Embracing a Vision

Our Mission

- ☞ To empower women to assume leadership roles in a globalised, rapidly changing, technology-based nation and world
- ☞ To develop critical thinkers and responsive global citizens who seek to make a change for the better
- ☞ To contribute new perspectives to the world of knowledge
- ☞ To enhance access and inclusivity in quality education, including digital access
- ☞ To continue to interrogate cultures of exclusion and intolerance to create a more equitable world
- ☞ To provide a context of learning that enhances professionalism, humanism and social responsibility
- ☞ To provide a safe and nurturing space to students to discover their potential
- ☞ To promote human values such as empathy and compassion in young minds, and imbibe the value of giving back to society
- ☞ To motivate young women to be ethical, goal-oriented, and self-reflective

Principal's Message

Greetings dear students and parents,

At Lady Shri Ram College for Women, each year brings with it a tidal wave of youthful energy and renewed vitality novel goalposts to meet, unprecedented heights to scale, pathbreaking ceilings to breach, and unconventional horizons to soar! Every academic year is a unique opportunity to add to the annals of our rich and strong legacy, and to build a better tomorrow for the people and the planet with care, commitment and collaboration.

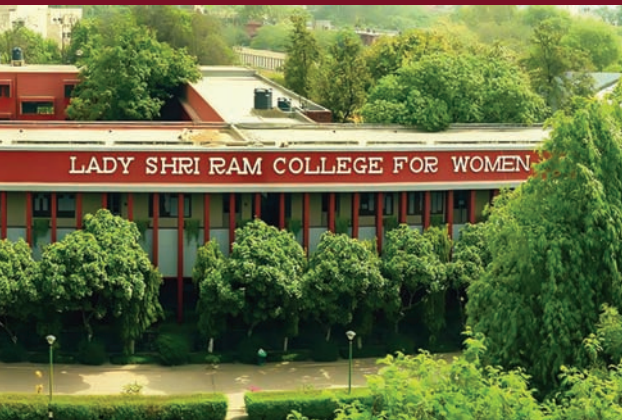

Today, with the massive influx of AI into the landscape of education, we stand at the precipice of unprecedented change. Emboldened by our unwavering commitment to Lakshay, Sadhna, Rachna and enabled by the vision of NEP 2020, at LSR we take this as an opportune moment of transformation from a leading educational enclave to a global driver of gender positive knowledge and leadership. Every constituent is deeply committed to creating a stimulating learning environment where young women feel seen, supported and challenged to reach their full potential, break every glass ceiling and challenge oppressive structures of caste, class and gender.

As LSR surges forth in its seventh decade, we remain keenly invested in our progressive evolution, of turning our classrooms into policy incubators- where the work we do goes beyond the archives of literature, crucially shaping policy and praxis in the real world- contributing to nation building and transforming the world for the better. Always ahead of the curve, LSR proactively builds opportunities for academic flexibility, interdisciplinary explorations, cutting edge research, holistic learning, industry interface and international collaborations.

This prospectus is a short walk-through undergraduate studies at LSR giving you a glimpse into the vibrant and ever agile intellectual, spiritual, sporting, cultural and aesthetic engagements that make LSR synonymous with Leadership, Scholarship and Reinvention. I invite you to join me in our fearless imagination of a better tomorrow as we continue to redefine teaching-learning in the human-machine era.

Prof. Kanika K. Ahuja

Principal
Lady Shri Ram College for Women

What will an education at LSR give you?

- ✍ An ability to think analytically and critically
- ✍ The power to transform challenges into opportunities
- ✍ An enabling environment that provides both roots and wings
- ✍ A sensibility that differentiates between just making a career and having a sense of vocation
- ✍ The capability to assume leadership of initiatives of social transformation
- ✍ A commitment to harmonizing excellence with humanism

Sā vidyā yā vimuktaye-
That alone is knowledge which leads to liberation

– College Motto

Lady Shri Ram College for Women, University of Delhi, has long been recognized as a premier institution of higher learning for women in India. A centre for academic excellence and achievement, it is today one of the finest institutions for Social Sciences, Humanities and Commerce, while also offering B.Sc. Programmes in Statistics and Mathematics. Professional courses like Elementary Education, ITEP and Journalism are among its strengths. In recognition of the quality of education imparted at LSR, in 2021 the College was awarded one of the highest A++ grades in the second cycle by the National Assessment and Accreditation Council. Located at the cutting edge of knowledge, LSR has not just kept pace with the changing world but has been the pioneering spirit behind many innovations in the field of education. The striving is to imbue the teaching-learning process with a unique blend of intellectual rigour, aesthetic and ethical engagement. At LSR, the belief is in a holistic vision that never discounts the past, but at the same time embraces the future with unwavering confidence in the ability to shape it and harness its potentialities. Our vision is to be a globally recognized knowledge creating hub where quality education, purpose and impact come together to empower women to assume leadership roles and contribute as change agents.

LSR is committed to nurturing and creating women who are equipped to be world citizens: women who take pride in their culture and heritage but also have a cosmopolitan understanding of the world today and a sensibility that celebrates diversity in all its joyous vibrancy. LSR students understand that with the power of knowledge comes the responsibility to translate it into creative citizenship. They recognize challenges as opportunities. LSR students are empowered with professional competence, an ability to assume positions of leadership with ease and shatter inhibitory glass ceilings. An education at LSR enables women to reconcile excellence with humanity, to celebrate diversity and redefine notions of success.

Actualizing a Vision

Established in 1956 in New Delhi by the late Sir Shri Ram in memory of his wife Smt. Phoolan Devi, the college had its modest beginnings in a school building in Daryaganj, Central Delhi, with 243 students, 9 faculty, 4 support staff and 3 distinct courses of study. The aim of the institution was to provide access to higher education of quality to women. LSR is a testimony to the far-sighted vision of its founder and his indefatigable enthusiasm to actualize his dream. LSR has always been restless and tireless in fulfilling his vision of 'More education. More education for Women. And more education for more women.'

Consolidating a Legacy

Under the able leadership of the late Dr. Bharat Ram, a philanthropist and visionary par excellence, the College grew from strength to strength. The number of Departments increased, and the College established an enviable reputation – as one of the premier institutes for higher learning in the country. Today, the College is located in a beautiful 15-acre campus in South Delhi, has approximately 3600 students, over 160 faculty, administrative and support staff and 16 courses of study.

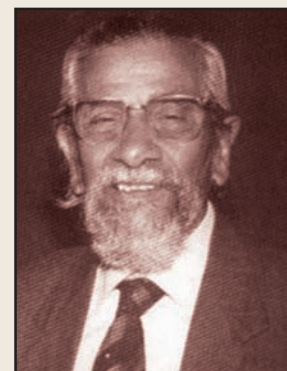

Guided by an enlightened and supportive Board of Governors, drawn from the fields of industry, law, journalism, academics and the bureaucracy, under the leadership of its Chairperson Mr. Arun Bharat Ram, the College has become a byword for academic and extracurricular achievement. It provides a space for the emancipation of the intellect and the spirit that stimulates both critical thinking and imagination.

An Enabling Environment

LSR has a unique advantage, being set in the heart of bustling South Delhi while enjoying the calm of extensive grounds and gardens. The College is well connected with domestic and international airports, railways stations, and the Inter-State bus terminus. At a convenient distance are hospitals, shopping centres and recreational facilities. The college has two main buildings—the Old Building and the New Building. The Old Building, with its distinctive Indo-Deco architecture of the 1950s, stands as a testament to the institution's rich heritage, while the New Building, with its contemporary design and modern amenities, reflects its forward-looking vision. In many ways the old building reflects the metaphor of women stepping out of a cloistered world prepared to face the rigours and challenges of a global community. The open courtyards, wide corridors and extensive open brickwork symbolically encourage the winds of change to blow freely, stimulating creativity. The college ground with manicured lawns, trees, flowers, rock garden and bamboo grove celebrate the diversity of nature. The campus has consistently been awarded the Green Cup for 29 consecutive years for the cleanest, greenest and most well-maintained campus in Delhi University.

Lady Shri Ram College offers quality infrastructure to meet the multiple educational needs of its diverse community of students. The college has 105 classrooms nearly all of which are equipped with audio-visual facilities. The College also has two state-of-the-art computer laboratories with full internet connectivity. The entire campus is wi-fi enabled. There are also several spaces within college for fostering the extra-curricular talents of our students. Most cultural programs are organised in the Ramakrishna Dalmia Auditorium which seats about 700 people. There are also four seminar halls in the college, ideal for conducting conferences and workshops -The Upper Seminar Room, Lower Seminar Room, Manju Bharat Ram Hall and New Conference Room. These venues are regularly used for events organised by different departments. The Departments of Psychology and Elementary Education have their own multi-purpose laboratories for students to conduct practicums. The laboratories are equipped with computers and LCD projectors.

The college considers it vital that all students enjoy equal access to opportunities and spaces. In order to facilitate access for differently-abled students, several ramps have been built and elevators installed in college. A resource centre “Swavalamban” on the college campus provides technological access to visually challenged students. Details of the initiatives that have been taken by the college in this regard are described in the section on ‘Resources.’

Important milestones in terms of infrastructural expansion have been the addition of the Dr. Bharat Ram Academic Complex and the Aung San Suu Kyi Centre for Peace. These beautiful buildings were inaugurated by His Holiness, the Dalai Lama in 2013. The new Academic Complex has modern conference rooms, lectures halls, audio and multi-media labs, an exhibition area, amphitheatre, faculty lounge and students’ common room. The ASSK Centre for Peace, named after one of our best-known and cherished alumnae, began to function formally from its new premises in 2014. Since then, the Centre has been a space for engaging in research and praxis for a Culture of Peace and provides an interactive space for bringing together young people committed to non-violent social change. It is here that classes of the Conflict Transformation and Peace building Diploma course are held. The building has well equipped classrooms, discussion rooms and seminar rooms for deliberation and intensive discussions on issues related to peace building. It also has a well-stocked library with books, journals, newspapers and films and posters on a wide range of topics related to conflict transformation, peace studies, religion and gender. The Centre is wi-fi enabled.

College Policy on Ragging

Lady Shri Ram College for Women is a zero-tolerance zone for ragging. All complaints related to any kind of physical, mental, emotional, digital and financial bullying/ragging are addressed immediately by the College constituted anti-ragging committee.

Resources

Library

LSR's superbly equipped, expertly maintained Library with a computerised, user-friendly data filing system functions as an invaluable aid to every aspiring scholar. The library is e-linked to the Delhi University network, facilitating access to texts and resources from all over the world. It boasts of an impressive stock of books numbering over a lakh.

It also subscribes to a range of national and international journals, making it one of the largest selections in the University of Delhi. The general library with its open-stack system, spacious reading room, easy accessibility to e-resources and reference section provides an atmosphere conducive to the exercise of mental discovery. Students are encouraged to become sagacious users of the library.

The REACH Programme- Equal Opportunity Cell

REACH, an acronym for Reaffirming Equity, Access, Capacity and Humanism, is an initiative that was created at LSR with support from the Foundation for Academic Excellence and Access (FAEA) in 2002. REACH seeks to address the challenge of building an informed and engaged community by preserving the multihued canvas of coexistence in society. REACH is a change agent that empowers students from disadvantaged backgrounds by creating access and opportunities for them. By giving scholarships to students with potential and engaging in activities that are experiential and trans-disciplinary in nature, REACH offers a dialogue-oriented, liberating and heterogeneously sourced palette of activities to spur young minds on in their quest to excel. It also imparts entrepreneurial skills to students through a range of workshops, training programmes and field trips. As part of our diversity, equality and inclusion initiatives, the Students' Handbook is published in an accessible format, while REACH-Equal Opportunity Cell, brings out its magazine Aarohan in Braille.

Swavalamban Resource Centre

A state-of-the-art Resource Centre for students with disabilities, formally set up in 2013, ensures accessible study material and provides an enabling research environment to cater to students with special needs. Equipped with latest assistive technology including a Braille Embosser, Screen Reading Software, Lex-Cam Scanner, Book Scanner, DAISY Recorders and Players and ten computer systems with OCR Software both in English and Hindi, the Resource Centre facilitates the academic development of students with disability and those belonging to disadvantaged sections of society.

The Centre has been upgraded in 2025 with a range of new advanced AI-enabled and assistive technologies, including Hark AI and other accessibility tools, a refreshable Braille display, digital magnifiers, audiobooks, AI-powered voice recorders, upgraded computer systems, ergonomic accessories, large-print keyboards, and specialised educational software. The Resource Centre ensures that students with disadvantages achieve their full potential and become self-reliant, independent and productive members of society. To support this vision, the College has appointed a dedicated Resource Centre Coordinator and Accessibility Trainer.

Residence Hall

The LSR Residence Hall is the nucleus of a harmonious community environment and has a longstanding tradition of celebrating multicultural and ethno-religious diversity. Following extensive renovation and repair work, it will reopen this year to welcome first-year students of 2026. More than 100 refurbished rooms will accommodate around 150 students.

The Residence Hall is specially designed to support students who are new to Delhi, offering a secure and comfortable environment that fosters a sense of belonging and helps smooth their transition into college life. In line with this aim, the hostel will be available for a duration of one year to first-year students only. However, students with disabilities (PWBD) may be considered for a longer stay.

The hostel features a range of simply furnished single, double, and triple rooms to suit various preferences. Residents will enjoy the convenience of an in-house kitchen serving four nutritious, wholesome meals each day. Situated in an excellent location, the Residence Hall offers easy access to Delhi's public transport system, making it even more connected. With its bright common room, beautiful lawn, visitor's lounge and facilities for recreation, its welcoming living quarters and fine cuisine, the Residence is a home away from home.

Wellness Centre

Committed to the holistic well-being of our community, the College provides comprehensive physical and mental health support through a dedicated Medial Room and Counselling Services.

Medical Room

Our well-equipped medical room features two beds, six wheelchairs, oxygen cylinders, a blood pressure monitor, a sanitary pad dispenser, and essential first-aid supplies, managed daily by an on-campus nurse and supported by a doctor who visits twice weekly. Students with chronic conditions are encouraged to lodge their medical records with the clinic for personalized care, while established emergency protocols ensure immediate medical intervention or rapid transfer to nearby premium facilities like Moolchand Healthcare and Nova Kailash Medical Center. Hostellers additionally benefit from an in-house infirmary stocked with Over the Counter (OTC) medicines.

The Counselling Services

The College Counselling Cell is committed to promote emotional well-being and mental health of students and staff. It provides a safe, confidential, and supportive space where individuals can seek professional guidance and assistance. The transition to college life often brings academic pressures, career-related concerns, interpersonal challenges, and also personal adjustments. Therefore, the Counselling Cell supports students in navigating these experiences through a range of services, including supportive counselling for stress, anxiety and emotional difficulties, grief counselling, assistance with adjustment and adaptation to college life, guidance in managing social and interpersonal relationships, time-management and study related concerns, career guidance and also crisis intervention when required. Special attention is also given to students from diverse regions of India as they adapt to a new academic and social environment. The Counsellor offers full-time offline services from 9:00 am to 5:30 pm, Monday to Friday. To ensure continued access to mental health support, online counselling sessions are also provided during examination periods and vacations. In addition to individual counselling services, the Cell also proactively organises workshops, awareness programmes and interactive sessions on diverse mental health topics to foster a culture of self-awareness and psychological well-being across the campus.

The Peer Support Program is a mental health initiative led by trained student volunteers under the supervision of faculty members from the Department of Psychology. It is a platform for peer-to-peer communication which enables social connectedness within the college community of the same fraternity that have certain similar experiences. The motto of Peer Support Program is 'Extend, Express, Empower'. Throughout the academic year, trained peer supporters provide a safe and non-judgmental space to peers to share their concerns, seek guidance, and access appropriate support services when needed. Activities are organised, including orientation sessions for new students, awareness campaigns on mental health, stress management workshops, group discussions, and interactive sessions on topics such as coping with academic pressure, building self-esteem, body image, effective communication, and maintaining healthy relationships.

Internal Complaints Committee (ICC)

There is a duly constituted Statutory Internal Complaints Committee (ICC) at Lady Shri Ram College for Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal of Sexual Harassment against women on campus. The Committee comprises faculty members, representatives of non-teaching staff and student representatives elected from among the student body every two years.

Cafés and Eateries

The bright and colourful café in college is a scene of conviviality and exuberant energy. Conveniently located between the Residence Hall and the main college building, it is always abuzz with activity and serves as a popular meeting place for students. Arguably the best students' cafeteria in the University, the café serves food ranging from light refreshments to substantial meals at reasonable rates. A variety of affordable food options are also provided by the Nescafé kiosk, Veni's South Indian kiosk, and the Mother Dairy outlet.

The Placement Cell

The Placement Cell at LSR connects students with top companies, NGOs and start-ups for internships and full-time roles. It equips students with career guidance, skill-building workshops and recruitment drives to turn potential into purpose. This year too it continued its strong placement record, securing placements and internships for students with leading organisations such as McKinsey & Company, Amazon, Meesho, KPMG, EY Parthenon, Barclays, NTT Data, Korn Ferry, Macquarie, Barclays, L.E.K. Consulting, World Wide Technology, Boston Consulting Group, Accenture Strategy, House of EdTech among others, thereby offering a diverse range of career pathways across sectors.

The Alumna Cell

Since its inception in 1956, Lady Shri Ram College for Women has cultivated a formidable legacy of distinguished alumnae. They consistently achieve prominence worldwide, spanning sectors such as politics, literature, corporate industry, entertainment, and sports. Trailblazing leaders such as Gita Gopinath (First Deputy Managing Director, IMF), Naina Lal Kidwai (Former Country Head, HSBC India), and Vinita Bali (Former MD, Britannia Industries) represent just a fraction of this remarkable heritage. To bridge the past and the present, the Alumna Cell, a proactive, student-led body, works to foster vibrant, lifelong connections between the institution and its graduates. Through a dynamic range of networking events, interactive sessions, and mentorship initiatives organised throughout the academic year, the Cell actively maintains and strengthens these invaluable ties.

Office of International Programmes

The Office of International Programmes keeps students abreast regarding institutions for post-graduate studies, other avenues of higher education and organises counselling sessions for admissions to universities across the world. It provides information about summer schools and online international courses. It continues to expand the global engagements of LSR through academic interactions, collaborations, and student exchange opportunities. The Office hosts international delegations and engages with representatives from leading universities from across the globe to foster dialogue on expanding our international partnerships and explore academic exchange possibilities. Its mandate includes expanding student and faculty international mobility, nurturing collaborative international research by often hosting reputed faculty and scholars from international universities, and fostering interdisciplinary learning, reinforcing the College's commitment to global academic integration.

Teaching Learning at LSR

Teaching-learning is understood to be a dialogic process that encourages students to question, to think, to reflect, and to analyse. The entire approach is student centric, keeping in mind the diverse nature of the student body. An annual calendar is set, time-tables are organised before the commencement of the new semester, work plans are readied in advance and students' activities are planned in consultation with student societies and associations.

The college follows the university's prescribed curriculum and assessment policy. While transacting the curriculum and implementing the assessment directives, the college adopts a blend of conventional and innovative pedagogy to meet the requirements of the students. Regular classes are taken by all teachers to ensure high academic quality and rigour. Attendance rules are strictly adhered to inculcate discipline and regularity amongst students. Delhi University's guidelines for students' internal assessment are followed. Feedback is provided during the tutorials. It is not surprising therefore that the college has outstanding results in the examinations conducted by the University of Delhi.

LSR believes that the purpose of higher education is to research, reflect on, and critically interpret the world we live in. Teachers and students engage in this ruminative activity consistently and diligently. New ideas and new ways of understanding are constantly being created in the classrooms and seminar halls of LSR. Students are encouraged to make seminar presentations, write reports and undertake projects and surveys as well. Internships and field visits are encouraged, and a well organised student mentoring programme is in place. While the lecture format is followed as prescribed by the University, the college encourages innovative pedagogy through group activities, group research, extensive use of documentary films, the internet, field visits, interaction with scholars, practitioners, and peers. The college has a learning, resource and research centre that was set up with funding by the UGC to encourage interdisciplinary academic activities.

LSR is committed to a meaningful partnership between students and teachers. A variety of audio-visual aids are used in the classroom including documentaries, films, media, photographs, artefacts, and people (as guest speakers or discussants), as well as field visits to the Parliament, museums, hospitals, schools, factories, monuments, and heritage sites, particularly in the local area. Such initiatives make the classroom a 'shared' space by weaving in participatory strategies, encouraging individuals or groups of students to take up topics from within and around the syllabus. The teacher acts as facilitator who suggests, steers and guides.

LSR has kept pace with the rapid changes in the world of communication and incorporated these to enhance the teaching-learning and administrative aspects of the college very successfully. The college has over two hundred computer terminals, and ICT is used for administrative, accounting and record-keeping purposes. Faculty and students make extensive use of the Wi-Fi facility for reading and research. Most classrooms are equipped with ICT facilities. The college conducts workshops to explain the use of this technology, especially AI, with caution, prudence and responsibility.

Our Faculty

At LSR, our exceptional faculty work tirelessly to create what we fondly call the 'magic of LSR'. Teaching is far from a lost art here. Our faculty lead with passion, purpose, and the quiet superpower of making students actually care about learning. The excellence of LSR's faculty extends beyond the classroom. They seek to maximise the opportunities for genuine reflection that college life provides, resisting oversimplification and nurturing critical thinking skills essential to a liberal education. At the same time, they actively contribute to the advancement of knowledge through publications in leading Scopus-indexed national and international journals. LSR faculty members have published books, monographs, articles and other academic materials with reputed publishing houses around the world. The faculty are frequently invited to deliver keynote addresses, chair international conferences and panel discussions of repute and present their research work at conferences in and outside the country.

Rankings and Accolades

The mission at LSR is to provide higher education of unimpeachable quality, to nurture academic excellence and critical enquiry and to encourage an engaged sense of responsibility to the larger community.

LSR is consistently ranked among the top colleges in the country in nationwide polls. LSR has also been awarded an impressive CGPA of 3.53 on four-point scale at A++ Grade by the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC). The college has been placed among the top institutes in the National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF), a ranking methodology adopted by the Ministry of Human Resource Development (MHRD), Government of India, to rank institutions of higher education in India. Our exceptional 'Graduation Outcomes' are a testimony to our commitment to academic excellence. LSR students win several gold medals as toppers and position holders in various subjects at the university examinations. Over the years, the College has maintained the highest percentage of first divisions in the University of Delhi and a near-nil dropout rate amongst students.

Lady Shri Ram College for women promotes the pursuit of excellence and the development of global competencies in its students. The College provides its students with exposure to several reputed institutions of higher learning within and outside India. The College regularly hosts faculty members from various national and international educational institutions. The College also encourages students to participate in research projects. These projects have a distinct interdisciplinary approach and have contributed much to students' learning in research design and methodology.

Disciplines and Departments

Within the framework of prescribed syllabi, LSR attempts to offer an eclectic selection, a range of options for students.

The future of the knowledge society of this century depends, among other strengths, upon the rigour of a strong Social Sciences and Humanities orientation. Our Honours programmes in these areas are our assets. LSR also offers Honours programmes in Commerce and B.Sc. Honours programmes in Mathematics and Statistics. In addition the college offers professional courses in Elementary Education, Integrated Teacher Education Programme (ITEP), and Journalism, acknowledging the great importance of these fields of knowledge and the special role that women play in these realms.

The college also offers a one year Diploma Programme in Conflict Transformation and Peacebuilding, a recent and valuable enhancement to the University of Delhi Curriculum.

B.A. Programme

This programme equips students with the skills necessary to explore both academic and professional avenues. It provides an enabling environment for students to enter the world of work with confidence. The course is structured to include discipline and language courses along with Ability Enhancement Compulsory Courses (AECC) and Skill Enhancement Courses (SEC). The B.A. Programme Department draws faculty from nearly all the departments of the college and is a truly interdisciplinary enterprise.

Commerce

The Department of Commerce creates a stimulating environment for the academic growth of its students and provides them with a thorough understanding of a range of subjects such as business organisation, financial accounting, corporate law, economic theory and business communication. The faculty members of the Department are known for their expertise in finance and organisational behaviour and impart practical knowledge of the discipline in auditing, company law and income tax. In addition to transacting the curriculum, the Department attempts to imbue the teaching-learning process with the sensitivity that reconciles excellence with humanity, a pedagogy that can break free of rhetoric, shatter myths and rescue imaginations and intuition, using them as resources to conceive and initiate change. The Alumni of the Commerce Department include business leaders, academics, corporate heads, chartered accountants, company secretaries, sports persons, and artists. Upon graduation many students find placements with renowned business organisations such as Deloitte, KPMG, NODWIN, and American Express.

The faculty members in the Commerce Department are-

Elementary Education

The Bachelors of Elementary Education (B.El.Ed) is a four-year integrated professional programme of elementary teacher education. A multi-disciplinary emphasis is the hallmark of the programme and the Department draws faculty from diverse disciplines. The course aims at redefining the social functions of the school teacher besides focusing on developing a deep critical understanding of curricula and pedagogy. The graduates of the Department are confident, competent, child-friendly and politically conscious.

The bilingual nature of the programme posits the construction of knowledge as a free process beyond linguistic barriers. Heterogeneity among students as well as faculty members contributes to the richness of identities and experiences within the Department and facilitates knowledge acquisition through dialogic reflection. Through a fruitful combination of theory and practicum courses in the first three years, the programme culminates with a direct experience of school functioning in the form of an internship in the final year. The course opens up a wide range of professional and academic options such as teaching in schools, heading elementary school systems in various capacities and teaching and research in government and non-government sectors.

English

The Department of English enhances the interpretative and expressive skills of students in an intellectual environment that is stimulating and nurturing. It equips students with a rigorous knowledge of the subject as well as critical and analytical ability. It provides engagement with issues as varied as identity formation, race relations, gender stereotypes and the politics of language. The emphasis is on an inter-disciplinary approach to learning. The classes are lively, interactive spaces where students are encouraged to share their own perceptions, ask searching questions, and engage in discussions in an atmosphere that fosters self-expression balanced with respect for the rights of others to voice their opinions. Validating the experiences of the diverse student body is an important aspect of the pedagogic goal in the classrooms, where literature is seen not as an ivory tower product but a contextually produced and socially mediated process.

The courses transacted by the Department have been methodically designed to explore world literatures, Indian literature and literatures in transition. The Department is privileged to have an extremely dynamic faculty whose expertise in critical theory has been widely acknowledged and whose creative writing has been extensively published. Hindi

The Department of Hindi is one of the oldest Departments at Lady Shri Ram College. While the course has evolved over the years, the Department has steadfastly pursued the goal of advancing students' understanding of one of the most widely spoken languages of our country. Woven into the teaching and learning process is an effort to spark the imagination and creativity of students and connect them with the literary geniuses of the past and present. Students learn about ancient, medieval and modern Hindi literature and are introduced to the rich and myriad world of poets and story tellers such as Kabir, Tulsi, Soordas and Premchand. The Department also provides its students training in translation.

Students are encouraged to hone their skills in multiple ways for instance by participating in inter-college elocution and creative writing competitions. The Department regularly organises annual symposiums through which students gain exposure to eminent poets, scholars and novelists. Many faculty members of the Department are well-published authors and they share their own experiences as writers in transacting the curriculum.

Hindi is a language much sought after and its study opens up many career avenues for students. Proficiency in the language is required for fields such as teaching, editing, copy writing, proof reading and journalism. Advertising, theatre, cinema and creative writing have also been successfully pursued by alumni of the Department.

History

The Department of History has some of the most distinguished faculty across the University of Delhi. Classroom interactions are an occasion to cultivate a range of related skills like writing, critical thinking as well as the ability to discerningly wade through innumerable details and complex arguments. An attempt is made to engage students with multiple perspectives on various historical themes and enable them to analyse those perspectives critically. The exploration of past issues and of historical processes helps students acquire the necessary tools to tease out the underlying social-political significance of the present and the past, of the mundane as well as the extraordinary.

Throughout the academic session experts from the field of History and related disciplines are invited to make presentations and interact with the faculty and students. The Department also screens documentaries and feature films of historical and contemporary significance usually followed by a discussion with the filmmaker or other experts. Guided tours to places of historical importance in Delhi are part of the Department's annual calendar.

Graduates from the Department have made a mark in almost every possible field. A number of our students are well-known academics who teach in top universities in India and abroad. They have

Journalism

The Journalism Programme at Lady Shri Ram College is designed to empower women with an effective media presence that reflects the developmental needs of a transitional democratic society. Recognizing the profound responsibilities inherent in the freedom of expression, the department trains professionals to act as both transcribers of societal aspirations and catalysts for change. The curriculum rigorously equips students with a commitment to accuracy, fairness, and knowledge, encouraging them to extend beyond mere careerism to support vital causes and champion intellectual freedom. This vision is realized through a dynamic pedagogy comprising lectures, independent projects, and extensive written assignments, which is further enriched by a diverse faculty of academics and industry practitioners. By actively engaging students in workshops, film screenings, and media conferences, the programme fosters a sensitive, imaginative approach to learning, ultimately cultivating motivated journalists who possess the ambition and will to make a meaningful difference. The students attend film screenings and documentary festivals as well as seminars and conferences to expand their horizon of experiences and to expose them to a plethora of views. Mathematics

The Department of Mathematics offers its students a rich mathematical experience wherein they can learn to think critically, communicate mathematical concepts effectively and become lifelong learners. Interdisciplinary learning is emphasized to broaden students' minds and equip them to work in a variety of fields. A strong foundation in the field of computers, operations research, statistics and modern mathematics is also provided.

Though the contents of the course have changed over the years, the Department has remained enthusiastic about exploring aspects of the discipline that lie beyond the confines of the syllabi. The Department's pedagogical practices include informal classroom interactions, paper presentations, quizzes and wallpapers. Students are encouraged to present papers and participate in inter-college competitions. Moreover, the Department organises National/International conferences, seminars, workshops, certificate courses and talks by eminent speakers. In keeping with the spirit of research, the department publishes a Journal, Éclat. This journal aims to provide a platform for students to publish their ideas along with other mathematical concepts. Newsletter- Quantum is published annually and is a joint endeavor of students and faculty. It is an overview of the department activities, experiences of students, mathematical and non-mathematical articles and poems by students.

Students who graduate from the Department have a wide variety of career options to choose from. Philosophy

Our knowledge of the world rests on certain presuppositions that define the parameters of truth but are seldom put to test. Philosophy examines such complacent applications of formulaic thought patterns with a view to forge critical understandings of 'being'-in-the-world.' The discipline thereby encompasses the evolution of argumentative form and content over the last two millennia in India and Europe. It involves an interface with ideas that have transformed intellectual landscapes across human civilizations.

Students are encouraged to hone their aptitude for original analysis through interactive lectures and tutorials. There is an effort to incorporate expertise beyond the classroom as part of the Association endeavours. The Department organises multiple forums facilitating such interactions by means of seminars involving eminent scholars from India and abroad.

The subject offers tremendous scope for students in terms of academic and professional avenues after graduation. Graduates in Philosophy have gone on to pursue careers in law, e-governance, film making, human resource management, international design and communication management, civil services and advertising.

The faculty members of the department are as follows:

Physical Education

The Department of Physical Education combines excellence in teaching and research with a commitment to fostering a culture of sports, health, and well-being. In addition to housing the National Sports Organisation of the college, it actively promotes physical fitness and holistic wellness among members of the college community. The department offers Physical Education coursework to undergraduate students across all three years of study. The curriculum includes a Generic Elective available to all first-year Honours students, a specialized paper for second-year students within the Elementary Education Department, and a Generic Elective tailored for third-year students enrolled in the BA Programme. LSR Sports takes pride in itself on being inclusive and ensures that differently-abled students can also participate in various national and international events. LSR students have won laurels at both national and international competitions and have been recipients of many prestigious awards including the Arjuna Award.

Political Science

The Department of Political Science is at the forefront of new ideas and academic initiatives. The pedagogy adopted has mirrored changes in society and combines theory with praxis to enable young women to understand complex social reality and politics. The classroom itself is seen as a space not defined by hierarchy but as a context for joint exploration of new ideas and themes. Students are encouraged to interrogate their own deeply cherished values and understand difference and its implications. The Department's efforts have been a reflection of the College's commitment to nurturing and creating cosmopolitan citizens who espouse a democratic celebration of diversity. Through the last six decades, the Department has endeavored to contribute to critical and creative thinking, sustaining democratic spaces, broadening access and inclusivity in quality education and consistently working towards the empowerment of women. The Department familiarises students with contemporary academic debates and encourages students to do in-depth research and reference work. The department publishes an annual academic journal which provides a platform for students to showcase their academic and creative interests. Political Science graduates typically target careers in law, bureaucracy, international relations, gender studies and political theory. The Department maintains an important interface with think tanks and international organizations offering students opportunities for developing long-term research interests.

Psychology

The Department of Psychology, ranked number one in the country in several surveys, endeavours to prepare students for their professional journeys in the dynamic, diverse and ever-growing field of Psychology. Students learn about the history of the discipline, its theoretical foundations and its numerous branches including Clinical Psychology, Counselling and Human Resource Management. Emphasis is placed on fostering in students the skills and attitudes needed to be competent and socially sensitive psychologists including a self-reflexive attitude, critical thinking, empathy and a respect for individual differences. The department encourages an atmosphere of debate and discussion while fostering an appreciation of new and varied perspectives on forces that interact to shape the human psyche. Given the application-based nature of psychology, theoretical papers are accompanied by a variety of robust practicum papers for training students in different forms of assessment and research. Contemporary and classic psychological researches which form the backbone of the discipline are an integral part of classroom interactions. Learning is further enhanced by workshops, seminars, and interactions with experts from Psychology and other social sciences. Students of the department go on to successfully pursue various kinds of careers after graduation. Those who enter the fields of counselling and psychotherapy work in settings as varied as schools, clinics, hospitals and non-government organizations. Several former students enjoy gratifying careers in the corporate world while others move into realms such as teaching, advertising, media, theatre and law.

Sanskrit

The Department of Sanskrit at Lady Shri Ram College was established in 1956. In the six decades of its existence, the Department has earnestly promoted the appreciation of one of the richest and most scientific languages in the world. Students are encouraged to see Sanskrit not merely as a language, but as one of the most important repositories of Indian culture and recognise its significance for comprehending the philosophical and religious traditions of our country. The course introduces students to Vedic and Upanishadic lore, the history of ancient Indian culture, philosophy-self management through Gita, Arthashastra and other areas of Indology. Short modules on linguistics and philosophy of language, reasoning and ontology, aesthetics and Indian theatre, mathematics and astronomy and Indian science have also been introduced. In the classroom, texts are taught through different interpretations. Students are encouraged to read selective readings, Sanskrit magazines and journals to strengthen their grasp of the language. Seminars such as on Vedic Mathematics, Kinship & Social Justice in Ancient Hindu Legal System, Archaeology and Sanskrit are regularly conducted to further students' learning. Students of the Sanskrit Department study epigraphy and archaeology and hence are eligible to pursue a Masters degree in this field. Students who graduate from the Department have established successful careers at museums and in fields such as manuscript studies, archaeology, teaching and translation. Under the NEP, various subjects from the Indian knowledge tradition such as Ayurveda & Nutrition, Yoga in Practice, Vedic Mathematics, Script Writing etc. are being taught to non-Sanskrit students as well. The Sanskrit Department regularly organises workshops and lectures by scholars on various topics related to the Indian knowledge tradition, thereby enhancing the student's knowledge of the subject.

Sociology

Sociology is an endeavor to capture the social in all its vital and varied dimensions. The department understands sociology as a humanistic and critical discipline and encourages students to excel scholastically and be proficient practically. Established in 1993, the department of sociology is currently into the thirty third year of its existence. It is one of the most sought-after undergraduate departments of sociology in the University. It is committed to providing a 'total' learning experience that combines classroom learning, field-based projects, community outreach, active and institutionalized peer learning and year-round activities such as talks, workshops, seminars, exhibitions and movie screenings. The department takes pride in its diverse student body, and it is deeply committed to the ideals of inclusiveness and equality of opportunity. It encourages reciprocity, exchange of ideas, peer support and critical thinking. The students in their third year undertake a two-week faculty supervised fieldwork in different parts of the country every year. This has been a unique and unbroken feature of the department. Former students of the Department have taken diverse career trajectories. Today we find our students in varied fields such as academia, public administration, legal professions, media, non-governmental organizations, international organizations, corporate establishments, publishing, sports, filmmaking and performing arts.

Statistics

Since its inception in 1979, the Department of Statistics has provided its students an exciting learning space within which they can engage intellectually with the quantitative language of the social, biological and physical sciences. Given the increasing role of Statistics in diverse areas and its indispensability in marketing, finance and strategy-making, students are trained to acquire tools in Applied Statistics, Statistical Methods, Financial Statistics and Mathematics. In addition, students learn about Sample Surveys, Econometrics, Biostatistics, and Operations Research. Apart from maintaining rigor in classroom teaching, faculty members promote hands-on learning through the organization of paper presentations and workshops conducted by experts from different fields with a particular focus on helping students learn the practical applications of the subject. Students are also involved in creating projects requiring collection of data from numerous sources such as newspapers, magazines and journals and publications of organizations like Central Statistics Office (CSO), NSSO, NSO, and ORGMARG. Students of the Department are constantly encouraged to enhance their research abilities, attend seminars and remain up-to-date on the developments in the discipline. Several career options are available to students after graduation. These include quality control for industries, biotechnology, market research, corporate planning, banking, trade, medicine and defence.

Conflict Transformation and Peacebuilding

(Diploma Programme)

Conflict Transformation is a newly emerging, expanding and innovative discipline that is opening new frontiers of knowledge. The growing realization that the world has not yet effectively devised systems to cope with intra and inter-national conflicts has led civil society to search for creative options that place 'people' at the centre of peace processes. It is in this context that the field of Conflict Transformation has been conceptualized.

The diploma programme in Conflict Transformation and Peace Building seeks to address a growing need for education on the paradigms, models and skills that can assist societies to transform conflicts non-violently. The Diploma course is a one-year integrated programme spread over two semesters. It is offered to undergraduate and graduate students, NGO workers, diplomats, lawyers, media persons and grassroots workers across the country. The course is interactive, combining lectures, case studies, panel and group discussions, seminars, role-playing, field trips, film screenings and interactions with senior practitioners and scholars. It has an important research methodology component followed by the writing of a dissertation and the conduction of a viva voce. The faculty is drawn from within the college as well as from the wide network of experts in the field. The examinations are conducted by the University of Delhi, co-terminus with the conduction of the other examinations of the University. The application process starts in the month of June. Admissions are conducted on the basis of a written Statement of Purpose followed by an interview. This diploma is offered under the aegis of the Aung San Suu Kyi (ASSK) Centre for Peace at Lady Shri Ram College.

Placements at LSR

The Placement Cell of Lady Shri Ram College for Women upholds the institution's long-standing tradition of excellence, connecting students with some of the world's most prestigious organisations and preparing them for leadership across diverse professional domains.

During the 2025–26 placement season, more than 50 leading organisations participated in the recruitment process, offering more than 170 opportunities across consulting, finance, marketing, analytics, product management, and allied sectors. The highest package offered stood at Rs. 36.25 LPA, while the average and median packages were Rs. 13.54 LPA and Rs. 13.1 LPA, respectively. The internship programme also witnessed exceptional success, with 135 internships offered by over 40 organisations, including both full-time and part-time opportunities. The highest internship stipend reached Rs. 3,60,000 for an eight-week engagement, while the average stipend stood at Rs. 67,745, underscoring the quality and competitiveness of opportunities available to LSR students.

Beyond recruitment, the Placement Cell is committed to ensuring that every student is equipped to navigate an evolving professional landscape. The Cell organises several skill-building and career development sessions featuring accomplished professionals from leading organisations, covering areas such as consulting, finance, public policy, marketing, and strategic problem-solving.

In a significant step towards inclusive career development, the Cell holds workshop series for Persons with Disabilities, providing focused guidance and mentorship. It provides key student resources, including the LSR Consulting Casebook 2.0, a comprehensive guide to case interviews and guesstimates, and the Humanities Career Handbook, which maps practical and replicable career pathways for students from the humanities and social sciences.

Through these sustained initiatives, the Placement Cell reinforces LSR's commitment to fostering industry readiness and holistic development, equipping students with the confidence and capabilities required to excel in competitive professional environments.

Academic Activities

LSR offers a rich array of activities designed to respond to the highest intellectual and societal aspirations of our students. In addition to classroom teaching, seminars, workshops, lectures and presentations by distinguished visitors to the college are regular features. The college hosts several national and international conferences and over 500 distinguished visitors are invited to interact with the student body every year.

The departments of the college publish several academic journals and magazines which encourage students to showcase their intellectual as well as creative abilities. The college magazine is also published every year which features articles, essays, and other features by students in several languages such as Bengali, Bhoti, French, Hindi, Japanese, Khasi, Korean, Maithili, Malayalam, Marathi, Odia, Sanskrit, Spanish, Telugu, and Urdu. Besides, LSR regularly conducts a number of Skill Development Workshops such as the 'Digital India Awareness' (in collaboration with the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology) and 'Trauma informed skills series for peer support' (in alliance with Humraahi Psychotherapy), among others were organised last year.

The college fosters a rigorous, highly vibrant research ecosystem that transitions students from consumers of knowledge into active producers of scholarship. The college treats research as a critical tool for civic engagement and academic leadership. Faculty members at LSR are prominent contributors to contemporary academic discourse in their respective fields, actively publishing in top-tier national and international journals.

In alignment with the goals of the National Education Policy (2020), to encourage interdisciplinary and collaborative research between faculty and students, Dr. Bharat Ram Research Grant is awarded every year to faculty led research projects after a rigorous selection process. Students engage as active research partners in these projects, giving them a unique opportunity to master advanced methodologies, translate classroom discourse into impactful social advocacy, and build for themselves a seasoned academic profile prior to graduation.

Further, as part of Delhi University's undergraduate program, students who go on to the fourth year must write an academic dissertation or undertake a research project. Under the guidance of a faculty supervisor, students identify research gaps, formulate hypotheses, construct theoretical frameworks, and master data collection, whether through archival research, field surveys, or computational modeling. This experience creates a seamless bridge to master's and doctoral programmes globally, training students to publish in peer-reviewed journals and contribute directly to their respective disciplines. The college has established a dedicated Research and Publication Forum which conducts weekly colloquiums in addition to several workshops, talks, and lectures to help students in their research endeavours. Students are trained in formal methodologies, quantitative/qualitative analysis, citation mechanics, and research ethics.

Annual Departmental Academic Conferences

An important part of the college calendar are the annual academic conferences organised by each department. Departments organise several national and international conferences that keep the intellectual environment of the college vibrant throughout the year.

SAMAGAM: The annual academic conference of the Department of B. A. Programme is Samagam. It addresses a variety of interdisciplinary issues including women in STEM, Cultural changes and their impact, Entrepreneurship and Innovation among Women and many others. The event sees various speaker sessions, panel discussions, and competitions that attract students from LSR and other colleges.

Co-Curricular Activities Fostering Team Building

The National Sports Organization (NSO)

The National Sports Organization has a very active unit at LSR. Students participate in a wide range of sports activities like Chess, Gymnastics, Table Tennis, Lawn Tennis, Basket Ball, Shooting, Athletics, Badminton, Archery, Football, Swimming, Golf, Judo, Volley Ball and the Equestrian field. Members of the NSO win a number of prestigious inter-college trophies and medals and often represent the University of Delhi at National Meets. Our students have represented the nation at international events and won laurels. LSR hosts the prestigious Dr. Bharat Ram Annual Sports Meet and is the only College in the University to host an Annual Cross-Country Run that aids in creating awareness about a social theme. Every year students select the cause/ concern of society and then bring awareness & voice their concerns they run for that cause. In addition, regular yoga classes are also organised. The College has a gymnasium to cater to the needs of students looking for cardio-vascular workouts.

A few of our outstanding sportswomen:

The National Cadet Corps (NCC)

The NCC Unit at LSR offers immense scope for leadership, discipline, adventure and personal growth. Our cadets participate in a wide range of training camps, leadership programmes, adventure activities and community service initiatives. We secured the Runner-Up position in the Best Company Competition in 2024–25 and the Second Runner-Up position in the following year. Many of our driven and committed students have excelled in prestigious NCC competitions and camps, bringing laurels to the college. Some of our cadets have represented the country through the Youth Exchange Programme abroad, while several others have represented the Directorate at national-level camps, including the Republic Day Camp, All India Thal Sainik Camp and the Indo-Bhutan Youth Friendship Camp. Our cadets have also earned distinguished recognitions such as the DG Recommendation, Young Achiever Award and the opportunity to represent the Directorate during the Hall of Fame Briefing at the Republic Day Camp. Through activities such as horse riding, rock climbing, scuba diving, marathons, and cyclothons, the NCC at LSR continues to foster confidence, resilience, teamwork, and a spirit of service among its cadets.

The National Service Scheme (NSS)

The National Service Scheme (NSS) is a community service programme to build social consciousness in students. NSS provides an opportunity for students in the capacity of volunteers to venture out of their comfort zones and make a difference to society. Apart from being a part of activities launched by Delhi University NSS, we, at LSR, have undertaken 27 projects in which more than 700 volunteers work ceaselessly and engage in various issues of social concerns and upliftment of marginalized sections of society. NSS Volunteers actively dedicate their efforts to caring for the elderly, intervention techniques for the differently-abled, working with animal shelters and health centers associated with patients suffering from cancer, organizing NSS Varshik Samaroh every year to promote women's social entrepreneurs and NGOs, organizing blood donation campaigns, educating the underprivileged children, creating awareness and participating in cleanliness drives in the nearest adopted village at zamrudpur and college vicinity are some of the significant voluntary engagements of NSS LSR volunteers.

World University Service (WUS)

World University Service (WUS) is an international Non-Governmental Organization with a network of national committees in more than 60 countries. It was instituted as a non-performing arts society in the Academic Year 2004-2005. Since then, it has aimed to raise awareness and dispel myths about a variety of issues, focusing largely on the physical and psychological health concerns of individuals. WUS also enjoys a consultative status with several United National Agencies. In keeping with this broader aim, the WUS programme at LSR promotes a sense of physical and psychological well-being among the student community and addresses issues of health and hygiene. WUS creates awareness on issues that are of concern to students through seminars, workshops, health camps, and talks.

Institutions' Innovation Council (IIC)

Innovation in educational institutions encourages teachers and students to explore, research, and use all the tools to uncover something new. The Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India has established MHRD's Innovation Cell (MIC) at AICTE with a purpose to systematically foster the culture of innovation in all Higher Education Institutions (HEIs). Lady Shri Ram College for Women was selected by MHRD's Innovation Cell (MIC) for the constitution of Innovation Council in the college to promote innovation among its students by encouraging, inspiring, and nurturing them through periodic activities. The Council has been actively taking various steps to promote innovation and entrepreneurship endeavours among students by hosting a multitude of talks, competitions, workshops and extending support to students.

Extension and Outreach Programmes

We seek to inculcate a deep sense of social responsibility through Reflection – Engagement – Empowerment– Outreach and attempt to break barriers both within and without, in the individual mind and in society. These four pillars of our conscientization programme attempt to break barriers both within and without, in the individual mind and in society. Through workshops, discussions, teaching modules and field trips the extension and outreach programmes in LSR reinforce the link between learning and community and sensitize students to wider social issues of gender equity, sustainable development and environmental concerns.

Women's Development Cell

LSR is an institution for women where the nature and dimensions of the multitudinous challenges faced by women in society, as well as the role of women in redressing these, are held to be of paramount importance. We believe in providing our young women with a new conceptual vocabulary that interrogates the limits placed by structures of patriarchy. Community development projects are carried out with a focus on issues that are relevant to women. LSR provides a space for discussion through workshops and study camps on gender related topics. It sensitizes students to problems faced by women whose voices need to be heard more in the meta-narratives of social enquiry.

Dhyana

Dhyana, the Society for Consciousness and Awareness, provides students with a space for turning the introspective gaze within and, at the same time, expand their horizons and connect with the world. Through this classroom of the future, students are encouraged to explore the various dimensions of their inner landscapes through workshops on themes like Indian Heritage, Contemporary Art, Concepts of Space and Time, Human Rights and Holistic Health and Ecologies, Economics, Politics and Culture in a Globalizing World.

Through this classroom of the future, students are encouraged to explore the various dimensions of their inner landscapes through workshops on themes like Indian Heritage, Contemporary Art, Concepts of Space and Time, Human Rights and Holistic Health and Ecologies, Economics, Politics and Culture in a Globalizing World.

VAPP – The Voluntary Agency Placement Programme

VAPP is a programme that provides opportunities for students to make a positive contribution to community development and social welfare and to explore alternative career possibilities in the voluntary sector. It is designed to create awareness among students about the privileges and attendant responsibility of their education and sensitize them to the impact that their initiative can achieve. This programme aims to place volunteers with selected NGOs working at the grass roots level with marginalized sections of society.

Freeships & Scholarships

A large number of freeships as well as scholarships are awarded to students at Lady Shri Ram College every year. Our students are encouraged to apply for scholarships offered by various government bodies, including PMSS, Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan Scholarship, Inspire Scholarship, the National Scholarship Portal, and the Directorate of Higher Education Scholarship. A concerted effort is made to ensure that each student who requires financial assistance is provided with the same. Freeships are available to all students disbursed solely based on their financial needs. Most scholarships are merit cum need based, and the criterion of parental income is kept in mind while deciding eligibility. Some of the scholarships given in college are listed as follows:

Cultural Landscape

Cultural Landscape: A Varied Tapestry of Student Societies

LSR students not only participate in a rich array of activities, but they also shape the extracurricular life of the college. LSR students win several prizes and trophies at Inter College and Inter University competitions.

Students' Union

The Students' Union, an elected body of student representatives comprises four members of the student body elected by the students of the entire college and reflects the needs and aspirations of the student community. As a representative body, the Students' Union strives to address all the concerns of its constituency, ensuring that every student gets to experience and thrive in the magic of LSR. Besides acting as an interface between students, the College administration, and outside agencies, the Students' Union is also responsible for coordinating with different departments and societies to ensure every event at LSR is a grand success and enriches the everyday experience in college.

Student Societies

Student societies provide the student community with the widest possible choice of co-curricular and extra-curricular endeavour. Students take the initiative in organizing meets, competitive events, workshops, lecture demonstrations and cultural festivals.

Projekt, the film and photography society encourages its members to engage with meaningful cinema and initiates students into viewing film texts critically. Apart from holding film appreciation courses, it invites eminent photographers and filmmakers to conduct photography and film making workshops.

Hive, the Fine Arts Society, is the place for budding artists, painters, sculptors and all those who experiment and innovate with the many styles and forms of art. This art club offers students an opportunity to develop their creative sensibilities through activities like folk art, poster making, rangoli, etc. The society organises workshops on stained glass, Madhubani, origami, Worli, candle making, pottery and terracotta.

The Performing Arts

The music societies of the college, comprising of Indian Music Society, Saaz (Instrumental Music) and Western Music Society encourage young talent. Along with singing, composing and organizing intra-college cultural events, students of these societies bag prizes at virtually every inter-college event- group, duet, solo or instrumental. They have been invited to perform at the South Asia Human rights Conference, Youth Festival, the British Council, the Canadian High Commission and the World Heritage Society for Performing Arts and have also collaborated with the band EUPHORIA for a promotional video on the girl child.

LSR has a SPICMACY Chapter which provides a space for promoting awareness about Indian culture amongst youth. This chapter has organised several concerts by renowned dancers, vocalist, puppeteers and instrumentalists. The Dance Society provides an active platform for a variety of talents, ranging from Indian classical dance to Western forms and choreography. Enthusiastic members of this society can be seen practicing at all hours of the day in the Common Room and the Foyer. The results are evident as winning laurels has become a habit for them. The society also organises workshops on creative dance forms. The Dramatics Society taps a range of theatrical talent throughout the year, which culminates in annual productions in Street Theatre, Stage Play and Mime. Members of this society win laurels at numerous inter-college theatre festivals. Students receive training from some of the best professional directors in the country and learn to experiment with light, sound, motion, props and body movement.

The Public Speaking Society includes the English Debating Society, the Hindi Debating Society, the Quiz Society and the Elocution Society. The Model United Nations (MUN) Society provides a dynamic platform for students to compete in national and international conferences. It serves as an intellectual forum where students can critically analyze global issues, formulate perspectives, and confidently articulate their opinions. With its emphasis on articulate expression and logically nuanced argument, debating adds another dimension to LSR's tradition of producing capable leaders. LSR debaters have done extremely well at traditional and parliamentary debates at the inter college and inter university levels. The Quiz Society believes that life is all about questions and an unending search for answers. It organises quizzes on a plethora of subjects and caters to a variety of interests. The Magazine & Creative Writing Society offers a forum for all those geniuses who are driven by the urge to express themselves creatively in a variety of ways.

Interface

A student initiative unique to LSR, Interface provides a space for the college community to interact with distinguished leaders from the social, political and economic fields. Through talks, workshops and films on issues ranging from India's security, democratic practices to the role of media, women and the law, education and globalization, Interface creates and enhances awareness.

Prakriti

Prakriti, the Environment Society of LSR, serves as a vibrant forum for promoting environmental consciousness and sustainable development. Through discussions, workshops, campaigns, and interactive sessions, the society seeks to promote awareness and inspire meaningful action towards ecological sustainability. Activities undertaken in recent years have included plantation drives, expert talks, workshops on sustainable practices, reading sessions, E-waste disposal awareness and nature walks that foster appreciation for local biodiversity. These initiatives reflect our commitment to promoting sustainability, environmental awareness, and collective action within the College community. LSR has been winning the University Green Cup for the cleanest, greenest and best-maintained campus for the last 29 years, showcasing our collective success and dedication. The college also won the coveted Centenary Cup for Best Practices at the Delhi University Flower Show for the first time in 2026.

Where Women Lead

Alumnae Profiles

Aung San Suu Kyi, better known as "Suu" to her college compatriots, was a student of Political Science at Lady Shri Ram College – Class of '64. For the past many years Daw Aung San Suu Kyi has become a byword for the efficacy of silent, powerful protest against oppressive regimes. Burmese citizens have come into world-focus largely through the efforts of one seemingly frail and cloistered academician. Indeed, the ideological struggle of one woman's unquenchable belief in the freedom of thought and expression has commanded world-wide admiration. As her husband Dr. Michael Aris said, 'She always viewed her education in Delhi and Oxford as a preparation for serving her own country.'

Aung San Suu Kyi – Class of 1964
Winner of the Nobel Peace Prize 1992

Geetanjali Shree is a distinguished Indian Hindi-language novelist and short-story writer based in New Delhi. Her acclaimed novels, including Mai, Khali Jagah, and Hamara Shahar Us Baras, have enriched contemporary Indian literature with profound insight and sensitivity. She made literary history in 2022 when her acclaimed novel Ret Samadhi, translated into English by Daisy Rockwell as Tomb of Sand, won the International Booker Prize. This historic achievement marked the very first time a book originally written in Hindi, or by an Indian writer, received the prestigious global accolade.

"Those were important formative years for me, as for all the undergraduate students coming from far and near to this prestigious institution. For many of us from provincial towns, it was initially intimidating. But the distance from home showed us clearer what home was and the fine, empathetic teachers we got at LSR instilled in us a realisation of its richness. The pluralistic, cosmopolitan atmosphere at the college gave us the confidence to build on that richness and stand up in the big wide world with newfound pride. LSR, my alma mater, taught me to love ever more the other mothers who had nourished me, my blood mother, my mother tongue, my motherland, my mitti which is mother earth. LSR did much to make me the writer I am!"

Geetanjali Shree – Class of 1976
Novelist, Booker Prize Winner

Geeta Chandran is an eminent Indian classical Bharatanatyam dancer and Carnatic vocalist, celebrated for her cross-disciplinary work spanning theater, education, video, and film. Her profound artistic contributions have earned her India's highest honors, including the Padma Shri (2007), Sangeet Natak Akademi Award (2016), and the Dandayudhapani Pillai Award (2001).

"I owe the ability to connect the contemporary aspects of my personality with a traditional art form largely because my education at LSR taught me the importance of being rooted in one's tradition even while soaring high on new wings. The college enabled me to reach personhood. I return to work with students in the college since the college is like a womb into which I can crawl back whenever I need some placid creative space. Another passion of mine linked to the college is arguing with my spouse on the merits of LSR. After all, he unfortunately could not go to LSR."

Geeta Chandran - Class of 1983
Bharatanatyam Dance Exponent
Padmashri Awardee 2007

Gita Mittal is a distinguished Indian jurist and retired judge who made history as the first woman to serve as the Chief Justice of the High Court of Jammu and Kashmir. Breaking governance barriers, she was the first woman appointed to India's National Security Advisory Board and later served on the selection panel for the Lokpal. In recognition of her transformative contributions to education and society, the Government of India honored her with the Padma Shri in 2007.

"The magic of LSR gripped me right from my first day in the college. This hallowed place taught me to strive for excellence, to reach out and to make a difference. The need to speak out firmly, not stridently, was the hallmark of the feminism that was advocated here. The words LSR have been etched in my consciousness and have, for me, become an acronym as Leadership with Social Responsibility, Let's Start a Revolution, Lakshya, Sadhana, Rachna – the echoes are endless. I learnt that in LSR every challenge could be transformed into an opportunity. This uniquely empowering influence has impacted every young woman who has passed through these portals. LSR collectively stands for a powerful sisterhood....not just a room of one's own.....but an alternative civic space imbued with strong traditions of democratic dialogue."

Meenakshi Gopinath - Class of 1969
Director, WISCOMP and Former Principal Lady Shri Ram College for Women

Vinita Bali is a distinguished global business leader with a proven track record of heading major corporations in India and internationally. Her expansive career includes senior marketing, general management, and CEO roles at leading multinationals such as The Coca-Cola Company, Cadbury Schweppes PLC, and Britannia Industries Ltd., spanning markets across the UK, USA, Latin America, Africa, and India. A passionate advocate for societal impact, Vinita was appointed by the UN Secretary-General to the Scaling Up Nutrition (SUN) Lead Group (2012–2016), championing global maternal and child health. She is widely recognized with numerous prestigious awards for her exceptional contributions to both business and society.

“I feel great pride in being a part of LSR. The high point of those three years was not the Bachelor’s degree I earned (which was important, no doubt) but the richness of an overall experience, which was so important at that stage in one’s life. My impressions of the College are largely centered around people – faculty, office staff and students, and how they impacted me. I believe we had the best faculty in Economics, as in many other subjects, but what was most valuable was the combination of academic excellence with opportunity, and encouragement to pursue other interests – whether sports, music, dramatics, etc. LSR created responsible individuals with well-rounded personalities.”

Business Leader

Vini Mahajan is a retired 1987-cadre IAS officer with a distinguished 37-year career in public service. In addition to admissions under the regular categories, the College also admits students under various supernumerary and special quotas, including the Children/Widows of Personnel of the Armed Forces (CW), Kashmiri Migrants (KM), Orphans Quota (OQ), Prime Minister's Special Scholarship Scheme for Jammu and Kashmir (PMSSS), Single Girl Child (SGC) Quota, and the Ward Quota for Employees of the University of Delhi (WQ), in accordance with the policies and guidelines of the University of Delhi.

SC/ST/OBC/PwBD/EWS Category Students

It is mandatory for all students from these categories to apply for admission on the University of Delhi admission portal (ugadmission.uod.ac.in). For further details, please check the Delhi University website (ugadmission.uod.ac.in).

CW = Children/Widows of Personnel of the Armed Forces

Please refer to the University of Delhi website for all information pertaining to this category. Admission under this category is centralized and will be conducted at the University level.

Foreign Nationality (Foreign/Indian Board)

LSR welcomes students from all over the world and provides them an enriching context to pursue higher studies. 10% of Supernumerary seats in each Programme are reserved for Foreign Nationals. Candidates seeking admission under the Foreign Students' category are required to apply on the Foreign Students' Registry website at www.fsr.du.ac.in.

Students of Foreign nationality who have taken their last examination under a Foreign or from an Indian Board are advised to apply online through Foreign Students' Registry Portal (<http://fsr.du.ac.in>) and can contact the Deputy Dean (Foreign Students). For further information, please refer to the University of Delhi Bulletin of Information on Undergraduate Admissions.

For further information, please refer to the University of Delhi Bulletin of Information on Undergraduate Admissions.

Sports and Extra-curricular Activities (ECA) Categories

Candidates desirous of admission to Undergraduate Programme under the sports quota must appear in CUET (UG) - 2026. For admissions to ECA and Sports supernumerary seats, a weightage of 25% will be given to CUET(UG)-2026 score and 75% to certificates/trials/performances. The candidate seeking benefit of any participation/winning certificate must submit evidence of having participated in the relevant activity. The existing provision of 1 % to 5% in Sports and ECA quota is continued as per circular No. Aca.I / Sports / 2010-11 / 178 dated May 29, 2010.

Students selected on the basis of Sports/ECA are obliged to participate in these activities consistently. They shall be required to submit an undertaking at the time of admission affirming their commitment to represent the College and the University in their respective sport/ECA throughout the duration of their undergraduate programme.

Kindly refer to the University website and the college website/notice board from time to time for details of dates, and for any other changes.

The candidate submitting a false/fake certificate will be debarred from admission to any course in any College for three years. If a candidate is admitted on false/fake certificates, the candidate's admission will be cancelled, and such cases will be notified to all the Colleges.

Sports

Candidates seeking admission under the Sports Supernumerary Quota are advised to carefully read the notifications and guidelines issued by the University of Delhi on its official admission website. The merit list shall be prepared based on the candidate's CUET (UG) score and the evaluation of sports certificates in accordance with the norms prescribed by the University.

The level of sports competence shall be assessed based on distinctions and achievements attained during the four years immediately preceding the admission year. Sports trials, wherever applicable, shall be conducted strictly in accordance with the directions and guidelines issued by the University of Delhi. The College reserves the right to determine the number of seats to be filled under the Sports Quota, taking into consideration the availability of facilities, the requirements of the College sports teams, and other relevant factors.

Extra-curricular Activities (ECA)

The ECA Committee, constituted by the University, oversees ECA admissions. The candidates are chosen based on CUET Score, trial and their certificates. Weightage will be given to the certificates of winners/ participants at International, National, State, Zonal and School level. Fields that will be considered include Dance: Indian Classical and Choreography, Digital Media Photography, Digital Media Film Making, Fine Arts: Sketching, Painting and Sculpture, and Music: Vocal, Indian and Western.

For all information regarding ECA admissions, please refer to the University of Delhi website.

Note:

Residence Hall Admissions

To promote inclusivity and enable a smoother transition to college life to a larger number of students from various parts of India in their first year, accommodation in the Residence Hall will be available to first-year students ONLY. All first-year students who will be admitted to the Residence Hall are hereby notified that they will have to make alternate arrangements for their stay in Delhi in their second and third years of study at the College. Students residing in the National Capital Region (NCR), particularly Gurugram, Faridabad, Ghaziabad, Nodia, and Greater Noida will not be eligible for the hostel. Admission is strictly on the basis of merit and please note that there are limited and a fixed number of seats available for each department, usually ranging from 1 to 3. Students can apply for admission to the hostel only after they have been admitted to the college. Hostel fees typically range from Rs. 11,000 to Rs. 15,000, depending on the type of room allotted.

Disciplinary Norms

On admission, every student of the College is required to sign a declaration that she submits herself to the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Vice-Chancellor and the personnel of the University and the College who may be vested with the authority to ensure discipline under the Acts, Statutes, Ordinances and Rules of the University/College. Each student, upon entry to the College, will be given a handbook containing the rules and regulations of the College. In addition, students will sign an affidavit declaring that if a student is found indulging in ragging, she will face disciplinary action according to the University Ordinance. Acts that may invite disciplinary action, fines or expulsion are detailed in the students' handbook and all students are required to follow the guidelines strictly.

Attendance Rules

In order to be allowed to appear for the University examination, every student (except for those in the B.El.Ed Programme) must have a minimum of 66.67% attendance in lectures/ practicals/ presentations/tutorials, in all the subjects, taken together each semester. Students of the B.El.Ed. Programme must attend at least three-fourths of the lectures delivered and practicum held separately during each year of the programme. Students should check their attendance record monthly from the Students' Portal and keep checking notifications displayed on the College's website at lslr.edu.in. Students who do not meet the minimum attendance requirements shall not be permitted to take one or more papers in the University examinations. Students will not be considered for college prizes, letters of recommendation, hostel facilities, or other benefits if they do not have at least 50% attendance. The University of Delhi rules state that students who are detained from appearing in any semester examination of any Under-graduate/post-graduate course due to shortage of attendance, will not be eligible for promotion to the next semester and will have to be considered for readmission in the next academic session to the same semester of the course in which they were detained.

Orientation

Orientation offers an invaluable introduction to college life at LSR. It serves as a vital starting point of the academic journey of all students, providing crucial insights into the inner workings, expectations, and culture of the College before classes officially commence. It is designed to ease your transition, demystify campus life, and help students feel fully integrated into their new environment. Apart from the college orientation, each department organises separate orientations for their students which facilitate students to familiarise themselves with course structures, assessment norms, and get introduced to their department faculty. Attendance is compulsory for all orientations.
