, the Dance Society was successful in organizing its four hallmark events: 'Baila' - the Western group dance competition, 'Battleground' - the Crew vs Crew Street dance battle, 'Izraaz' - the Thematic group dance competition and 'Mudra' - The Indian Classical dance competition over the three days 28, 29 and 30 March 2026. These events garnered huge participation across the teams, making them a huge success.

The highlights of the tenure were the annual productions of all the wings, which were not mere dance performances, but a medium of storytelling with diverse dance forms. The productions addressed relevant social issues and were widely appreciated by all.

With their productions, the Dance Society won various accolades in competitions and fests. The Classical wing won 1st position at Sri Venkateswara College, BITS Pilani, the second position at IPCDW and more to count. The Choreography wing won the first position at Shri Venkateswara College, the second position at BITS Pilani and Gargi College and more. The Western wing was successful in participating in various fests across the circuit bringing the passion and zeal of the Dance Society across different stages.

This tenure marked a successful year for the Dance Society, evident through their creativity, discipline, growth and a common belonging to the passion of dance. They excelled not only in their performances but also fostered unity amongst its members, setting a strong foundation to continue its legacy.

Dhwani – The Indian Music Society

The year 2025–26 has been one of remarkable growth and achievement for Dhwani, the Indian Music Society of the college. Performances, competitions, and community events marked every month of the calendar, reflecting the society's dedication to musical excellence.

The society opened the year with a performance at College Day '25 in April, followed by appearances at the College Orientation and Independence Day celebrations in August. September saw Dhwani honour its teachers with a performance on Teacher's Day and take the stage at the opening ceremony of Compquest '25.

Extra Curricular Activities

The competition circuit proved outstanding. Dhvani brought home podium finishes at IIT Delhi, a second position at IIT Kanpur, and a first position at LNMIIT Jaipur — the society's strongest outstation showings of the year. November featured a collaborative Jam Session with the Department of History and a performance at the Celebration of 150 Years of Sardar Patel.

The undoubted highlight of the year was Anaahad 2025–26, Dhvani's annual flagship event held under the college fest Tarang in March. Drawing over 400 student participants from across Delhi University, the two-day event featured Sugam and Malhaar on 29th March, and Sangam — a Group Indian Classical Choir Competition — on 30th March, making it the grandest edition of Anaahad yet. The year closed with a performance at the Gratitude Day Celebration in April 2026. It has truly been a wonderful year for Dhvani, with 18+ wins across inter-college competitions — a fitting reflection of the talent, dedication, and spirit of its members.

DHYANA

Grounded in its commitment to fostering awareness, critical reflection, and a deeper engagement with the self and the world, Dhyana Society continued to create spaces of introspection this year. We began the year with an unguided walk across campus—an invitation to slow down, notice, and begin afresh. Our first speaker session featured Dr. Gurcharan Das, who encouraged students to think critically about life and meaning. He narrated how a story from the Kathasaritsagara, “The Mouse Merchant,” shifted the vector of his life, teaching him that destiny often takes shape in unexpected ways. Students were especially struck by his emphasis on diary-keeping, reading widely, and cultivating a life beyond mere survival. Carrying forward our cherished “Coffee with Faculty” tradition, we hosted Dr. Vagesh Pawaiya for an intimate exchange of ideas. He stressed the importance of an active life, where mind and body operate in harmony rather than separation. He reflected on nature and possible sources of consciousness, suggesting that moments of distraction may also serve as genuine pauses for reflection. The more discomfort one experiences, he observed, the closer one moves toward consciousness.

As examinations approached, we turned to collective care by inviting students to paint bookmarks, creating a shared space where pressure could soften into presence. This moment of creative respite, offered a quiet breathing space amid the rush of revision and deadlines. With brushes in hand and colours unfolding across small canvases, they paused, breathed, and reconnected with a sense of calm and play. What began as a simple activity became a gentle reminder that care, creativity, and community can coexist even in the most demanding times. The society also screened The Monk with a Camera, opening up quiet reflections on purpose, service, and a meaningful life that begins with clear goals and is sustained by replacing negative thoughts with purposeful, positive thinking.

This year also marked the beginning of a new initiative—our Annual Consciousness Series. As part of this, we were honoured to host Dr. Meenakshi Gopinath, former Principal of LSR, cherished by generations of students and professors, and the guiding force who brought Dhyana to life. She remarked, “Silence is a beautiful sound that allows us to hear ourselves think.” She spoke of Dhyana as more than a society—as a living, dialogic space that nurtures reflection, identity, and the courage to engage with what often remains unspoken. Her reflections, interwoven with personal anecdotes, also evoked the history of LSR and its longstanding commitment to thoughtful and engaged learning. Marking a significant new initiative, we launched the first edition of the Dhyana Magazine, centered on the theme “Mindfulness in the Midst of Digital Noise: Cultivating Awareness Today.”

Dramatics Society

The year 2025–26 has been a landmark one for the LSR Dramatics Society, marked by a strong presence across the theatre circuit and consistent engagement throughout the year. With each performance, workshop and collaboration, the society continued to grow as both an artistic space and a close-knit community.

The tenure began with over 300 applicants at orientation, followed by a 5-day workshop-cum-audition process, resulting in a cohort of 120+ members. Early in the year, the society collaborated with JMC’s nukkad natak society, ‘Kahkasha’, for an inter-college workshop on theatre and women’s camaraderie. Informal engagement was also encouraged through events like the ‘Halloween Bash’.

Workshops remained central to the society’s functioning, with sessions conducted by Harsh Raj Singh (mime), Geetanjali Kalta (music in theatre), and R.K. Bitesh (physical theatre), exposing members to diverse and experimental performance practices.

The society actively contributed to college events. A nukkad natak commemorating Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel was devised for the college’s ‘75 Years of Vande Mataram’ celebrations.

Collaborations included the Queer Collective (Pride Parade), the Political Science Department’s Polpourri and a theatre workshop for the Elocution Society. Two in-house productions were staged- 'Pin Drop Silence' on Teachers' Day and 'Khwabon ka Basta' for NSS Kala, engaging with themes of censorship, identity and stereotypes. Tarang'26 saw the successful execution of 'Muktak', with 20+ participating teams, a footfall of 1000+, and sponsorship support of approximately INR 1.5 lakh in cash and INR 1 lakh in kind.

The highlight of the year was the society's annual productions, which performed extensively and secured major accolades. The annual stage production, 'Bulauwa', performed at 15+ venues and was selected for the prestigious India Habitat Centre Collegiate Theatre Festival, with two housefull shows. It won Best Production at JMC and St. Stephen's College, 1st positions at ARSD college, PGDAV College and Ramanujan College. The play won multiple awards at St. Stephen's including Best Script, Direction, Lights and Sounds. It was also invited to Atelier's Act Season 16 and the Meraki Film Festival.

The annual street production on linguistic chauvinism, was performed at 35+ venues across Delhi, NCR and outstation locations including Manipal University, Jaipur. It secured 1st positions at Jamia Hamdard, NDIM, Roohaniyat by Jijeevisha, Army College of Medical Studies, Maharaja Surajmal Institute of Technology, and Shivaji College, along with Best Play and Best Script at Dyal Singh College (M). It also won multiple awards for Best Direction, Music, and Acting and won the prestigious nukkad natak competition at Madari'26, Sri Venkateswara College.

The annual mime production, 'Pencil ke Daag', secured 3rd position at IIT BHU and was invited to perform at

Extra Curricular Activities

Sunbeam Suncity School, Varanasi, and Atelier's Act Season 16. The ECA production, 'Paritraan', marked a major milestone with a performance at the National School of Drama.

Together, these achievements reflect a year of scale, consistency and success. As we move forward, the society remains committed to pushing creative boundaries and using theatre as a medium for dialogue and change.

Elocution Society

For the academic year 2025-2026, Elocution Society's tenure began with the orientation. It was met with a warm reception from the student body, who showed up in large numbers. 12 September 2025, was marked by 'Reading On An Embargo', a reading circle on banned literature, the event was an immense success and brought to light the many ways in which censorship is wielded to club resistance movements out of sight.

A photowalk to the historical site of Safdarjung Tomb and Lodhi Gardens followed on 21 September 2025, held in collaboration with the Photography and Videography team of the Department of History. The society had the honour of hosting editor and researcher Dilpreet Bhullar in a speaker session titled Photographic Narratives for Reimagination of Documentation on September 25, 2025. The session focused on examining reframing, challenging conventional perspectives, and provided a glimpse into how popular narrative derives from the ocular and the illustrative.

On 30 October 2025, the society organised a screening of the critically-acclaimed 2024 documentary, 'No

Other Land', directed by Basel Adra, Hamdan Ballal, Yuval Abraham and Rachel Szor.

November kicked off with the second edition of 'Reading On An Embargo', conducted on 6 November 2025. The first event of 2026 was held in collaboration with the Books, Films and Heritage Club as a Poetry Reading Session titled Remnants of Amrita Pritam. Held on 18 January 2026 at the Hauz Khas Fort, the session was a dual exploration of the surrounding architecture of the fort, as well as the works of the author.

The theatre workshop held on 25 February 2026, in collaboration with the Dramatics Society, titled Behind The Curtain brought together the art of Elocution with theatre. College's Annual Pride Parade is incomplete without Elocution Society's Open Mic, and this year too, the event returned to eager applications and stellar poetry from participants.

On 10 March 2026, Expressions, the Creative Writing society of LSR College and Elocution Society hosted a dialogic open mic session titled ‘A Room of One’s Own’, in celebration of Women’s Day. March ended with a bang for Elocution Society as the team prepared two events for Tarang, the annual college fest of Lady Shri Ram. The first event, held on 28 March 2026 was ‘End of Beginning’, an inter-college creative writing competition. The event was judged by Sakhi Singh, a slam poet and author.

The day of the Annual Production came on 29 March 2026. This year, the team ditched the old formula in favour of a fresh script that explored marginality. The perennial question of, ‘who gets to speak? Who has a voice?’ is investigated through a theatre production that exposes the ugly underbelly of privilege, and how it hijacks conversations surrounding oppression in favour of playing the good samaritan. The script, the acting and the casting combined to make for an enthralling show, one that captivated audiences and earned favourable reception from students and staff alike.

Enactus

This year, Enactus LSR continued to strengthen its commitment to integrating social entrepreneurship with community upliftment through its flagship initiatives. Enactus LSR launched its newest project, ‘Project Atira’, in collaboration with Calmveda. The project focuses on upcycling temple flower waste into incense sticks, contributing to effective waste management while promoting circular economy practices and creating value from discarded materials.

‘Project Musavvir’ works towards empowering women artisans by equipping them with skills in traditional art forms such as Madhubani and block printing. By bridging the gap between artisans and modern markets, the project promotes cultural preservation while enabling financial independence. This year, the team conducted multiple art workshops to educate participants about these art forms, fostering awareness while expanding its social impact and generating a revenue of over Rs.10k+.

‘Project Vichar’ addresses the pressing issue of stubble burning by converting it into biochar, a soil amender that enhances soil fertility while significantly reducing carbon emissions. Through the development of its own Kontiki model, the project offers an innovative and environmentally conscious solution to a critical ecological challenge.

The society also launched the official Enactus LSR website this year, strengthening its digital presence and outreach. The platform showcases the society’s projects and impact while also enabling direct-to-consumer sales of its products.

Enactus LSR organised 7+ stalls in places such as Select City Walk, Airia Mall etc. showcasing and selling its products while strengthening its market presence, generating a total revenue of Rs. 50k+.

Enactus LSR successfully hosted the 4th edition of ‘Race to Revival’ at Tarang, a gamified competition centred around the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), with participation from 6+ colleges. The event encouraged critical thinking and engagement with sustainability-driven solutions.

On the competitive front, Enactus LSR achieved significant success, emerging as winners at the IIM Bangalore ENS Sustainability Competition, securing second place at EnQuest by Hindu College, and second runner-up at a national Business Plan competition organized by Sri Venkateshwara College.

The society further deepened its on-ground impact through initiatives such as a health camp that reached over 200 individuals and a POCSO awareness session conducted for 30+ children in Zamrudpur.

On 20 September 2025, the society also organised an Alumni Interaction speaker session with Samiksha Rai, Founding Director of Project Saarthi and former Executive Director of Enactus LSR. Project Saarthi focused on upcycling elephant waste into sustainable paper products, eco-friendly alternatives while generating livelihoods. Currently, she is working in the Growth vertical at Urban Company.

During the session, she shared insights from her journey of building and scaling Saarthi, giving members a practical understanding of developing sustainable social enterprises and ensuring long-term impact. Her experience offered valuable perspective and inspired members to think more strategically about the growth and sustainability of their own projects.

As Enactus LSR moves forward, it remains committed to creating sustainable and impactful solutions, continuing its journey of driving meaningful and lasting change.

English Debating Society

The English Debating Society of Lady Shri Ram College for Women witnessed a dynamic and productive tenure in 2025–2026, characterised by a sustained commitment to critical inquiry, inclusive dialogue, and rhetorical excellence. Alongside notable competitive achievements, the society placed emphasis on cultivating a more engaged and collaborative debating culture within the college. The academic year commenced with a carefully structured induction process designed to identify and nurture diverse talent. Moving beyond conventional formats, the society conducted five intellectually engaging rounds, including group discussions, an introduction to debating formats, a session on 'Feminist discourse', a creative writing exercise, and a turncoat debate. These rounds evaluated not only argumentative ability but also creativity, adaptability, and critical thinking. An exhibition debate by senior members further provided new inductees with insight into the rigour and dynamism of competitive debating.

The Intra-College Conventional Debate, held on 8 October 2025, witnessed participation from 30 teams, comprising 60 debaters. The tournament served as a vibrant platform for intellectual exchange, with participants engaging in nuanced and compelling argumentation. Awards were conferred for Best Speaker (For), Best Speaker (Against), and Best Team, in keeping with the society's tradition of recognising excellence.

A significant highlight of the year was the LSR 'Parliamentary Debate', the society's flagship tournament, conducted entirely offline after a hiatus of seven years. The tournament hosted 30 teams and was adjudicated by a distinguished panel comprising 30 competing judges, 15 invited judges, and a Core Adjudication Panel of 5 members, reflecting both scale and organisational proficiency.

Beyond competitive engagements, the society remained committed to fostering a sustained culture of dialogue and intellectual engagement. 'Reading Circles' were organised throughout the year to encourage critical engagement with diverse texts, while General Body Meetings strengthened internal cohesion and facilitated meaningful exchanges of ideas.

The society also collaborated with the SC/ST Cell during Ambedkar Jayanti Week for 'Samanvay'26', organising a turncoat debate featuring over ten speakers. The event enabled nuanced discussions on themes of identity, power, and social justice.

Throughout the year, members represented the college at various inter-collegiate platforms, upholding the legacy of excellence associated with LSR's debating circuit through consistently commendable performances. The tenure of 2025–2026 thus reflects a period of growth, consolidation, and continued dedication to intellectual rigour and institutional excellence.

Entrepreneurship Cell

The year 2025-26 marked a significant milestone for the Entrepreneurship Cell, as it celebrated a decade of fostering innovation, leadership, and entrepreneurial spirit. Over the past ten years, the Cell has evolved into a dynamic platform that nurtures ideas and enables students to engage meaningfully with the start-up ecosystem. This landmark year was commemorated through high impact initiatives, along with efforts to reconnect with alumni and senior members who have been integral to its journey.

One of the flagship initiatives was Founders' Forum 2.0 hosted on 25 September 2025, a curated roundtable that brought together 12+ multi-million dollar and Shark Tank-featured founders from ventures such as Aristavault, Outmatch, Nef's Finds, and Dohful. The forum enabled insightful cross-sector dialogue, allowing participants to engage directly with experienced entrepreneurs and gain valuable industry perspectives.

Building on this momentum, Shark Tank Pitching Wars, which happened on 26 September 2025 emerged as a marquee competition, attracting 1000+ registrations and 46.6K+ impressions. The event culminated in a competitive final round, where 9 national level teams pitched their ideas before a panel of 4 industry experts and a live audience, showcasing innovation, strategy, and entrepreneurial thinking.

Beyond events, the Cell placed a strong emphasis on creating high-value knowledge resources. It developed a comprehensive Start-up Guide and an Industry Primer across 12 sectors, designed to distill complex concepts into clear, actionable insights for students stepping into the start-up ecosystem.

Simultaneously, the Cell undertook three live consulting and marketing projects across diverse sectors, including Ginger Games (gaming), Fitsol (climate tech), and Frozen Fun (F&B retail). These projects enabled members to collaborate with early-stage ventures, delivering targeted growth strategies while gaining hands-on experience.

Pioneering a new chapter in its journey, the Cell ideated its first ever in-house start-up, DealDock. Through 200+ on ground interactions, the initiative onboarded 150+ vendors and rolled out a pilot with 14 partners, reflecting a hands-on approach to building solutions from the ground up.

The Cell also curated Season 2 of Voices of Influence (5 February 2026), featuring Navan Jaiswal (Founder, Ekam Studios; Ex-Founder, Circle Pe). The session offered candid insights into entrepreneurship, scaling, and brand-building, fostering deeper engagement within the student community.

Expressions

The academic year of 2025–2026 for Expressions Society was marked by a sustained commitment to cultivating an inclusive and intellectually engaging space for writers. Recognising that creative expression is often shaped by unequal access and experiences of isolation, the Society endeavoured to foster a supportive environment where individuals could engage in reflective writing, dialogue, and critical thought. Writing, in this context, was positioned not merely as a skill but as a meaningful artistic and intellectual practice by society.

A significant initiative undertaken during the year was the Monthly ‘Living Poets Society’ sessions. Reimagined as a “living” counterpart to a traditional Dead Poets Society, these sessions created an active, participatory platform where writers themselves became the centre of dialogue and expression. Conducted on a regular monthly interval, the sessions engaged with a diverse range of themes, including reinterpretations of childhood cultural texts and nuanced media, explorations of everyday narratives associated with politics and environment, and reflections on transitional experiences such as beginnings in college life. These engagements facilitated both individual introspection and the development of a collective sense of belonging.

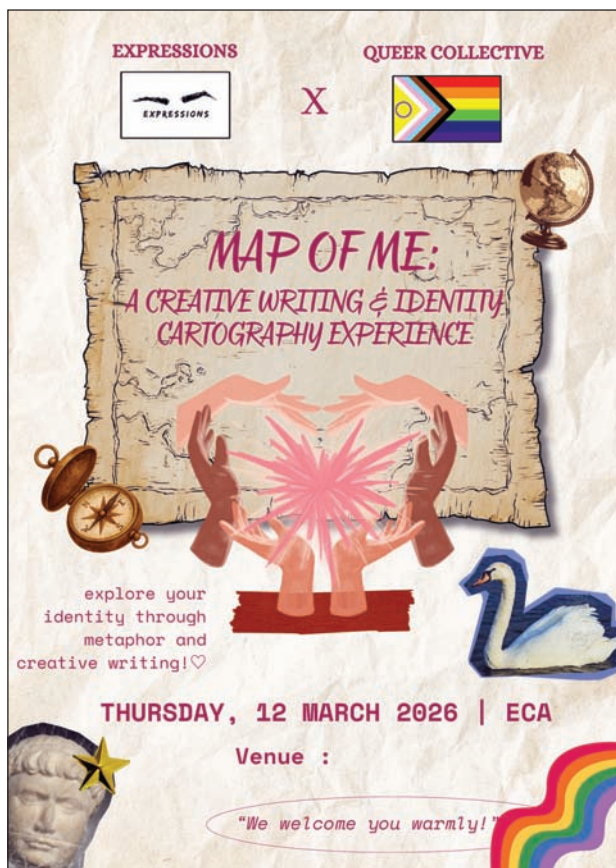

In addition to its internal programming, the Society prioritised collaborative engagements to encourage interdisciplinary and intersectional dialogue. In collaboration with Interface, a discussion was organised on Robert Nozick’s ‘Experience Machine’ thought experiment on 29 January 2026, fostering philosophical inquiry among participants. The Society also partnered with the SC/ST Cell on 14 November 2025 for a session titled 'Gender, Caste, Concealment and Dalit Perspectives', based on Yashica Dutt's memoir, which facilitated critical engagement with questions of identity and representation. Further, a creative map-making initiative was conducted in collaboration with the Queer Collective on 19 March 2026, encouraging alternative modes of self-expression and spatial imagination. An open mic session inspired by Virginia Woolf's 'A Room of One's Own' was organised in observance of Women's Day (10 March 2026), providing a platform for participants to articulate personal and political narratives.

The Society also extended its outreach beyond the college through collaborations with external societies in the form of Creative Writing Competition across the University of Delhi on 14 February 2026. These interactions contributed to the exchange of diverse perspectives and strengthened the Society's commitment to building a broader creative and intellectual community.

Overall, the activities undertaken during the year reflect the Expressions Society's continued dedication to inclusivity, critical engagement, and creative exploration, reinforcing its role as a space for meaningful literary and cultural dialogue.

Vaktriva, Hindi Debating Society

During the 2025–26 session, Vaktriva actively promoted the art of debate through workshops and inter-college competitions, making debating more inclusive and dynamic. Early in the session, the society conducted both offline and online workshops on debating patterns and techniques for freshers and members, covering history in debates, parliamentary formats, philosophy in argumentation, and adjudication methods.

On 20 November 2025, the society hosted the Fresher's Conventional Debate, 'Vakyanjali', with 32 teams from across the university and a panel of three senior adjudicators. The tournament was won by Hindu College.

Extra Curricular Activities

Our annual two-day parliamentary debate, 'Tarkvyuh', held on 23–24 February 2026, saw participation from 36 teams and 28 adjudicators. The final round featured a nine-member adjudication panel and was won by Shaheed Bhagat Singh (Morning) College. The event was inaugurated by Principal, Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja and Staff Advisors Dr. Sunita Gurung and Dr. Surya Dev Bahuguna, fostering vibrant discussion on diverse issues.

HIVE SOCIETY

The Fine Arts Society of Lady Shri Ram college, experienced a vibrant and creatively enriching year, with a community of over 60 members who actively contributed to the artistic culture of the college. The society maintained a strong presence across various inter and intra college competitions, with members earning multiple accolades at esteemed institutions throughout the year. Moreover, Hive teamed up with the Queer Collective, Student Union, and Entrepreneurship Cell for face painting activities that brought a sense of fun and expression to campus, turning ordinary spaces into moments of colour, interaction, and shared creativity.

One of the most meaningful moments of the year was the mural created in collaboration with the SC/ST Cell, which came together as a shared expression of inclusivity and collective voices. The society also installed a Lippan art creation in the Lower Foyer, introducing a traditional art form into the campus in a way that invited students to actually pause, notice, and connect with it. Hive also collaborated with French street artist, Kesadi, whose work is rooted in graffiti and street culture, to create a striking mural that brought a new visual language to campus walls, different from the other murals. Both the Lippan installation and the mural by Kesadi attracted attention from prominent publications such as The Times of India and Hindustan Times, marking a valuable moment of wider recognition for the society.

The society also put together a calendar showcasing 12 original artworks by its members, which received a warm response, with many pieces being bought, and also gave artists an opportunity to share their work with a wider audience. During Noor, Hive hosted a stall that showcased and sold a diverse range of original creations, including stickers, crochet keychains, prints, bookmarks, and posters as well as a live face painting station. This gave artists a space to display their work while also encouraging a stronger sense of appreciation and support for their creativity .

Hive also collaborated with the English Department for an exhibition titled 'Translating Crisis', organised as part of their pre-Litmus event, where students explored ideas of conflict, interpretation, and expression through their artwork in a thoughtful and personal way. The society also partnered with Prakriti to host an interactive speaker session, creating space for dialogue and learning beyond studio practice.

The year came to a close with Tarang, where Hive curated a meaningful exhibition featuring over 20 artworks across canvases and watercolours under the theme 'Kintsugi of the Mind'. The event also included competitions such as ‘Relay canvas’ based on shared memory, ‘Three-colour palette challenges’, and ‘Comic strip creation’, encouraging collaboration, spontaneity, and innovation. Altogether, the year reflected Hive’s commitment to building an inclusive, dynamic, and deeply creative artistic community.

Interface

The year 2025–26 has been a dynamic and intellectually enriching journey for Interface, the academic forum of Lady Shri Ram College. Over the course of the year, Interface has evolved not only as a platform for academic engagement but also as a vibrant space for dialogue, critical inquiry, and interdisciplinary exploration. Through a diverse range of initiatives, the society has sought to cultivate curiosity, encourage nuanced perspectives, and foster a community grounded in thoughtful exchange. Interface also introduced the ‘Research Wing’ this year.

Interface’s reading circles formed the backbone of its academic engagement this tenure, bringing together participants to deliberate on themes such as transgender inclusion in sports, the role of social media in shaping political opinion, and body positivity. These sessions created an open and reflective environment where participants could engage with complex issues through discussion and collective learning. Complementing these was our blog ‘Alexandria’ that explored feminist themes, contemporary socio-political issues, imposter syndrome, and evolving interpretations of romance in the modern age, offering members a space to articulate and refine their ideas.

The society’s Research Wing contributed significantly through its interdisciplinary research newsletter, which showcased diverse academic perspectives and encouraged rigorous inquiry. Interface also organized a research training bootcamp featuring distinguished speakers, aimed at equipping students with essential tools for academic writing and research.

Expanding into more interactive formats, Interface hosted a journalism simulation competition that challenged participants to think critically, respond to evolving scenarios, and engage with media ethics in real time. The society also collaborated with the Queer Collective of LSR to foster inclusive conversations, reflecting its commitment to intersectional and diverse perspectives.

The society also had the privilege of hosting a speaker session on 13 November 2025, titled, ‘The Poetry of Perseverance’ with Ms. Vinayana Khurana, a disability inclusion activist and a poet, whose insights encouraged deeper reflection on inclusivity and lived experiences.

Among its larger engagements as part of Tarang, Interface organized a national academic paper presentation competition that provided participants with a platform to present and defend their ideas in a formal setting. As a second event of Tarang, ‘Major Madness 3.0’, featuring an across-campus treasure hunt was held, which combined intellectual challenges with team-based problem solving, drawing enthusiastic participation.

Through these varied initiatives, Interface has continued to build a space that not only promotes academic excellence but also values dialogue, inclusivity, and critical engagement. Further, with the Social Media Wing, the society’s reach was amplified with informative posts spanning a wide array of topics, making academic content more accessible and engaging. Thus, the year stands as a testament to the society’s commitment to creating meaningful intellectual experiences while nurturing a collaborative and reflective community.

MUN and Public Speaking Society

The LSR MUN and Public Speaking Society commenced the year with the recruitment of 24 directors and 121 associates across 8 teams and 1200+ open society members. The society organised its Annual Fresher’s Competition in September and witnessed enthusiastic and zealous participation from first-year students. The exceptional performers from this competition were recruited into the teams of their choice.

In its continued commitment to inclusivity, the society partnered with REACH to organise ‘Words Beyond Sight’, challenging biases in public speaking. A Media Crisis Committee was also hosted by the society in collaboration with the Department of Journalism as part of their Annual Cultural Meet, Juxtapose. In line with its focus on how real life diplomacy works, the society hosted speaker sessions with Ambassador Ashok Kantha (former Indian ambassador to China), Ambassador Manjeev Singh Puri (former Indian ambassador to European Union, Nepal, Belgium and Luxembourg), Mr. Shivshankar Menon (former National Security Advisor and Foreign Secretary of India) and Ambassador Gautam Mukhopadhaya (former Indian ambassador to Myanmar, Afghanistan and Syria).

The society also conducted a Public Speaking Workshop by Mr. Pravar Dennison (Global UGRAD Scholar, U.S. Department of State) on 13th November 2025. The Annual Training Bootcamp, held from 20–22 November 2025, offered members intensive MUN training, documentation workshops, and a speaker session by Hrithik Singh (Sub-Regional Manager, UNDP).

In addition to this, the society conducted two online alumni sessions with Ms. Sumridhi Kaur (Batch of 2017, Department of English, former Research Head of LSR MUN Society) who is a current Litigation Associate at Dechert LLP, London and holds JD from Cornell Law School and with Ms. Chetna Hareesh Kumar (Batch of 2019, Department of Economics, former Research Head of LSR MUN Society) who is a current Climate Policy Analyst at NewClimate Institute and holds a Master's in International Economic Policy from Sciences Po, Paris.

As part of its Annual Conference, the society held two flagship events in collaboration with the Hertie School, Germany: the Annual Policy Case Competition on the theme 'Regulating the AI Infrastructure Economy' and the Annual Paper Presentation Competition on the 'Politics of the Invisibilised'. Another flagship event, the NGO Committee, was held in collaboration with CanKids. Prior to the simulation, society members conducted multiple training sessions with the children to prepare them for committee proceedings.

The Annual Conference, 'Purpose Over Privilege', simulated the United Nations General Assembly II (ECOFIN), United Nations Security Council (UNSC), Lok Sabha, and United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC), along with the International Press.

The United Nations General Assembly committee witnessed highly engaging and well-researched deliberations on the evolving dynamics of resource geopolitics, with a focused analysis on U.S.

interventions in Venezuela. The United Nations Security Council committee engaged in intense and high-level deliberations on the Russia-Ukraine conflict, reflecting the urgency and complexity of contemporary global security challenges. The United Nations Human Rights Council committee facilitated deeply impactful discussions on the implementation of the UN CRPD, focusing on bridging gaps in education and employment for persons with disabilities. The Lok Sabha committee critically examined the balance between tribal autonomy and national integration, reflecting strong constitutional understanding and political awareness. The International Press functioned as a dynamic and integral pillar of the conference wherein journalists demonstrated strong research, analytical, and writing skills through diverse outputs including reports, editorials, and feature pieces. The closing ceremony of the annual conference saw Ms. Esha Srivastava (Joint Secretary in the Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas, Government of India) as the esteemed chief guest, whose insights into the current state of diplomacy inspired all delegates.

The society's publications were curated and released throughout the year, reaching a wide readership of over 10,000 people. The annual newsletter Concordia, published under the theme 'Identity, Power and Propaganda: Discourses that Shape the Global Order' and the annual academic journal 'The Denouement', both saw an overwhelming response, with students bringing fresh and incisive perspectives to some of the most pressing questions shaping our world today.

PRAKRITI

With a continued commitment to fostering environmental responsibility as both an intellectual pursuit and a lived practice, Prakriti, the environmental society of Lady Shri Ram College for Women, curated a series of initiatives in the academic year 2025–26 that wove together awareness, creativity, and experiential learning.

The Society began its tenure by engaging in critical discourse, wherein “In Conversation with Dr. Sujata Roy Abhijat: Ecofeminism – Indian Perspective” (25 September 2025) was organised in collaboration with the Department of Philosophy. The session explored the intersections of gender, ecology, and social justice, encouraging participants to reflect on the uneven impact of environmental crises and the role of feminist thought in ecological movements.

Building upon this theoretical foundation, the Society moved towards creative and participatory expressions of sustainability. The Stone Painting Workshop (12 November 2025) and the Sun Printing Workshop (20 November 2025) invited participants to engage with nature through art, demonstrating how ecological consciousness can be cultivated through tactile, aesthetic practices. The Sun Printing Workshop used turmeric-stained paper exposed to sunlight to create prints without harmful chemicals or emissions.

On 15 January 2026, as part of the Expert Echoes series, in collaboration with the Hive Society and the Students’ Union R&D Team, Mr. Santanu Dey spoke on the theme “Echoes of a Broken World: Healing Nature and Self.” Through artworks created from discarded materials, the session reimagined waste as a medium of expression, foregrounding the relationship between environmental degradation and creative resistance.

The Society further extended learning beyond the classroom through an educational visit to Tilpath Valley Biodiversity Park on 1 February 2026. Engaging in a bird census and biodiversity observation, participants experienced environmental knowledge as active, situated learning. The visit also highlighted the medicinal uses of native flora and the importance of ecological balance.

A series of hands-on workshops in February emphasized sustainability within everyday life. The Bio-enzyme Workshop (3 February 2026) and EcoCare Workshop (4 February 2026) introduced participants to eco-friendly alternatives, while the Paper-Making

Workshops (5 and 10 February 2026) demonstrated the transformative potential of recycling through the creation of seed paper.

Complementing these initiatives, the E-Waste Awareness Programme by Ms. Nikita Kuhar (6 February 2026) sensitized students to the environmental and health implications of improper waste disposal. An e-waste collection bin was installed by Greenecolink to enable responsible e-waste disposal. A reading circle on Andreas Malm's Fossil Capital (11 February 2026) fostered critical engagement with the structural dimensions of climate change, while the Best Out of Waste Workshop (17 February 2026) reinforced the principles of reuse and responsible consumption.

During Tarang 2026, Prakriti extended its impact across the wider student community through the "Sustainable Campus" Inter-college Photography Competition (28 March 2026) and the "Delhi Decoded: Sustainable Waste Policy Challenge" (29 March 2026), encouraging interdisciplinary approaches to environmental problem-solving and creative expression.

Through this diverse range of initiatives, Prakriti's work in 2025–26 emphasized that environmental education is not merely informational, but experiential, creative, and critically engaged. By bridging theory with practice and reflection with action, the society continued to cultivate a nuanced and participatory culture of sustainability within the college community.

PROJEKT

PROJEKT, LSR's film, photography, and scriptwriting society, had a vibrant and productive year in 2025–26. The year began with the Projekt Photowalk, a campus walkabout that welcomed freshers into the society, giving them an opportunity to explore their surroundings through photography while interacting with seniors.

A landmark initiative this year was 'Projekt Pathshala' (5–8 October 2025), a four-day workshop which was open to all students of the college. At Projekt, we believe that while the creative instinct of an individual cannot be taught, the technical skills of filmmaking, photography and scriptwriting can be. Informally, these skills had always been passed down from one batch to the next through productions and photowalks. However, this year, we chose to formalise that tradition, giving it the shape of Projekt Pathshala. The workshop covered scriptwriting and editing (conducted online) as well as photography and filmmaking (held offline).

In September 2025, Projekt celebrated Teacher's Day with a heartfelt film honouring the faculty of the college, rounded off with a lighthearted spoof that drew warm appreciation from staff and students alike. In February 2026, for the first time, Projekt was commissioned by the college to create a film for Bahubashi, the college's cultural fest. The film, titled 'Human Tempo', was a silent film to showcase how love, support and humanity transcend every culture. Alongside this society-led production, individual members were encouraged to undertake their own film projects, fostering a culture of independent creative expression within the society.

The society also had many collaborations during the year. PROJEKT partnered with the BAP Department to screen 'Humans in the Loop' and with the Queer Collective for the screening of 'Oranges in the Winter Sun'. In the lead-up to Bahubashi, PROJEKT also screened 'Aaba' in collaboration with the R&D Team of the Student's Union and the NE Cell.

The tenure drew to a close on a powerful note with 'Kissa Kursi Ka', PROJEKT's multimedia exhibition at Tarang. The exhibition centred on a simple but piercing observation: those who make the chairs never get to sit on them. Through film, photography, and installations, it paid tribute to the craftsmen, artisans, and everyday workers of the country, holding up a mirror to the quiet and persistent divide between those who hold power and those who are exploited by it.

Queer Collective

This year, the Queer Collective invigorated the campus of LSR with passion, creativity, and love in its purest form. Far from being a token space on campus, it became a house of revolution, testing what that truly demands in classrooms, in culture, and in the small, everyday negotiations of identity. The year 2025–26 marked a meaningful and engaging journey, as the Collective, through discussions, screenings, collaborations, and campus-wide events, continued to create safe, inclusive spaces while fostering a strong sense of community, celebrating queer culture, the fight for freedom, and the enduring presence of love in this world.

The year began with an orientation for students on 21 August 2025, introducing them to the Collective's vision and support systems. The session created a warm and welcoming environment, concluding with an interactive bingo activity that encouraged participants to share their experiences and connect with one another.

Throughout the year, the Collective organised a range of events centred on dialogue and awareness. In collaboration with Projekt, on 16 October 2025, a screening of 'Oranges in the Winter Sun', directed by LSR alumna Anureet Watta, was held, followed by a discussion that moved beyond interpretation into critiquing questions of visibility and how cultural specificity complicates the idea of a "universal" queer experience.

A discussion circle with Interface on 14 November 2025 explored transgender inclusion in sports, focusing on fairness, equality, and representation. The Collective also conducted an 'Inclusivity sensitisation session' on 19 November 2025 with the Students' Union and other inclusivity cells, including the SC/ST Cell, North East Cell, Women's Development Cell, and REACH. Through a short mime act and an interactive discussion, the session encouraged students to reflect on inclusivity in everyday spaces and their role in building a more supportive campus.

The Pride Week (2-8 February 2026) was a highlight of the year, bringing together a series of interactive and collaborative events. These included a jamming session with Saaz, a trivia event with the Quiz Society, a treasure hunt with the Department of Journalism and multiple activity stalls.

The Annual Pride Parade, organised in collaboration with the Students' Union, Dramsoc, Hive, Photoroom, and the Elocution Society, stood out as the flagship event. Beginning with a face painting session, the parade moved across the campus, creating a visible and celebratory space for expression and solidarity. This was followed by a fashion showcase and an open mic, where students shared music, poetry, and personal narratives.

The week concluded with a themed treasure hunt in collaboration with the Journalism Department. The tenure came to a close with 'Map of Me', a collaborative session with Expressions that encouraged participants to explore identity through creative writing and reflection.

QUIZ

The academic year commenced with open society recruitment through our induction quiz — the NewGEN-eration Quiz — designed to assess and welcome new members across diverse interests and knowledge domains. Following the selection process, the society was structured into dedicated sub-teams to streamline operations and ensure focused output.

The Quiz Society actively engaged with the broader college community through interdisciplinary collaborations and departmental outreach, reinforcing the role of quizzing as an inclusive intellectual exercise. The society co-hosted quizzes in partnership with the following:

History Department – a quiz hosted in collaboration with their department fest, centred on the theme 'Destruction and Reimagination', Queer Collective – a pop-culture and general quiz celebrating LGBTQ+ history, culture, and representation, SC-ST Cell – a collaboration on the occasion of Ambedkar Jayanti, themed 'Margin and Movements: Community, Folklore, Literature and Resistance'

In addition, society members hosted dedicated quiz events for the Political Science Department and the Sociology Department, offering tailored content aligned with each discipline's academic focus.

To keep the intellectual momentum alive within the team and foster a culture of continuous learning, the society hosted two internal quiz sessions:

India Quiz – covering anything and everything related to India — its history, politics, geography, culture, sports, entertainment, and current affairs, 2016 Internet Quiz – a nostalgic deep-dive into the defining moments, trends, and viral phenomena of the internet in 2016.

The society's first major event of the year, 'Stars Aligned', was hosted over two days (20–21 November 2025) and drew an audience of 150+ attendees across both days. The event featured four quizzes: SpEnt (Sports and Entertainment Quiz) – main quiz covering a wide sweep of global and Indian sports and entertainment; Hist-Pol-Mythology Quiz – main quiz engaging participants on history, political events, and mythology; Anime Filler – a fan-favourite round for anime enthusiasts and War & Propaganda Filler – a themed round on historical warfare and propaganda.

The society's marquee annual event, Justaju, was held over three days (28–30 March 2026) as part of Tarang, the college's annual cultural festival. The event began with a pre-event open 'Pop Culture Quiz' hosted at Nescafe, building anticipation and widening participation ahead of the main programme. The main event brought together 300+ attendees and featured India and MELA Quiz – main quiz hosted by Factaco, a renowned external quizzing organisation; General Quiz – main quiz conducted by Mr. Aryapriya Ganguly, a distinguished name in the Indian quizzing circuit; FFLT Filler (Food, Fashion, Lifestyle & Travel) – an in-house themed round and Internet Filler – an in-house round on internet culture, memes, and digital trends.

REACH – EQUAL OPPORTUNITY CELL

The year 2025-26 has been an eventful and impactful for the REACH, Equal Opportunity Cell at Lady Shri Ram College. Dedicated to fostering an inclusive and accessible campus for students with disabilities, the Cell marked a year of meaningful initiatives, institutional milestones, and lasting community engagement.

The REACH, Equal Opportunity Cell began with a Pre-Orientation Activity on 21 August 2025. A rolling board was placed for students to record their reflections on the question “What do you understand by inclusivity?” and to leave compliments. The activity also served to introduce the incoming student body to the REACH Cell. This was followed by a dedicated orientation on 22 August 2025 for first-year students with disabilities, ensuring that new buddies were welcomed and informed of the Cell, its support systems, and the peer networks available to them.

On 19 September 2025, REACH EOC hosted an interactive session, ‘Hands of Harmony’, in collaboration with the events team under project Jagriti of Students Union which was led by Dr. Sandesha Rayapa Garbiyal, Professor at Jawahar Lal Nehru University. The session offered participants a deeper understanding of Indian Sign Language, fostering awareness and meaningful engagement with the lived experiences of the deaf community.

This was followed by a session ‘Words Beyond Sight’ on 25 September 2025, organized in collaboration with the MUN Society of the college. The event encouraged participants to engage with perspectives on visual impairment and explore modes of expression beyond the visual realm. On 9 October 2025, the EOC set up a stall on Varshik Samaroh.

Extra Curricular Activities

On 13 October 2025, the EOC organised an impactful speaker session on 'Poetry of Perseverance' in collaboration with Interface, featuring Ms Vinayana Khurana, which aimed to shed light on courage and resilience, leaving the audience with powerful reflections.

Recognising that marginality is rarely singular, REACH EOC collaborated with the Students' Union and other equal opportunity cells on 19 November 2025 to facilitate a comprehensive 'Inclusivity Sensitization Session' to create a shared space for dialogue that traversed issues of disability, caste, regional identity, and intersecting forms of systemic exclusion within the academic environment.

A defining institutional achievement of the year was the reopening of the 'Swavalamban Resource Centre' on 23 November 2025, inaugurated by Prof. Pankaj Arora. Now equipped with contemporary assistive devices, the Centre marked a concrete step toward fulfilling the institution's commitment to accessibility and the structural inclusion of students with disabilities.

The year concluded with 'Parwaaz', the Annual Fest themed 'Advancing Critical Conversations on Equity, Support, and Sensitization', held on 17-18 March 2026. The two-day fest brought together esteemed speakers, thought-provoking discussions, and dynamic competitions, including debates and case study events, and a talent hunt for students with disabilities. Parwaaz stood as a testament to the Cell's unwavering commitment to fostering a more accessible, equitable, and inclusive campus.

SPICMACAY

The SPICMACAY chapter of Lady Shri Ram College for Women had a vibrant and enriching tenure during the academic year 2025–2026, marked by a series of thoughtfully curated events aimed at promoting Indian classical arts and heritage among students.

The session commenced with the Freshers' Orientation held on 21 August 2025. The event saw an enthusiastic participation from over 30 students. Members of the society, along with student volunteers, warmly welcomed the incoming batch and introduced them to the vision and legacy of SPICMACAY. We were honoured to host Ms Rashmi Malik, Chairperson of SPICMACAY, as the guest speaker. Her address provided valuable insights into the organisation's mission and encouraged students to actively engage with Indian cultural traditions. The session was highly interactive, with several students staying back to engage in meaningful conversations, reflecting their keen interest and curiosity.

The cultural season was formally launched with a Kathakali dance recital by the renowned maestro Thiruvattar B. Jagadeesan and his team on 9 October 2025, at the Ramakrishna Dalmia Auditorium. The event began with a warm welcome, the ceremonial lighting of the lamp, and an inspiring address by the Principal, followed by the felicitation of the artists. The performance was preceded by an insightful introduction, which helped the audience appreciate the nuances of the art form. Shri Jagadeesan, a recipient of the Senior Fellowship from the Government of India's Department of Culture, captivated the audience with his exceptional command over Kathakali. The session included a demonstration of mudra abhinaya, where students were encouraged to participate, followed by expressive portrayals of the Nava Rasas and episodes from the Ramayana and Mahabharata. The recital concluded with a powerful Kathakali padam, leaving the audience spellbound. The auditorium was filled, including students from Bluebells International School, whose enthusiasm and engagement added to the event's vibrancy.

participate actively. Her vivid storytelling and deep knowledge brought the monument's history to life, making the experience both educational and immersive.

Overall, the year 2025–2026 was marked by meaningful cultural exchange, active student participation, and a renewed appreciation for India's rich artistic and historical heritage.

The society further extended its engagement beyond the classroom through a Heritage Walk at Safdarjung Tomb on 8 February 2026, led by historian Ms Aradhana Sinha. Students assembled at 8:15 AM, and the walk commenced at 8:30 AM with a brief introduction of the historian by the society's President. Ms Sinha conducted the walk engagingly and interactively, weaving historical narratives with thoughtful questions that encouraged students to observe, reflect, and

VAPP

The Voluntary Agency Placement Programme (VAPP) continued to advance its commitment to fostering socially responsible, critically engaged, and community-oriented students through a range of structured initiatives undertaken during the academic year. Rooted in experiential learning and social justice, VAPP functioned as an interface between academic inquiry and grassroots engagement.

Extra Curricular Activities

A key component was the facilitation of student access to opportunities within the development sector. Over 40 internship and volunteer opportunities were circulated across NGOs, grassroots organisations, and think tanks, with few offering stipends ranging from ₹12,000 to ₹18,000. This endeavour enhanced students' professional exposure and enabled meaningful engagement with the social sector. The initiative witnessed active student participation across disciplines, strengthening interdisciplinary engagement and collaborative learning.

A significant academic milestone was the revival of 'Pulse', VAPP's bi-annual newsletter, after a hiatus of three years. Two editions 'Politics of Help: Who Gets to be the Helper?' and 'Politics of Silence: Who Benefits When We Don't Speak?' provided a platform for critical student-led discourse on power, marginalisation, and voice, re-establishing the newsletter as a space for reflective engagement with contemporary socio-political issues.

VAPP also organised an online photography competition titled 'Invisible Walls', encouraging participants to document invisible structures of exclusion and marginalisation, thereby combining creative expression with social awareness.

Community engagement remained central to VAPP's work through two collection drives. A collection drive conducted in collaboration with Project Akira and Project Tawwaqo from 28 August to 6 September 2025, facilitated the collection and distribution of essential items to Afghan refugees in Jangpura and underprivileged women in Zamrudpur. A clothing donation drive with Project Kalakriti from 18 February to 25 February 2026 supported Self-Help Group members in Sarita Vihar. These efforts reinforced values of dignity, empathy, and collective responsibility.

The society further engaged students in environmental discourse through a panel discussion titled 'Busting Sustainability Myths' on 18 September 2025, featuring Kavitha (Programme Manager), Urvi Dhar (Project Coordinator), and Vishal Sharma (Assistant Project Coordinator) from Saahas NGO. The session promoted a critical understanding of sustainability practices. Additionally, the revival of the field visit to Goonj Learning Centre on 15 November 2025 provided experiential exposure to a dignity-centric development model, enhancing students' understanding of sustainable resource utilisation and community-led initiatives.

Campus engagement included a block printing stall at the NSS Varshik Samaroh, promoting sustainable practices and traditional crafts. VAPP also organised a screening of 'Accsex' (2013) on 16 October 2025 under the DEI initiative "Red Flags in Representation," followed by discussions on disability, representation, and inclusion, encouraging critical engagement with ableist narratives.

Creative engagement was further fostered through 'Charms Making' and 'Paper Quilling' workshops held on 29 and 30 March 2026 respectively at Tarang '26, aligned with the theme "Khud Se Mulaqat." Conducted in collaboration with small businesses and NGOs, these workshops promoted self-expression while supporting sustainable livelihoods.

Additionally, VAPP supported the DEI-led Scholarship Circulation initiative, through which 10 scholarship opportunities were disseminated, enhancing awareness and accessibility of higher education opportunities through timely and reliable information. Overall, VAPP's initiatives reflect a sustained commitment to integrating academic learning with social engagement, fostering critical consciousness, and nurturing empathetic and responsible citizenship in alignment with the broader objectives of holistic education and social responsibility.

Women Development Cell

In the academic year 2025-26, the Women's Development Cell (WDC) organized a series of events to foster critical reflection on gender, societal expectations, and campus inclusivity. The activities aimed to challenge normalized patriarchal structures and empower students through active dialogue. The tenure began on 7 September, 2025, with an online screening of the film 'Ghar Ki Murgi', which illuminated the invisible domestic labor and emotional burdens placed on women. Discussions centered on the idiom 'Ghar ki murgi, daal barabar', exploring how familial dependency often undervalues women's contributions. Shortly after, on 18 September 2025, a 'Let's Talk' session on 'Choice Feminism' saw participants debate whether choices in lifestyle and appearance are truly autonomous or shaped by patriarchal consumerism.

In October, the focus shifted to Marginalization and mental health. On 5 October 2025, WDC screened the documentary 'The Children Trapped in Bangladesh's Brothel Village', prompting dialogues on destigmatizing sex workers and institutional accountability. Coinciding with World Mental Health Day on October 10, guest speakers Atishya Dhankar and Tahriem Shibli, both counselling psychologists, led a session titled 'Unspoken Anger, Hidden Bonds and Silenced Voices', where they reframed women's anger as a healthy expression of agency. The month concluded with a second 'Let's Talk' session on 'Political Voice: Solidarity, substitution and the space between' on 16 October 2025, where students unpacked the ethics of representation and the necessity of making space for marginalized groups to speak for themselves.

November's programming highlighted subtle coercion and intersectional inclusivity. On 13 November 2025, the session 'Soft Violence: When Care Conceals Control' examined how benevolent sexism and surveillance, disguised as protection, often restrict women's autonomy. On 19 November 2025, an 'Inclusivity Sensitization Session', held collaboratively with the Students' Union and multiple college cells, initiated a vital campus-wide practice of empathy by tackling heteronormativity and caste-based stereotypes.

The tenure culminated on 10 April, 2026, with the flagship annual fest, AAINA'26, themed 'Paradox'. The event featured speaker Ami Sahgal, who focused on rethinking sexual and reproductive health and rights in the Indian context. Through this session and a zine-making activity on 'Personal Paradoxes', AAINA challenged students to move beyond celebratory narratives of empowerment and confront the unresolved contradictions of contemporary society. By fostering a culture of rigorous inquiry and reflexive solidarity, the WDC continues to ensure that the pursuit of gender justice remains an active, lived practice within the college community.

Western Music Society (WMS)

The academic year 2025–26 has been a remarkable and fulfilling period for the Western Music Society (WMS), Lady Shri Ram College. The society achieved a significant milestone by securing the Second Position at the cultural festival hosted by IIT Kanpur on 12 October 2025. This early success set the tone for the rest of the year and reflected the dedication and excellence of the team.

In the months that followed, WMS focused on the creation and refinement of its Annual Piece. The piece was showcased across multiple colleges within Delhi and received several accolades including St Stephen's College where we formally opened our Annual Piece 2026.

On 29 March 2026, the society had the honour of performing at the Theatre and Music Festival 2026 hosted by the India Habitat Centre. This opportunity provided members with a prestigious platform to present their work to a diverse audience and engage with the larger cultural community.

Continuing its commitment to fostering musical talent and inter-collegiate engagement, WMS organized its annual flagship event, 'Hysteria 2026', on 30 March 2026 under the aegis of the college fest- 'Tarang'. The event featured two major competitions: 'Symphony', the Western A Cappella Competition, and 'Legato', the Western Solo Singing Competition. Both events

witnessed enthusiastic participation from colleges across Delhi, contributing to a vibrant and competitive musical environment. Overall, the year has been one of consistent achievement, creative exploration, and meaningful musical engagement for WMS.

World University Service Society (WUS)

A dedication to making well-being a lived, everyday experience rather than an abstract concept influenced the World University Service (WUS) in 2025–2026. The society strived to create areas where students might stop, think, and interact with themselves and others in more meaningful ways. WUS maintained its position as a platform that prioritizes community, care, and dialogue by utilizing both innovative and research-driven strategies.

This idea influenced the first offline event, 'Journaling with Art', which took place on 16 October 2025. It was intended to be a relaxed, participatory session that encouraged students to forgo academic schedules and use writing and visual art to express themselves. By using colors, drawings, and words to explore their ideas, participants were able to give voice to feelings that are frequently left unsaid. As students shared space without the burden of judgment or perfection, a peaceful feeling of group understanding as well as individual introspection evolved.

Dr. Anchal Gupta's awareness session on Eye health on 13 November 2025, expanded this emphasis on daily well-being into more structured conversations. The lecture addressed a prevalent and much disregarded issue in the context of rising screen time and digital dependence. The interactive nature of conversation enabled students to go beyond passive listening and directly engage and share their own experiences.

Throughout the year, WUS maintained an active online presence in addition to in-person interactions. Its social media channels developed into an approachable extension of its work, providing research-based perspectives on self-care, stress reduction, and mental health. By encouraging student contributions and thoughts, these platforms promoted a sense of collective discourse, transforming well-being from a one-time action into an ongoing dialogue.

Dr. Pulkit Mathur's session titled 'Food, Mood and Focus: Nutrition for College Well-Being' on 18 March 2026 marked the end of the year. The lecture focused on the often overlooked connection between eating habits and mental health, especially in the context of college life, where stress regularly interferes with regular eating schedules. Students were inspired to re-evaluate daily decisions and acknowledge nutrition as a crucial component of resilience and productivity by the discussion's foundation in both research and useful guidance.

WUS consistently tried to provide students a variety of ways to participate in discussions around wellbeing. This year, the focus remained on creating a culture of care. The organization intends to increase this involvement going ahead by continuing to build environments that are based on empathy, introspection, and mutual development in addition to being sensitive to the needs of students.
